MINERS DONATE $500,000 MORE TO LEWIS' C. I. O.

Padded Membership Bared by Report.

On Labor Front

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 24.—[Special.]—The latest semi-annual report of the United Mine Workers, made available to members only, discloses that this union, John L. Lewis' own, has loaned another half million dollars to the C. I. O. This makes a total of more than a million dollars Lewis has taken from the miners' treasury to finance the organization drive in other industries such as steel, automobiles, and textiles.

Lewis began his drive to organize the steel, automobile, and textile industries with original loans of $500,000 from the United Mine Workers and $200,000 from Sidney Hillman's Amalgamated Clothing Workers. An additional loan of $540,000, revealed by the latest semi-annual report of the United Mine Workers accounts for $1,240,000 in the C. I. O. war chest. No information is available on the other C. I. O. loans or contributions, for Lewis makes no accounting of his finances.

Lewis Paid by Miners.

The report of the United Mine Workers for Dec. 1, 1936, to June 1, 1937, signed by Thomas Kennedy, secretary-treasurer and lieutenant governor of Pennsylvania, shows that President Lewis during the six month period received $6,000 for salary, $5,525.14 for expenses, and $1,000 a month for the "president's office contingent fund," making a total of $17,525.14 for six months. There is no accounting of the contingent fund.

The report also discloses that the C. I. O., in claiming a total membership of 3,200,000, has padded the figures by 30 per cent in the case of the United Mine Workers. The C. I. O., in claiming 3,200,000 members, credits the United Mine Workers with a membership of 600,000. The official report of the Mine Workers' union, however, would indicate a membership of 460,000 at the most.

This is based on the total of $1,381,970 collected in dues at 50 cents per month per member for the period. The report includes among receipts an item of $855,809 for two special assessments at $1 per member, and on this basis the membership would be only 427,904.

Estimate of Membership.

The highest figure, 460,000, is 76⅔ per cent of the number of United Mine Workers claimed by the C. I. O. in its official publications. If the purported membership figures in other C. I. O. unions are similarly padded, the total is 2,453,200 instead of 3,200,000. This would indicate a gain of 1,250,000 over the original C. I. O. membership when its unions broke away from the American Federation of Labor.

The A. F. of L. now claims a total of 3,106,439 dues paying members, representing a gain of 884,041 over the 2,222,398 it had left when the C. I. O. defection of 1,200,000 members occurred.

The membership figures for some of the other C. I. O. unions are believed to be more heavily padded than those of the United Mine Work-

U. S. ASKS GIFT OF $454,624 IN CHICAGO TAXES

Annual Bargain on Housing Sought.

The federal government, now in the real estate business, is asking the city of Chicago for nearly half a million dollars a year in the form of a bargain day tax rate on its three housing projects here. At the same time private landlords, for whom there are no bargain tax rates, face the prospect of ruinous competition from Uncle Sam.

These developments were disclosed yesterday as prospective tenants applied for apartments in the Jane Addams houses, largest of the three flat buildings erected by the Public Works administration on the north, west, and south sides. The three buildings will provide homes for 2,418 families.

Offer to Pay Service Charge.

If they had been erected by a private builder, and if taxes were paid at the rate of other apartment buildings, tax valuation records show the city would receive $494,355 a year in taxes from the buildings. But the federal government does not have to pay any taxes. Recently Washington officials offered to pay what they called a service charge, in lieu of taxes, amounting to $39,731 a year, on the three properties.

This $39,731 would be payment to Chicago for fire and police protection, use of schools, garbage removal, and all other civic services. The government arrived at the sum, not by computing the $13,847,211 so far invested in land and buildings, as the county assessor would do, but based its offer on the tax levy for 1933, one of the lowest in many years, on the land and old buildings torn down for the housing projects.

The difference between $494,355 [tax bill to a private owner] and $39,731 [the government's proffered tax payment] is $454,624, which, according to real estate men, is the amount Uncle Sam is asking Chicago to donate annually toward the cause of low cost housing.

Private Owners Would Help.

Likewise, private landlords, who soon will lose 2,418 tenants to the Uncle Sam real estate company, say they would be obliged to help pay taxes used for supplying schools and fire and police protection for the properties of their competitor.

If the housing projects were privately owned the assessor would compute their assessed valuation by taking 37½ per cent of $13,847,211, the total cost of land and buildings. That is $5,192,704. The tax rate for city townships is $9.52 for every $100 of assessed valuation. Thus the tax bill for the properties would be $494,355.

The government's offer to pay a service charge of $39,731 annually was sent to Mayor Kelly by Paul M. Pearson, assistant director of housing for the PWA. The mayor submitted the matter to the city council on June 30, but no action has been taken by the council. A conference between city and federal officials was set for yesterday. This meeting was not held.

Rent Schedules Delayed.

Meanwhile the PWA is delaying drawing up of a rent schedule for all the housing projects, presumably because the tax or service charge question is unsettled. The government's plan has been to admit as tenants only persons whose incomes are not more than five times the amount of rent to be asked. For instance, a family with an income of more than $2,400 a year will not be permitted to rent a $40 a month flat.

Up to yesterday 9,737 families had applied for the 2,418 available homes. Charles Weinz has been appointed housing manager for the Jane Addams houses on the west side, and has opened offices and selected a staf.

Houses Cost $6,011,310.

The Jane Addams houses, at Gilpin place, Sibley, Lytle, and Taylor streets, have cost the government $6,011,310. A private owner would have to pay $214,603 taxes on such a set of buildings. The government is offering to pay the city $19,457 annually in service charges.

The Trumbull Park project at Cottage Grove avenue and 38th street, represents an investment of $2,650,161, on which a private owner would pay $94,622 in taxes. The government offers to pay $1,923 in service charges.

The north side project, the Julia Lathrop Homes at Diversey parkway and the river, has cost $5,185,740, which would call for $185,130 annual taxes if privately owned. The government offers to pay $18,351 a year.

Gary Rapist and Slayer Is Up for Parole

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 24.—[Special.]—A parole for Virgil Kirkland, Gary youth who was sent to prison six years ago in the rape death of his sweetheart, Arlene Draves, has been recommended by the trustees of the reformatory at Pendleton, where he is serving a one to ten year sentence. That was announced late today.

Virgil Kirkland.

The recommendation is now in the hands of the state welfare board here, which usually approves the findings of the reformatory trustees.

Depends on His Sponsor.

The sponsor, who will be responsible for Kirkland's actions during the time of his parole, must be acceptable to both the reformatory board of the trustees and the welfare board.

A. F. Miles, superintendent of the reformatory, said the trustees had acted favorably on Kirkland's parole petition on Aug. 4. Miles said it was the second time the prisoner had made such a request.

"Kirkland has been a model prisoner during the entire time he has been in the reformatory," Supt. Miles said. "He has been working in the hospital as a laboratory assistant."

Calls Prospects Very Good.

The superintendent said he considered Kirkland's prospects of obtaining a parole very good.

However, Robert G. Estill, who as prosecuting attorney presented evidence against Kirkland, said he would oppose the parole if he were asked for an official opinion.

The Gary youth entered the reformatory in March, 1931, after a jury at his second trial had convicted him of assault and battery with intent to commit rape.

At his first trial he was found guilty of murder and given a life term, but Judge Grant Crumpacker, whose son was a member of defense counsel at both trials, granted a new hearing on the ground the evidence had not justified the severe verdict.

Both trials were filled with sensations and attracted wide and intense public interest. The courthouse at Valparaiso, Ind., where the hearings were held, was stormed every day the case was on. Feeling ran high at Gary and there were numerous threats "to get" Kirkland.

Go to Drinking Party.

The defendant, then 20 years old, was accused of taking Miss Draves, pretty girl of 18, to a Gary liquor revel Nov. 29, 1930, where she was ravished by him and four others and then left dead at a physician's office.

Kirkland, a former football player at the Horace Mann High school in Gary, admitted he slapped Arlene in an attempt to revive her after she became intoxicated. Bruises on her face supported the state's contention she had been struck with a fist.

During an automobile ride four companions of Kirkland raped or attempted to rape his unconscious sweetheart at his suggestion, it was charged. Murder charges against the four were dismissed after Kirkland's second trial.

Ten Jurors Are Puzzled.

Ten of the jurors who returned the verdict at the second trial said afterward they believed they were inflicting the death penalty on the young man. They deplored what they termed a miscarriage of justice.

More than 5,000 Lake county citizens subsequently signed a petition charging that sentence was too short to protect their women "from such morons as Kirkland." They demanded that the case be reopened and an investigation made, but no such action ever was taken.

KISS SENT BY WIRE ON GIRL'S BIRTHDAY DELIVERED IN PERSON

Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 24.—(AP)—Freckle faced young Jimmy McGuigan, a messenger boy, had an unusual errand tonight. With a slip of paper in his hand he went to a fashionable beach front hotel and knocked on an eighth floor door.

A young woman, about 20, came out.

"Are you Miss So-and-So?" asked he, and the answer was yes.

He put a hand on each of her shoulders and planted a kiss on her left cheek. Then he looked down and read from the paper:

"Happy birthday from Jimmy."

2 Dead, 2 Hurt, Many Rescued In S. Side Fire

Two young women were burned to death and two other persons were seriously injured early today as fire swept through a three story rooming house at 6328 Eggleston avenue. Two score other residents of the building, trapped in their rooms, escaped by jumping from windows, sliding down bed sheets, and descending ladders.

The girls killed were Miss Dorothy Kolb, 18 years old, and her roommate, Miss Marian Matas, 24. Miss Kolb's body was found in a third floor corridor. Miss Matas was found under a pile of debris in her room. Both girls were burned beyond recognition.

Those seriously injured were Miss Marie Smith, 18 years old, who sufferred severe burns on her face and body, and Frank Stevens, 52 years old, who was injured internally when he jumped from a second floor window. Both were taken to the St. Bernard hospital.

Starts on First Floor.

The flames started on the first floor and raced up the stairway. The fire was first observed by William J. Cannon, 6343 Loomis street, a former city fireman, who was passing the building. He sounded the alarm, then got a painters' ladder from a back yard, and helped half a dozen persons to escape. Among them were Gus Trent, 33 years old, and his wife Mary, 33, who lived on the third floor, and Charles Reynolds, 62, whose room was on the second floor.

George Fitzpatrick, 29 years old, and his wife Ella, 24, heard the cry of fire and stepped into the corridor only to be driven back by choking fumes and smoke. Then they helped each other knot sheets together and both slid to safety from the third floor to the roof of a porch.

Dr. H. H. Dalley, whose room also was on the third floor, jumped from his window to the roof of a porch and then to the ground.

Firemen Find Girl's Body.

Firemen found the body of Miss Matas after the flames had been brought under control. They said they had rescued a man from a nearby room, and might have saved the girl, but they did not see her under the debris that covered her body.

The rooming house formerly was an apartment building with an English style basement. Recently it has been operated by Mrs. M. Keeny. Damage to the building was estimated at $8,000. First Deputy Chief Fire Marshal Anthony J. Mullaney directed the firemen, who responded to a 2-11 alarm.

Less than twenty-four hours after she was snatched from a baby carriage while her mother shopped in a north side grocery, Diane Carol Lucas, 3 months old, was found unharmed yesterday on the rear steps of a Rogers Park apartment building. The baby was clad in new clothes and wrapped in a fresh white blanket.

Supervising Capt. Joseph Goldberg, who directed the police of thirteen north side stations in a hunt for the kidnaper, declared the baby stealer was probably a lonely woman, starved for the love of a child, who abducted the baby in a moment of emotional insanity and then returned it after learning of the mother's anguish.

Mother and Father Weep.

At 2:28 p. m. yesterday an excited young man telephoned police headquarters at 11th and State street that he had seen the baby on the rear steps of a large apartment building at 7400 North Damen avenue.

Within a few minutes Policemen Ben Smith and William O'Brien reached the building, about four and one-half miles on a direct line from the scene of the abduction. They found Diane, snug in her blanket, and cooing happily. A hurried canvass of building residents disclosed no one who had seen the baby placed on the steps.

Carried to Police Station.

Then the policemen carried the child to the Rogers Park station, and Mrs. Lucas, who was awaiting reports of the search at the Town Hall station, was notified. A police squad took her to the far north side station.

"O, my baby, my baby," the mother sobbed, smothering the child with kisses. In a short while Lucas entered, and burst into tears as he saw the baby in his wife's arms. All the excitement caused the baby to cry, too.

They lost no time in taking the child home, there to be welcomed by Mrs. Lucas' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Blooher of Lafayette, Ind.

Too Excited for Details.

"Where did you find her?" asked Mrs. Blooher as she rushed forward to kiss the child.

"In a blanket," answered the happy mother.

"Where was the blanket?" asked the grandmother again.

"On the steps," answered Mrs. Lucas. Then the two joyful women abandoned any attempt at conversation. Details could come later. They just wanted to look at the baby.

"Whoever had my baby must have loved her very much," Mrs. Lucas added later, fingering Diane's clothing. It consisted of a white wool blanket, trimmed in pink, a pretty

CHINESE GUNS DRIVE AMERICAN WARSHIP AWAY

Shells Peril Lives of Officers, Crew.

Shanghai Disaster!

Ten days ago Chinese aviators, by error, dropped bombs on two crowded streets in Shanghai. Three Americans and hundreds of Chinese were killed. Photos taken a few minutes after the bomb had fallen are shown on the back page of this issue of The Tribune. The pictures were brought to San Francisco on a Clipper plane which left Hongkong on Aug. 19. A plane had flown the photos from Shanghai to Hongkong. A. P. Wirephoto transmitted the pictures to The Tribune.

SHANGHAI, Aug. 25 [Wednesday].—(AP)—The United States destroyer Parrott was caught in an artillery fusillade today and driven from its post off Gough Island, where it was guarding the Texas company oil plant near the mouth of the Whangpoo river.

The shells, believed to come from a Chinese shore battery which mistook the Parrott for a Japanese warship, were exploding near the destroyer. The bombardment imperilled not only the Parrott's 120 American sailors but the American staf on duty at the Texaco oil tanks, which it appeared might be blown up.

Speeds Through Bursting Shells.

As soon as the first shells began falling Commander R. E. Melling, the Parrott's skipper, shouted the command to "Push off," and the destroyer sped through bursting shells eight miles up the river to the comparative safety of the Socony-Vacuum docks, where the destroyer Edsall was standing by.

So fierce was the shelling that Commander Melling refused to risk his ship further. He offered to evacuate the Texaco superintendent, A. R. McCoy of Port Arthur, Tex., and his staf before moving his ship, but all the Americans refused to desert their posts.

From Woosung, just opposite the Texaco plant, 5,000 Japanese troops were moved up to the outskirts of Shanghai for the long expected "big push" to drive out the city's defenders.

In the bombardment of the last three days, during which Japanese reinforcements have been landing, showers of shrapnel and Japanese air bombs have been falling around the huge tanks of liquid dynamite with increasing frequency. Terrified Chinese employes fled the plant, leaving McCoy and his assistants to guard the precious supplies of fuel oil alone.

See Movie to Keep Up Courage.

Despite their danger and isolation, however, the Americans have gone aboard the Parrott each night for the motion pictures which are shown for the crew. Hollywood comics, they explained, help keep up their morale.

As soon as the Parrott had left the bombardment eased off, strengthening the belief Chinese gunners had mistaken the destroyer for a Japanese warship. No Japanese vessels were in that section of the river at the moment.

Spreading fires throughout the city and air bombings had caused 5,160 casualties in the international settlement and the French concession up to today, according to official police figures. Of these 1,760 were fatalities.

Casualties Are Heavy.

Ninety per cent of the casualties were caused by the bombings of the Great World and Cathay Palace hotels and the Wing On company and Sincere company department stores in the heart of the international settlement.

The figures did not include the heavy casualties in the Japanese inhabited districts of Hongkew, Yangtzepoo, and Wayside which are part of the international settlement. Police estimated the dead and wounded in these three districts must run into the tens of thousands.

Sixty Warships Clear Decks.

Sixty warships and scores of bombing planes were ready to support Gen. Iwane Matsui, the new Japanese commander in chief of the Shanghai sector, in his major offensive.

To meet the Japanese threat Chinese reinforcements were moved into position on the edge of the international settlement throughout the night. Because of the overwhelming superiority of the Japanese armament the Chinese were pitting three divisions against one Japanese division.

Heavy artillery fire lasted well into the morning, but up until noon neither side had made any effort to alter their positions ringing the international settlement. The line was established just north of the settlement by the Chinese, who withdrew yesterday from the Yangtzepoo and Ward road areas to thwart a Japanese flanking movement.

The Japanese were advancing from Woosung, twelve miles to the north on the Yangtze river, where Japanese spokesmen said their reënforced army had pushed back the Chinese from one to two miles.

Thousands Fleeing City.

In view of the imminence of large scale war at the gates of the settlement thousands of Americans and other foreigners were fleeing the city. Twelve hundred, including the stafs of some foreign consulates, were booked to sail on the Empress of Canada today.

A detachment of 800 French colonial reënforcements arrived at Woosung from Indo-China and were rushing to the French concession aboard two destroyers. It was estimated they would increase the French garrison to 5,000, while 2,000 additional French colonial troops at Haiphong and Saigon were ready to dash to Shanghai if needed.

The thirteen days of war have brought grim destruction to many of Shanghai's most important areas. In the now deserted Hongkew and Yangtzepoo districts of the international settlement Japanese sentries guarded the débris of scores of shelled and burned buildings. Yesterday Chinese and Japanese blasted the area with artillery and machine gun fire.

Desolation Along River.

An inspection trip by launch down the Whangpoo river to the Yangtze estuary at Woosung disclosed a picture of desolation that was reminiscent of the San Francisco earthquake.

A spokesman for the Japanese army declared the naval and aerial bombing of Pootung would continue until the last stubbornly resisting Chinese had been driven out.

The full fury of Japan's military might threw China's armies on the defensive on their two most vital fronts.

At Shanghai, Japan's bombing planes, big guns, and war fleet massed their fire on the shores of the Whangpoo and Yangtze rivers, the city's outlet to the sea, to cover the landings of more reinforcements.

From the northwest Japanese reported the capture of Kalgan, capital of Chahar province, to slam shut an important avenue of Chinese communications with Mongolia, and successful Japanese penetration of the Great Wall west of Nankow pass.

Strike from Both Sides.

A Japanese column striking from the north was said to have captured Kalgan while a southern Japanese column crossed the Great Wall west of Nankow pass in a flanking movement and drove toward the rear of Chinese forces guarding the pass.

The northern column, reports said, continued its advance southeast along a line between Peiping, about 100 miles to the south, and the border of Suiyuan province.

Dispatches from the sector said the Japanese had hurled all of their man power and artillery strength into a general offensive and had thrown the Chinese defenders into flight

[Japanese military leaders at Peiping said their forces had planted the rising sun flag atop the Great Wall west of Nankow and were pursuing Chinese troops fleeing northwest. The capture of Nankow pass had almost been effected, the Japanese said. Japanese reports said they had taken Chuyungkwan and were nearing the Great Wall at Chinglunchiao.]

Mongol Prince Joins Japs.

A Domei [Japanese] news agency report said the capture of Kalgan had trapped at least six, possibly eight, Chinese divisions between two mechanized armies, one north of them at Kalgan and the other at Nankow to the south. Both Nankow and Kalgan are on spurs of the Great Wall.

A Domei dispatch from Hsinking, Manchukuo, said the renegade Prince Teh of Inner Mongolia had thrown in with the Japanese. A major battle was said to be raging between his troops and the combined forces of Chinese regulars and Chinese communists at Changpei, sixty miles north of Kalgan. Unconfirmed reports said the Inner Mongolians routed the Chinese with 2,000 casualties, suffering only about 200 themselves.

Fierce hand to hand fighting developed west of Nankow pass when the crack Fourth Chinese division attempted to break through to the Peiping plain. Japanese reports said the Chinese were driven back.

After an intermittent aerial and artillery bombardment that lasted about 24 hours, Japanese infantry stormed Chinese positions south of Tientsin and captured high land positions dominating Chinese entrenchments on the Tientsin-Pukow railroad.

Press Rear of Jap Lines.

One Chinese division attempted to punch through the Japanese line at Liangsiang, about 20 miles southwest of Peiping, while two others maneuvered to outflank the Japanese main forces.

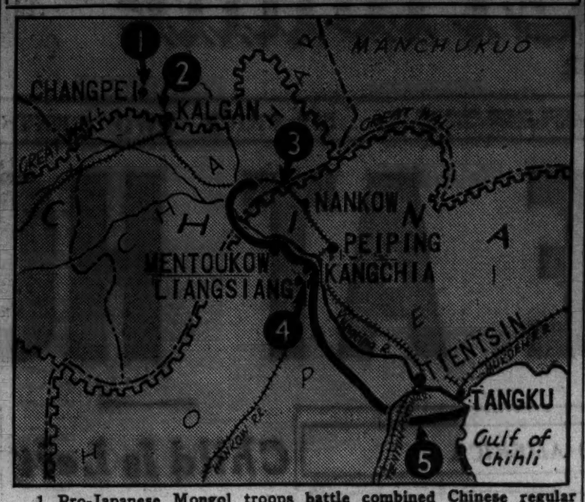
Both blades of the Chinese pincer thus were pressing to the rear of the main body of Japanese at Lianghsiang where rain-flooded roads swamped hundreds of abandoned Japanese trucks and made reinforcements impossible. Japanese commanders were openly alarmed at the Chinese strategy which menaced about 30,000 Japanese troops.

Eighteen Japanese bombers made repeated trips toward the Lianghsiang sector where the heaviest fighting was reported.

Elsewhere Japanese planes continued bombing raids. Nine planes carried out a spectacular night raid over Nanking, but two of the planes were shot down, the Chinese Central News agency said. Eleven planes bombed Tatung, Northern Shansi province, killing 20 and wounding many.

At Shanghai Japan's and China's guns roared during the morning hours, but neither of the forces encircling the international areas made any attempt to alter positions.

JAPANESE PENETRATE GREAT WALL



1. Pro-Japanese Mongol troops battle combined Chinese regular and communist army.

2. Japanese capture Kalgan, capital of Chahar province. Chinese troops flee southward.

3. Japanese cross Great Wall west of Nankow pass and attack Chinese intrenched in pass from the rear.

4. Chinese maneuver to trap 30,000 Japanese troops west and south of Peiping by pincer movement is frustrated.

5. Japanese infantry captures high land dominating Chinese positions south of Tientsin.

FEAR JAPS WILL SHUT OFF PEIPING FROM THE OUTSIDE WORLD

PEIPING, Aug. 24.—(AP)—Foreign residents of Peiping feared tonight that all contact with the outside world was about to be shut off except through Japanese sources and under Japanese surveillance. A squad of 20 Japanese plain clothes men invaded the central postoffice preparatory, it was believed, to establishing a censorship of the mails.

The Peiping Chronicle, a British owned daily newspaper favorable to the Nanking government, was closed by police who raided and occupied its offices. Suspension of the Chronicle left the former capital's foreign community with no sources of outside news except the pro-Japanese Peiping Daily News and a small French newspaper, Journal de Pekin.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 24.—(AP)—The twin threats of hunger and disease in war-torn Shanghai caused the state department today to study means of protecting Americans there.

REBEL PUSH CUTS OFF SANTANDER'S ROAD OF ESCAPE

Capture Strategic Town of Torrelavega.

HENDAYE, Franco-Spanish Frontier, Aug. 24.—(AP)—A Spanish rebel brigade took the strategic city of Torrelavega tonight without firing a shot, thus severing the last westward route of escape from government held Santander on the northern Spanish coast.

Capture of Torrelavega, situated near the coast some twenty miles southwest of Santander, gave the rebels control of the important Santander-Oviedo highway and, in effect, split the narrow strip of coastal territory the government has been trying to defend.

Rebel radio reports said tonight the Italian "Black Arrow" column occupied the port of Laredo, twenty-five miles east of Santander.

Defending Troops Flee.

A company of rebels headed by three tanks passed through Torrelavega's south gate two hours after defending troops evacuated the city. The victorious Navarrese troops were commanded by Lieut. Col. Garcia, who was the first rebel officer to enter Bilbao when it fell June 19.

A number of small boats laden to the gunwales with refugees and baggage reached the harbors of Hendaye, St. Jean de Luz, and Bayonne from various government ports in the Santander area.

The refugees said defenses protecting Santander to the east had crumbled and militiamen in that area were retreating to Santander.

Santander's refugee swollen populace was reported suffering from thirst, as the city has been without a regular water supply since rebel troops captured the Arrila waterworks last Friday.

British Probe Attack.

British naval authorities at Palma, Mallorca Island, were requested by the British foreign office to defer filing with rebels a protest on the bombardment of the British freighter Noemijulia. The delay was asked to give Britain time to determine the identity of the planes which unsuccessfully launched several bombs at the freighters off the Island of Corsica yesterday.

Seventeen members of the crew of the Greek steamer Nagos arrived at Gibraltar from Ceuta, Spanish Morocco, where they said they had been held prisoner for eight weeks after their ship was confiscated by rebels.

Renew Shelling of Madrid.

MADRID, Aug. 24.—(AP)—Rebel batteries began bombing Madrid tonight, firing several hundred shells into the center of the city. It was the first time in 18 days the city had been shelled. Shells burst in the neighborhood of Puerto Del Sol and near the telephone building. Ten persons were reported killed and twenty-five wounded in the half hour shelling.

Chinese in Chicago Raise $35,000 for War Relief

Thirty-five thousand dollars has been raised by Chicago Chinese to aid China in the Japanese conflict, Frank Moy, mayor of Chinatown, announced yesterday. The money, he said, is to be used for relief, such as hospitalization and not for conflict. "We have just been at work two days," he said, "and money is coming in rapidly." Each contributor gives a minimum of $10, he said, and pledges to give a similar sum monthly for the duration of the war. There are between 10,000 and 12,000 persons of Chinese birth or descent in the Chicago area.

Squads of Police Patrol Hospitals and Hotels.

Chicago law enforcement officials and civic leaders went into action yesterday to put in effect the program drawn up Monday to halt the series of outrages against women by degenerates. While the searches continued for the rapist-slayer of a student nurse and the morons who attacked several other women, these other developments occurred:

1. Special police details were assigned to hospitals, nurses' homes, and hotels where most of the attacks by morons have occurred.

2. L. B. Ermeling, secretary of the Greater Chicago Hotel association, said that he believes members of the organization will consider favorably the request by the police that hotels assign only men to rooms near fire escapes, the morons' usual method of entering a room.

Records to Be Broadened.

3. Capt. Emmet Evans, head of the police bureau of identification, said a separate file on persons convicted of sex crimes has been kept for ten years, but that its scope will be widened to include persons suspected of such crimes who are arrested on minor charges.

4. Plans for a special sex offense police bureau were nearing completion and Lieut. Otto Erlanson, head of the homicide squad, was named to direct the bureau. Chief Justice John J. Sonsteby of the Municipal court was considering the suggestion that a sex offense branch be established in the court with the judge assigned hearing only that type of cases.

5. Leading phychiatrists and psychologists planned to attend a meeting Friday in State's Attorney Courtney's office, where a set of standards will be worked out to determine mental status classifications of suspected degenerates.

Wardens to Confer.

Wardens of all state prisons will meet with A. L. Bowen, state director of public welfare, and Dr. Paul L. Schroeder, state criminologist, in Stateville tomorrow to plan for complete segregation of convicted sex criminals in accordance with a bill enacted by the last state legislature.

Such segregation, it was pointed out yesterday by Dr. Schroeder, will enable closer study of sex offenders and make it easier to keep them confined for life under indeterminate sentences.

The conference will take up the possibility of providing separate quarters with separate dining rooms for sex morons.

Police officials said the offer of $1,000 reward for information resulting in the arrest and conviction of any person committing a serious sex crime in the city, authorized Monday by Mayor Kelly, will bring in many persons with information valuable in the campaign.

Slain Nurse Buried.

As the search continued for the moron who Saturday raped and killed Miss Anne Kuchta, 19 years old, a student nurse at the Chicago hospital, 811 East 49th street, the girl was buried yesterday. Funeral services were conducted from her home at 1636 West 13th street to the Russian-Greek Catholic Cathedral of the Holy Trinity, Leavitt street and Haddon avenue. Burial was in Elmwood Memorial cemetery.

Three young men were held by the New City police after they were identified Monday night by Miss Frances Oksas, 19 years old, as the men who raped her early Sunday in a prairie near 69th street and Kolmar avenue. The three are: Fred Langolf, 21 years old, 3428 Emerald avenue; James Kenneth, 18, 3421 Emerald avenue, and John Davis, 20, 5648 South Bishop street.

Two other youths in the party are held as accessories. They are Walter Wenckuw, 23, 2713 West 43d street, and Edward Churas, 21, of 3421 Emerald avenue.

Anthony Szutenbach, 24 years old, an ex-convict, sought on a rape charge since last May, was arrested early yesterday as he attempted to flee from police who surrounded his home at 8242 Mackinaw avenue. Szutenbach and Anthony Zachocke were accused of raping a young high school girl on May 21.

Zachocke has been convicted of the charge and is serving a sentence at Joliet penitentiary.

Clarence Balvin, 20 years old, 3208 South Ashland avenue, who was caught peering into the windows of the nurses' home of the Jefferson Park hospital, 1410 West Monroe street, on Monday night, was fined $200 and costs on a disorderly conduct charge yesterday by Judge Oscar S. Caplan in the Des Plaines street court.

Miss Florence Swanson, 34 years old, night superintendent of nurses at the hospital, viewed Balvin yesterday but said he did not resemble the man who slashed her with a razor in her room Sunday morning.

Note on Effect of Living One's Life in Hampshire

Morristown, N. J., Aug. 24.—[Special.]—Recently Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt stopped at an antique shop here and told the owner, Mrs. Edgar Fisher, that on her next trip she intended to buy for her grandchildren a large wooden horse she admired in the shop.

Yesterday a woman stopped to inspect the antiques. She admired the horse and Mrs. Fisher remarked that Mrs. Roosevelt liked it, too.

"I'm sorry," said the woman," but I don't know any one around here. You see, I come from New Hampshire."

HUNT TWO VICE RACKETEERS AS PARK SLAYERS

Killed to Keep Girl, Police Believe.

Investigators turned last night to Chicago's commercialized vice for solution of the mysterious moonlight murder in Grant park early Sunday.

Two men identified as traffickers in women are being sought as the actual killers, and two other persons, one a man and the other a woman from the half world, were seized yesterday as material witnesses in the mysterious slaying.

The victim was Herbert W. Lee, a world war veteran who until his death was known as Robert Francis Burns, a respectable Evanston business man. Lee was shot to death by one of two men as he walked in the park with a blonde tavern hostess, Lucille Buehler, 22 years old, who had been his companion on night life tours for a month.

Lieut. Thomas F. Kelly, chief investigator for the state's attorney's office, said he believed the murder was committed to prevent the Buehler woman from leaving the man to whom she gave her vice earnings and living with Lee.

Double Motive Suggested.

"We think these men had a double motive for the killing," said Lieut. Kelly. "First, they did not want to lose the girl's earnings and, second, they may have killed Lee to show that outsiders cannot take girls away from the ring and be safe."

This theory explains a significant and hitherto puzzling feature of the murder—the fact that one of the men slapped the Buehler girl's face just before the other shot Lee, and that they did not attempt to take $68 which she was carrying for him.

Such tactics are entirely compatible with tactics of vice gangs elsewhere. Terrorism and violence were the tools which, for example, Charles [Lucky] Luciano, New York underworld chieftain, used in extending and maintaining his criminal empire and particularly his vice trafic. This was proved in court during his trial in 1936.

Luciano and nine of his lieutenants were convicted of compulsory prostitution on June 7, 1936, and were sent to Sing Sing. Luciano now is serving a sentence of 30 to 50 years, and the others got slightly shorter terms.

Control Girls in Chicago.

Luciano was head of a string of carefully organized disorderly houses which paid his syndicate $12,000,000 annually, according to testimony at his trial. Chicago's present vice lords operate in quite a different manner. They do not always open houses of prostitution.

Nor do the procurers here conduct their business in a segregated district as in earlier days. They are not well known as were the vice chieftains here before 1910, when the more powerful procurers were openly in politics and split their earnings with politicians.

Instead, the heads of the racket now, according to police, control girls who work throughout the city in taverns, night clubs, and other gay spots. These night life centers are not directly connected with the racket but serve merely as places for these women to meet men.

Linked with Vice Bosses.

The Buehler girl, according to her statements to the state's attorney's office, was in the power of men whose vice activities have been rapidly expanding in Chicago. She had threatened to leave the racket to marry Lee, and the killing followed.

This conception of the killing gained some support from evidence given by Harry Mickish, 4437 Greenwood avenue, and from red haired Sue Braune of the Metropole hotel, 2300 South Michigan avenue, the two arrested for questioning yesterday.

After questioning both these prisoners Lieut. Kelly announced he was seeking the two men known as vice operators. The lieutenant refused to disclose their names, but said that they had hurriedly left the Metropole hotel at 2:30 a. m. Tuesday.

If the police theory of the park slaying is true, the Buehler girl is acquainted with the killers and could quickly solve the murder mystery. She has refused so far to talk. For this reason Assistant State's Attorney Walter McCoy pleaded earlier in the day that she be left in custody. Chief Justice Michael L. McKinley in Criminal court heeded the police theory, refused to free Miss Buehler on a habeas corpus writ, and continued the hearing until Friday morning.

Refuses to Free Girl.

In order to be sure that the girl would stay in custody Judge McKinlay set her bond at $100,000. He then told Arnold Harris, the girl's lawyer:

"Even if I am on the bench I read the newspapers. Here is a murder committed just about 50 feet from the busiest thoroughfare in America, and this respondent refuses to coöperate with the state's attorney and the police."

During the court hearing another side of the Buehler girl's history was brought out by Samuel Austin Wilvert, 836 South Wabash avenue, a self-styled lecturer on the spirit world. Wilvert, who carried a fat brief case packed with papers and several photographs, pointed out Miss Buehler as the girl who doped him and stole his $175 diamond ring on last July 27.

Although the girl, still clad in her black velvet cocktail gown—now a bedraggled and dowdy garment—defiantly denied this, Assistant State's Attorney Harry Posner disclosed that when she was arrested two vials of what resembled knockout drops were found in her stockings.

Offers Picture Proof.

Wilvert then further strengthened his story by producing a large photograph that closely resembled Miss Buehler. He said he took the photograph just before he became unconscious from the knockout drops.

Lee's father, Thomas J. Lee Sr. of Detroit, with two of the slain man's brothers, appeared here yesterday to claim the body. They said that Lee deserted his wife, Lillian, and a son, Robert, now 15 years old, in Detroit 10 years ago.

The elder Lee appeared at the coroner's office accompanied by Oliver J. Peiffer, brother of Anthony Peiffer, night watchman who was questioned about the murder on Monday. Both Peiffers are brothers of Mrs. Theresa Weichbrodt, who had been living with Lee for nine years and posing as his wife under the name of Mrs. Theresa Burns.

Mrs. Weichbrodt was permitted to go home shortly before midnight Monday when police finished questioning her. When the slaying was committed, she was on a train bound for Chicago after a four week visit at the home of a sister in Iowa.

LINK MRS. HAHN WITH GSELLMAN; SHE FACES TRIAL AS HIS SLAYER

Cincinnati, O., Aug. 24.—[Special.]—The prosecution in the murder case against Anna Marie Hahn has documentary evidence definitly linking her with George Gsellman, one of the two men for whose deaths she is under first degree murder indictments, it was disclosed tonight.

The 31 year old blonde prisoner steadfastly has denied that she was acquianted with Gsellman. Possession of documents linking her name with that of Gsellman was considered to be of utmost importance to the prosecution.

The fact that the state possessed this evidence came to light after counsel for Mrs. Hahn had put in a long session examining the state's evidence.

The state has elected to try Mrs. Hahn first on the Gsellman murder indictment. The other indictment charges her with the poison murder of Jacob Wagner. Gsellman and Wagner were elderly Cincinnati Germans whom Mrs. Hahn is alleged to have fleeced of considerable sums before poisoning them.

570 Parole Violators Sent Back to Prison This Year

T. P. Sullivan, state superintendent of parole supervision, said yesterday that 570 parole violators freed from Illinois penal institutions have been rounded up and returned to prison since the first of the year. A number of the violators were found to have been at large for ten years or more.

Arrest of the violators was due, Sullivan said, to the close coöperation between his office and police, the state's attorney's office and other law enforcement agencies. Many were discovered by parole agents after they were arrested for crimes in other states.

Estimates Total at Large.

Shortly after his appointment last December, Sullivan estimated 2,000 parole violators were at large in Illinois, in addition to 1,600 more believed hiding in other states. Later it was found, he said, that many of the hunted criminals had already been returned to prison or had died.

Within the last week, Sullivan said, 26 parole violators were returned to prison. One of them, Edward Rhodes, was paroled 21 years ago from Joliet penitentiary after serving three years of a one to 20 year sentence for burglary. He violated his parole by disappearing. Rhodes was arrested last week at Blawnox, Pa., for a minor offense and later was identified as an Illinois parole violator.

Finds Campaign Effective.

Sullivan said he believed the campaign to capture old violators has been effective in reducing the number of present violators. "Their return to prison," he said, "has also reduced crime in the state. The parole violator will not be coddled by our office."

NINE TROTZKYIST TERRORISTS SHOT IN SOVIET PURGE

MOSCOW, Aug. 24.—(AP)—The shooting of nine men in Leningrad as "Trotzkyist terrorists" was reported today by the newspaper Leningradskaya Pravda. They were said to have been convicted Sunday of "having prepared and carried out a number of diversionist acts, poisonings of people, and explosions with human victims."

Nikolai Alexeievich Filatov, a member of the presidium of the soviet union central executive committee, was ousted today from the chairmanship of the Moscow provincial executive committee. He was denounced at a meeting of the provincial committee for losing contact with the masses.

There was an important shift in soviet commissars on Sunday whereby Valarian Mezhlauk was relieved as commissar of heavy industry by L. M. Kaganovich, heretofore commissar of transport, and was made head of the new commissariat of machine building. Both Kaganovich and Mezhlauk are among the most effective of soviet executives.

MINERS DONATE $500,000 MORE TO LEWIS' C. I. O.

Report Reveals Padded Membership.

ers. The United Automobile Workers, for example, in the latest issue of the union's official magazine, claims a membership of 375,000, but a financial statement made public at a convention now in session in Milwaukee indicated from the per capita tax collected that the membership averaged but 182,000.

Delegates Told of Increase.

The Milwaukee convention delegates were told that the U. A. W. increased its cash by nearly $400,000 in the first six months of this year. The union's financial report showed that cash increased from $34,923 at the first of the year to $428,779 on last June 30.

The total income for the first six months of 1937 amounted to $912,628, the report showed. Principal items of income were: per capita tax, at the rate of 37½ cents per member a month, $410,383; initiation fees, $310,391, and donations, $69,542.

There are only about 200,000 workers in the automobile industry and the manufacturers insist that the C. I. O. union does not represent more than 20 per cent of them. The United Automobile Workers, however, have been organizing in both allied and unrelated industries, particularly in Michigan and Wisconsin. In Milwaukee there is a bartenders' union and a lether workers' union under the U. A. W. A.

The last official count in the automobile industry proper was made in 1934 by President Roosevelt's special automobile board, which found that the C. I. O. union had a membership of 14,057, or 8.6 per cent of the total.

Certain it is that the United Automobile Workers represented a minority of the 200,000 employés in the industry last winter and spring, during the sitdown strikes in the General Motors and Chrysler plants, for Mr. Lewis never demanded an election by the national labor relations board to determine whether he had a majority.

Dodged Election in Steel.

Neither did Mr. Lewis request the board to hold an election in his unsuccessful strike against "little steel," which would indicate that the C. I. O. steel workers' organizing committee represented a minority in that industry. Yet the S. W. O. C. claims a total membership of 450,000, while there are only 500,000 workers in the whole steel industry.

Taking into account these exaggerated claims, and the boast of 350,000 members made by the textile workers' organizing committee, which is believed to be even more greatly exaggerated, A. F. of L. spokesmen doubt that the C. I. O. actually has more than 2 million members, including those whose initiation fees were waived and who have not yet been called upon to pay dues. This would represent a gain of 800,000 since the C. I. O. unions broke away from the A. F. of L. in the fall of 1935, while the A. F. of L. has gained almost 900,000 new members.

Large Telegraph Bills.

Interesting items in the report of the United Mine Workers include payments of $5,142.69 to the Western Union Telegraph company and $1,982.94 to the Postal Telegraph company on May 10 for April service. It was during the month of April that the C. I. O. unions, at the behest of Mr. Lewis, "turned the heat" on congress in support of President Roosevelt's project to pack the Supreme court.

Telegrams from labor unions poured in upon members of congress by the thousands, and there was a deluge of letters, petitions, resolutions and memorials. How the United Mine Workers came through for Mr. Roosevelt is indicated by its telegraph bill of $7,125.73, as compared with the bill for March, an average month, of $240.12.

On Dec. 7, the report shows, the United Mine Workers paid $6,000 to the Democratic senatorial campaign committee, which is identified as "balance contribution in campaign for reelection of President Roosevelt." Previously the union had contributed $500,000 in cash to the Democratic national committee and loaned it $50,000, which has not been paid. Also, the mine workers had loaned the Pennsylvania state Democratic commitee, $40,000.

Senator Joseph F. Guffey, Pennsylvania Democratic boss and chairman of the Democratic senatorial campaign committee, paid off for this assistance from John L. Lewis, his political ally, with the Guffey coal act, just as President Roosevelt paid off by throwing the powerful influence of his administration behind the C. I. O. in the sitdown and steel strikes.

GIVES SCIENCE MILLION TO ATTACK DIABETES AMONG CHILDREN

Pittsburgh, Pa., Aug. 24.—(AP)—A woman who nursed a brother afflicted with diabetes for twenty years, gave $1,000,000 today for a "never ending medical war" against that disease among children.

Miss Emelie Renziehausen placed the money in an irrevocable trust as a memorial to two dead bachelor brothers, Frederick C., who once owned the Large Distilling company, and Henry, a dry goods dealer in suburban McKeesport.

The income will be used by the Children's hospital of Pittsburgh to establish a "Renziehausen memorial ward and clinic" and for perpetual research.

Miss Renziehausen also gave an eleven acre tract of land to be used as a site for a home for convalescent children.

SUIT ASKS RULING ON STOCK WILLED TO VIRGINIA PINE

Alfred Decker, clothing manufacturer, filed suit in the Circuit court yesterday to obtain an adjudication of the ownership of 2,500 shares of common stock of his company, Alfred Decker & Cohn. Rival claims to the stock, valued at $20,000, have been made by Virginia Peine Lehmann, known in the movies as Virginia Fine, and by Fred Tuerk, a stock broker at 120 South La Salle street.

The will of Miss Pine's father, Adolphus Peine, vice president of the clothing concern at the time of his death in 1929, provided that she was to receive the 2,500 shares on Aug. 16, 1937, when she became 25 years old. The stock was left with Decker as trustee of Peine's estate.

Tuerk, however, asserted that the actress assigned the stock to him on Dec. 23, 1935. Miss Pine, who divorced Edward J. Lehmann Jr. of Chicago in 1933, has told Decker that the assignment was obtained by fraud.

DRIVERS' UNION IS SUED UNDER ANTI-TRUST ACT

Cleveland, O., Aug. 24.—(AP)—The Interstate System Equipment Owners' association of Detroit filed a $300,000 damage suit in federal court here today against fourteen local truck drivers' unions, charging violation of the Sherman anti-trust act.

The action alleged that the unions forced Interstate operated trucks to halt at the Cleveland corporate limits and take on local union drivers, who piloted the vehicles through the city.

Attorney Joseph W. Kennedy, Cleveland counsel for the plaintif organization, charged that unions in Toledo, O.; Indianapolis, Ind., and Buffalo, Syracuse, and Rochester, N. Y., engaged in the same practice.

The plaintif asked Federal Judge Samuel H. West for an injunction restraining union drivers from continuing the practice.

$119,435 Personalty Tax Paid on Wrigley Estate

The 1936 personal property taxes of $119,435 on the estate of the late William Wrigley Jr., chewing gum magnate, were paid in full yesterday. Mr. Wrigley, who died in 1932, left a fortune estimated at more than $23,000,000. County Treasurer Horace G. Lindheimer announced that collections for the day totaled $1,760,102, bringing to $41,939,497 the amount paid on 1936 real estate and personal property bills.

REFERENDUM ON TEACHERS JOINING C. I. O. IS LIKELY

Convention at Madison to Vote on Question.

Madison, Wis., Aug. 24.—[Special.]—The American Federation of Teachers will not abandon the American Federation of Labor for the Committee for Industrial Organization during its 21st convention now in session here, an official spokesman announced tonight at the close of a secret session devoted exclusively to the affiliation issue.

Most likely outcome of the basic division over C. I. O.—A. F. L. controversy will be a convention decision to order the troublesome question to a national referendum of all federation members, it was reported at the halfway mark of the secret session deliberations.

Secession Might Follow.

Fears that an irrevocable split on the controversy might result in the secession of such powerful American Federation of Labor supporters as the Chicago locals appeared allayed when delegates agreed informaly that if C. I. O. factions were in the majority, they could expect no more from the convention than a vote ordering the question to referendum, the convention spokesman declared.

Instead of waiting until a pro-C. I. O. resolution reached the floor Thursday, delegates went into executive session tonight to thrash the question out among themselves in an attempt to reach a "harmony" formula which would prevent a split. They sent a spokesman out to inform the press that agreement had progressed to the point where C. I. O. adherents would accept a referendum as the best they can expect at the convention. On the other hand, if informal polls show A. F. of L. in the ascendancy, the convention will order no referendum, will stay tied to its A. F. of L. moorings, instead, the convention spokesman said.

The convention dipped into the national political situation today with the annual report of Mary Foley Grossman, Philadelphia, the federation's legislative representative. She strongly advocated exercise of political reprisals against congressmen who "betrayed" the liberal cause in the recently concluded session of congress.

Line Up with Progressives.

"I trust that in the looming split in the Democratic party, we will take our place with the Progressive forces against the reactionaries so that they may see this new year the birth of a party—let it be named what it will—that will represent truly the Farmer-Labor power of our country.

"Let us repudiate at the next election those who have betrayed us, no matter what their formal political tinge, and support those who have battled side by side with us for measures that would insure our industrial democracy.

"This is not the old non-political labor adage of 'Reward your friends and punish your enemies.' In the upheaval of the American political world today, whence will come new parties with new creeds, taking a stand with those who have stood by labor means helping the workers to become politically articulate as a body and assisting at the birth of a new people's party."

C. I. O. Radicals Win First Tilt in Auto Union Parley

BY WILLIAM BROMAGE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 24.—[Special.]—The factional fight in the United Automobile Workers of America reached the floor of the convention hall today despite the efforts of lieutenants of John L. Lewis, generalissimo of the Committee for Industrial Organization, to prevent a serious split in the ranks of the young auto affiliate.

Wyndham Mortimer.

On the relatively unimportant issue of the qualification of nine delegates today's session was thrown into a noisy, bitter affair. Speakers for either side in the fight were booed and hissed by the opposition.

The first victory in the controversy went to the so-called unity group headed by the more radical leaders of the organization. The unity group is headed by Wyndham Mortimer and Ed Hall, vice presidents. Homer Martin, president, and Richard Frankensteen, Detroit organizational director, led the second faction.

Seek Divided Authority.

The unity group seeks to have four vice presidents who will share authority equally with the president. Martin favors the present arrangement of three vice presidents and chief power in the hands of the president. Martin would also substitute Frankensteen for Mortimer in the official family. The real fight, if a compromise is not reached, is expected at the end of the week when election of officers is before the convention.

Today's "break" for the unity group came when its supporters on the credential committee put through a minority report forcing the committee to hold additional hearings and make a supplementary report on nine delegates whom the majority report would have unseated. Although the settlement was made to look like a compromise, a rising vote showed that a majority of the delegates favored the minority report.

Martin Urges Fight on Ford.

The question of an organization drive on the Ford Motor company was brought before the convention by Martin in making his annual report. Martin's prediction that Henry Ford would change his mind about organized labor "before snow flies" was greeted by a long demonstration.

"Mr. Ford has had his first taste of organized labor and he's due for a good meal," Martin said. "We say to Mr. Ford: 'Henry, if you want to continue to make and sell autos in America, you'd better get ready to put a union label on those Fords.'"

It is expected that the delegates will authorize a big war chest for carrying on an organization campaign in Ford plants.

Lewis Lieutenant Busy.

John Brophy, director of the C. I. O., is here at the instance of Lewis, quietly working to patch up differences among the delegates and officers. Ora Gassaway, official of the Mine Workers' union, and bodyguard to Lewis, addressed the delegates on the need for teamwork in the auto union.

Gassaway, styling himself as "one of the fathers of the C. I. O.," told the delegates that they should not hesitate to take the advice and guidance of Lewis and the miners' union and warned against fighting on the convention floor.

He recalled that bitter internal controversies have marred the history of the mine workers' union and said that such disputes only harm the labor movement.

He did not recall, however, that it was Lewis who caused the greatest split in the American labor movement less than two years ago when he set up the C. I. O. in competition with the American Federation of Labor.

Neither did Gassaway recall Lewis' reputation as a convention floor battler. Lewis has engaged in many convention brawls. The most recent was when he got into a fist fight with William Hutchinson, president of the carpenters' union, at the 1935 A. F. of L. convention when the industrial union conflict was just emerging.

MORTGAGE ROW RESULTS IN DEATH OF ONE; TWO SHOT

Greeley, Pa., Aug. 24.—[Special.]—An attempted mortgage foreclosure here today resulted in the wounding of a father and his son, the death of the former owner of the property and the destruction of the property in a fire that burned the dispossessed owner's body.

The dead man was Fred W. Lindloff, a retired New Yorker. Henry Wilkes, 45 years old, and his son, Joseph, 15, went to the Lindloff bungalow with foreclosure papers. Lindloff met them with two shotgun blasts. The wounded pair fled. Lindloff then sprinkled gasoline through the bungalow, started a fire in the attic and shot himself. The building was a smoking debris before firemen arrived.

The Wilkeses are in a serious condition.

BABY KILLED IN CRASH.

Washington, Ind., Aug. 24.—[Special.]—Two year old Dixie Lee Osborne was killed as she sat in her mother's lap when an automobile overturned on a hill northeast of here today. Mrs. Clifford Osborne was seriously injured.

GUFFEY LASHES AT 'ROYALISTS' FIGHTING C. I. O.

Charges Drive to Thwart Labor Movement.

New York, Aug. 24.—(AP)—Senator Joseph F. Guffey [D., Pa.] tonight declared industrial unionism had proved "a definite success in industrial America" and denounced those "economic royalists" of the steel industry who had refused to sign contracts with the C. I. O.

The Pennsylvania senator asserted many indications pointed to national coördination of what he called a "highly financed propaganda campaign against the C. I. O. and the labor movement in general."

Assails Roosevelt Foes.

"It seems to me," he continued, "that the present anti-union campaign is simply the same element which about a year ago was preparing to launch its preëlection attacks on President Roosevelt—the same element which shouted with all its might that the social security act would rob the workmen by taking money out of their pay envelopes—the same element which predicted dire consequences to our homes and churches if Mr. Roosevelt were re-elected.

"It is only another way of saying that the grass will grow in the streets."

Senator Guffey, who last week assailed senate opposition to the President's court packing bill and who is credited by many with an understanding of the administration's policies, spoke over a radio on the eve of his departure for a holiday in Europe.

Before his speech Guffey predicted a "new, more liberal Democratic party" would make itself felt in the 1938 congressional campaigns. He ridiculed talk of a "third party" movement.

OUSTED WOMEN SUE C. I. O. AND GARMENT UNION FOR $700,000

Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 24.—(AP)—Seven women expelled from union membership sued the International Ladies' Garment Workers' union, the C. I. O., the textile workers' organizing committee, and five local and regional officers for $700,000 today.

Separate petitions charged the women were "maliciously" ousted from the Garment Workers' union, local No. 122, without a hearing and lost their jobs with companies under contract with the union.

Each asked $100,000 damages.

GREEN BRANDS C. I. O. UNION TOOL OF COMMUNISM

Carries His Fight Against Lewis Into the Open.

Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 24.—[Special.]—William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, carried his fight against John L. Lewis and the Committee for Industrial Organization into the open tonight, charging that communists are operating openly within the ranks of the C. I. O.

At the close of today's session of the executive council of the federation, Green was asked if he had planned any investigation by the A. F. of L. to determine to what extent communism had moved into the C. I. O. ranks, and possibly its leadership.

"We already know the facts about communism in the C. I. O.," Green replied with emphasis. "A large number of known communists have been on the pay roll of the C. I. O. in organizing both the steel and automobile strikes."

Terms It "Dishonest."

Asked about a statement made in Milwaukee today by Homer Martin, president of the United Automobile Workers of America, a C. I. O. affiliate, to the effect that labor will continue to use the sitdown strike as a major weapon in its conflicts with employers, Green said:

"I interpret that as positive evidence of the communist influence in the automobile workers' union. Martin's statement upholding the sitdown strike will make it very difficult for his union to function as a collective bargaining agency."

Green still was talking of Martin and the automobile workers' union in no friendly fashion when he said that "the leaders of any organization should have the courage and honesty to tell their members the truth."

"It is both cruel and dishonest to appeal to the passions, feelings and sentiment of men," he added.

Ready to Drop Injunction.

At the executive session it was reported that a motion is being prepared for dismissal in the injunction action brought by the Brewery Workers International union against the Teamsters and Chauffeurs' International and against executive council members living in Washington. The brewery workers seek to restrain enforcement of an executive council order and a later A. F. of L. convention vote which gave the team drivers of the District of Columbia breweries to the teamsters' union.

Painters' International union officers were called in to explain why they have not given up control of some locals they took over bodily, which were claimed by the upholsterers and carpenters.

William J. Holland of 380 Ridge avenue, Evanston, is the father of two budding young movie stars. He received a letter yesterday from his wife, who is in Hollywood with their son and daughter, telling him that he can see the boy, Dickie, 10 years old, in the film "Make a Wish," opening at a loop theater Friday. Mr. Holland said that his wife took the boy and the girl, Joan, 6 years old, to Hollywood more than a year ago and got them into the movies shortly after their arrival. Joan had a part in "The Great Ziegfeld" and Dickie has just completed a rôle in a western adventure picture, not yet released. Mr. Holland works for the Commonwealth Edison company. His wife, the former Marion O'Neail, was a concert violinist before her marriage.

C. I. O. CREDITED BY COMMUNISTS FOR U. S. GROWTH

Browder Announces Red Paper for Chicago.

New York, Aug. 24.—[Special.]—The growth of the C. I. O. is in a large part responsible for an increasing interest in communism, officials of that party said today. Their admission was made in a press conference in which they announced the establishment of two new communist daily newspapers, one in San Francisco and the other in Chicago, to begin publishing on Jan. 1, 1938.

The influence that the communist party is exerting on the C. I. O. was discussed in rather confused fashion during the interview. Earl Browder, general secretary of the party, and Israel Amter, New York state organizer, apparently were trying to be careful not to say too much about their activity in the C. I. O.

Amter introduced the subject in announcing a party membership drive and a campaign to raise $250,000 in this state.

Expect 10,000 Additions.

"There is no doubt whatever that we will raise the money, and we feel optimistic about getting 10,000 new members in the drive that will begin two days from now and end Dec. 1."

He added that the growth of the C. I. O. was creating greater interest in the communist movement.

"Communists in the C. I. O., as well as in the A. F. of L., have been extremely influential," he said.

"Do you mean that communists are directing the policies of the C. I. O., as has been said by many who oppose it?" he was asked.

As Amter was replying to this question, Browder interurpted to offer an explanation of what Amter meant. The reporters put several questions in an effort to clarify both responses; finally they went to the stengraphic record and got the original reply of the New York organizer. He had said:

"Not Among Leaders."

"We are not in the top leadership (referring, apparently, to C. I. O.) and therefore, in the C. I. O. or the A. F. of L., because of local influence we have and the activities of the rank and file in the union, they are able to exert pressure and take it in the direction the C. I. O. is moving today."

While the reporters were trying to puzzle out this statement, Amter continued: "We can say we are in harmony with the policies of the C. I. O. and the progressive movement within the A. F. of L."

A Bit Warm for Diane.

"Gee, there are new diapers and everything," commented the happy mother. "But look at the heavy shirt on her! They must have thought she would freeze.

"My, if Diane could only talk. I'll bet she could tell us a lot. I dreamed about her last night, when I was able to sleep, and now I have her back in my arms."

Although freshly bathed and well dressed, Diane appeared to be hungry, and Mrs. Lucas soon remedied that condition.

Seek to Trace Buyer.

The new clothing was given to the police as the most substantial clew in their hunt for the abductor. A canvass of all dry goods stores from Belmont avenue north to the city limits and from the lake to the drainage canal was begun to determine if those particular garments had been purchased within the last few days.

Police were told by Mrs. Frank Bird, 906 Montrose avenue, that she saw an automobile stop near the grocery Monday. A woman got out, Mrs. Bird said, picked up the baby from the carriage, and fled in the car which was driven by a man.

He had $67 left.

SALESMAN FOUND SLAIN IN HOME; FATHER IS SOUGHT

Gerald R. Peterson, 37 years old, an automobile salesman, was found beaten to death late last night in his home at 5612 South Bishop street by his wife, Kathryn, 24 years old, when she returned from a month's visit to her parents in Beverly Hills, Cal. Near the body lay a baseball bat, the weapon used in the slaying.

Gerald Peterson.

Bloodstains found on Peterson's bed led police to believe he was attacked as he slept. The condition of his body indicated he had been dead since early in the morning.

Police began a search for the slain man's father, Adolph Peterson, 69 years old, a widower, owner of the house, who lived in a basement apartment. Yesterday afternoon he took a suitcase to the home of Mrs. Helen Okon across the street at 5623 Bishop and told her he was going to a hotel. He said he would return later for the suitcase.

Mrs. Okon's daughter, Rose Mary, 11 years old, told police the elder Peterson told her: "My son kicked me out. He said I was drunk and would not work." Another neighbor, Mrs. Pearl Matecki, who lives next door to the Peterson home at 5610, said she heard the father's voice early in the morning, crying to his son: "Get up, get up," and then the sound of a slap.

SWIFT DIRECTORS SUED FOR BUYING DEMOCRAT BOOK

Repay Company $3,000, Stockholder Demands.

As a stockholder, Robert C. Kewley, an attorney with offices at One North LaSalle street, filed suit yesterday against Swift & Co. and nine of the company's directors for buying $3,000 worth of Democratic national campaign books.

Robert C. Kewley

His complaint, filed in the Superior court, charges the directors squandered and misapplied money of the company and violated the corrupt practices act which prohibits corporations from contributing to political campaigns. He asked that the individual directors be compelled to return the $3,000 to the Swift & Co.'s treasury and that they be enjoined from making any further contributions to any political party, either directly or indirectly.

Nine Directors Named.

The directors named in the complaint were C. H. Swift, G. F. Swift, H. H. Swift, T. P. Swift, William B. Traynor, John Holmes, M. B. Brainard, Lewis L. Clark and George H. Swift.

The company offices refused to make a statement on the suit, saying that the matter was entirely in the hands of Henry Vedder, general counsel for the company. Vedder asserted a careful study of the complaint must be made before an answer is given.

Court Test in Prospect.

The suit may bring the first airing in court of the methods of the Democratic national committee in raising money by selling copies of its convention book, including a large number which were autographed by President Roosevelt. The Democratic majority of the house of representatives recently blocked an investigation of this scheme demanded by House Minority Leader Bertrand H. Snell of New York.

The Snell resolution included a letter written by M. H. Porter from headquarters of the Democratic national committee, which said the sale of the book enabled it legally to accept corporation checks.

"Corporations," said Attorney Kewley in the Swift suit, "should be kept from contributing to any political party."

Considers Other Suits.

Kewley said that he is considering similar suits against the Household Finance corporation, the Chicago Mail Order company, and the William Wrigley Jr. company.

His complaint in the present suit set forth that he is the owner of 160 shares of Swift & Co. stock acquired on Jan. 27, 1937. "The directors neglected to perform their official duties by misapplying, squandering, and wasting the money of the corporation, particularly by paying out more than $3,000 as a contribution to the Democratic party by purchasing certain campaign books," says his complaint. "The campaign books were purchased at a price greatly in excess of the actual value thereof and are wholly useless to the corporation."

JUDGE PRAISES HONESTY, BUT IT LOSES THE CASE

New York, Aug. 24.—(AP)—The witness-stand candor which won high praise from Federal Judge John M. Woolsey was responsible for the jurist's reluctant ruling against the plea of a prominent woman educator for a tax refund, according to the judicial decision made public today.

The plaintif, Mrs. Lucy Sprague Mitchell, former dean of women at the University of California, had sued to recover $2,729 in income taxes paid in 1930, basing her claim upon losses suffered in real estate transactions. Testifying in her behalf was her husband, Dr. Wesley Clair Mitchell, professor of economics at Columbia university.

"I regret to have to decide this cause against the plaintif," wrote Judge Woolsey. "Again and again I asked questions purposely so phrased as to give her and her husband opportunity to shade their testimony in their own favor if they would, and never once did they do so. Such an exhibition of high-minded decency is so rare in court that it should not be permitted to pass without an expression of appreciation from the judge who had the pleasure of witnessing it."

Seeks Two Divorces

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

MRS. EDNA JOHNSON.

Judge Charles A. Williams yesterday granted Mrs. Edna Johnson, 3952 Oconto avenue, permission to amend her separate maintenance suit against Norman F. Johnson, 2958 Mulligan street, to one for divorce, and in the same bill to ask a divorce from her first husband, an alleged bigamist.

Her attorney, John O. Hendry, explained that she married William Rathbun, 32 years old, 1450 Barry avenue, Dec. 4, 1930. Although she learned later that he had another wife, Irene Shellgren Rathbun, whom he married in 1925, Mrs. Johnson was advised, Hendry said, that she need not seek a divorce or an annulment.

Hendry said he corrected her view when she engaged him to represent her in the suit against Johnson, which charges cruelty. They were married Aug. 3, 1934, and have a son, Richard, 2. Mrs. Johnson, who is 24, has a son, Terrence, 5, by her first husband.

HINT AT FEDERAL SHUTOFF OF AGE PENSIONS AGAIN

Washington, Aug. 24.—(AP)—Representative Ralph E. Church of Evanston, Ill., said today there is a possibility the controler general's office may refuse to approve an August grant to Illinois for old age pensions, even though the social security board decides to make it.

The board suspended payments to Illinois for old age pensions July 17, on the ground that administration of the state old age pension law was inefficient.

Church, after a meeting today with Executive Director Frank Bane and other officials, said he felt confident the board would resume payments to the state, but less confident that the controler general's office would approve a grant to cover the period of suspension.

BELIEF PERSISTS SPECIAL SESSION WILL BE CALLED

Wage-Hour, Farm, Sugar Bills on Calendar.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 24.—[Special.]—Congressional leaders were convinced, after a series of White House conferences today, that President Roosevelt will summon a special session of congress to consider wage and hour, sugar, and farm legislation.

At his press conference the President would say only that he had taken under advisement the question of a special session. Although congressional leaders were no more definite in public utterances, they admitted freely, in private, that they felt congress would be back at work after a short vacation.

It generally was agreed that a special session to accomplish anything would have to be called by the middle of October. Such a session would adjourn by the middle of December so members of congress could spend the holiday season at their homes.

Two Months for Tasks.

Such a session would give congress two months to consider wage-hour, farm, and sugar legislation. Some time might be devoted to governmental reorganization, although this was held problematical.

Congressional leaders who trooped into the executive offices during the day included Senate Majority Leader Alben Barkley, House Majority Leader Sam Rayburn, Senator Tom Connally [D., Tex.], Senator Lewis B. Schwellenbach [D., Wash.], and Representative Marvin Jones, chairman of the house agriculture committee.

Barkley and Rayburn spent an hour over luncheon at the President's desk discussing the pros and cons of a special session. Neither would admit a decision had been reached.

Asked for his own views, Senator Barkley said a special session was not within his province to decide.

Bankhead Favors a Call.

Speaker Bankhead has come out for a special session, the first leader to take a definite stand.

Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace left the White House yesterday committed to a special session. His pronouncement brought about today's series of conferences.

Senator Connally predicted the President would have a statement within a day or two announcing his decision. It was believed the statement would have been given today but for the fact that President Roosevelt had planned to issue a statement in conjunction with the signing of the emasculated court bill, and, being a shrewd judge of publicity value, did not wish to have one statement detract from the other.

EX-WIFE OF GIFFORD, TELEPHONE CO. HEAD, IS KILLED IN PLUNGE

Mrs. Florence Temple

The woman, who was 45 years old, had been in ill health for some time and had been treated at several sanitariums for a nervous disorder, according to her father, Walter Pittman, Jersey City manufacturer.

She recently had been living in a two room suite at the West 57th street hotel. Her husband, John Temple, an electrical engineer, was reported absent today on a business trip.

Mrs. Temple was divorced from Gifford at Reno eight years ago. The charge was incompatibility. They had two children, Sherman and Richard, who were 11 and 7 years old respectively at the time of the divorce.

200 Minneapolis Firemen Battle $50,000 Plant Blaze

Minneapolis, Minn., Aug. 24.—(AP)—Two hundred firemen today fought and brought under control a fire that swept through the three story General Metalware company plant with damage estimated by officials at $50,000 to $75,000.

PRESIDENT WILL DISCUSS COURTS IN STATEMENT

Washington, D. C., Aug. 24.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt tomorrow will issue a public statement in which he is expected to berate the congress for rejecting his scheme to pack the Supreme court. At the same time he is expected to indicate whether he intends to carry the issue to the people in the hope of action at the next session, or the one which follows the 1938 elections.

The President will make his statement when he announces what action he took on the procedural reform bill for the lower federal courts, the White House announced.

The ten day period allowed Mr. Roosevelt under the constitution to approve the judicial reform bill or "pocket veto" it expired tonight, and White House attaches said he would announce tomorrow what he did with the bill.

He is believed to have signed it, reluctantly, since it provides for no increase in the size of the Supreme court; no proctor to supervise the affairs of the lower courts; no packing of the lower courts on the basis of sitting members' ages; no new judges at all; and no roving judges.

LEWIS RECOMMENDS FIVE CHICAGOANS TO RETAIN U. S. POSTS

Washington, D. C., Aug. 24.—(AP)—Senator J. Hamilton Lewis of Illinois announced tonight that he had recommended five federal officeholders in Chicago be reappointed.

They are Carter H. Harrison, collector of internal revenue; William H. McDonnell, United States marshal; Joseph A. Zembla, collector of customs; Thomas Temple Hoyne, controler of customs, and Ernest J. Kruetgen, postmaster. Senator William H. Dieterich of Illinois concurred in his recommendations.

MENTAL TESTS ORDERED FOR 3 MORE DRIVERS

Judge Tells Two Speeders to Sell Their Cars.

Mental examinations for three more trafic offenders were ordered yesterday by Judge J. M. Braude in the Trafic court. Two other motorists were fined by Judge Braude.

Because he was fined for speeding in 1936 and served five days in the county jail for driving while drunk in May, 1937, Horace Bowen, 20 years old, 8837 Wabash avenue, an American Can company employé, was fined $300, ordered to sell his car within two weeks, forbidden to drive any autotmobile for a year, and ordered to be examined by Dr. David B. Rotman, Municipal court psychiatrist. He was found guilty of speeding.

Faces 7 Parking Charges.

Hymen Goldberg, 29, of 203 North Wabash avenue, was ordered examined by Dr. Rotman, and his hearing on seven charges of illegal parking was continued until today. Mrs. Anna Goldberg, his estranged wife, told the court her husband was in the Elgin State hospital from May 29 to June 29 and said he always named her as the owner of the car when he got a trafic ticket.

The third motorist sent to Dr. Rotman for examination was Jack Scanlan, 19 years old, of 1215 West 78th place, a packer for the Chicago Mail Order company, arrested for speeding 45 miles an hour in Michigan avenue between 43d and 47th streets. He also was fined $100.

Wilford O. Gregorious, 25, of Indianapolis, Ind., was fined $70 for going 75 miles an hour on the Outer drive. "Since you're from out of town, the best thing for you to do is to sell your car," Judge Braude said.

Girl Speeder Fined.

Miss Josephine Suski, 21, of 5404 South Mozart street, was fined the minimum of $6 for speeding on 59th street near Ashland avenue on Aug. 12.

Two more reckless motorists were forbidden to drive their automobiles yesterday by Judge Charles S. Dougherty in the Safety court. They are William S. Pearson, 29 years old, 1604 South Crescent avenue, Park Ridge, who was ordered not to drive for six months and fined $10, and Jack Tucker, 22, of 2637 Evergreen avenue, who was ordered not to drive for three days and fined $5.

Motorists in Court

(Story in adjoining column.)

Miss Josephine Suski smiled when she escaped with the smallest fine—$6—among five cases in the Trafic court yesterday.

[TRIBUNE Photos.]

Hymen Goldberg (left) went to court with seven parking tickets. He was ordered to take mental test. Horace Bowen (right) was fined $300, deprived of privilege of driving for one year, ordered to sell his auto within two weeks and to take a mental examination.

She lost control of her car in highway 72 and it overturned twelve miles northwest of Elgin. While she was being taken to the hospital the ambulance overturned in highway 20, nine miles northwest of Elgin, and she was hurt again.

An unidentified man, about 40 years old, was killed last night when an automobile struck a safety island on which he was standing at Ashland near Clybourn avenue. The driver of the car, Theodore Schalkowski, 32 years old, 4450 West 28th street, was held for the inquest today.

Hyman Ferst, 60 years old, 1242 South Albany avenue, was killed last night by a hit and run driver of an auto at Albany avenue and 13th street.

Dies After Car Leaps Curb.

Goodman Aranoff, 45 years old, 1549 South Spaulding avenue, a WPA laborer, died in Garfield Park hospital yesterday of injuries suffered Aug. 15 when an automobile plunged over the curb at Lexington street and Independence boulevard after a collision and struck him. Oscar Ozaren, 19, of 1324 South Albany avenue, driver of the car, has been charged with reckless driving.

Walter Lamay, 55 years old, a "panhandler," died in the Edgewater hospital early today, several hours after he had been hit by an automobile driven by Simon Green, 41 years old, 2539 West Lake street, in front of 5100 North Clark street.

The body of a man killed by an automobile last Sunday night at Central avenue and Hennepin street was identified yesterday as that of Franz Carlson, 62 years old, 2303 Winnemac street. The driver of the car was Ivar Ullman, 40 years old, 5940 Bernard street.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 673 persons had been killed in automobile accidents in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 519 were killed in Chicago, where 14,448 were injured.

[See editorial page for the massacre clock.]

DREW PEARSONS FLEE BRITAIN TO KEEP HOLD ON SON

LONDON, Aug. 25.—[Wednesday.]—(AP)—The Daily Mail said today that Drew Pearson, Washington columnist, Mrs. Pearson, and her son, Tyler Abel, sailed secretly for the United States last night.

A high court hearing was scheduled for today on an application for an injunction restraining George Abel, former husband of Mrs. Pearson, from interfering with the mother's custody of the 5 year old child. The Daily Mail said that the Pearsons and the boy motored to Southampton and boarded the French liner De Grasse from a special tender off Cowes roads. Abel said he would sail on the Normandie today.

The child was taken from the custody of his father, also a newspaper man, by Mrs. Pearson on Sunday after she and her husband made a plane and motorboat dash to tiny Sark Island in the English channel. Abel was served with a temporary restraining writ a few hours after the mother-son reunion.

SEIZE ALLEGED KARPIS-BARKER AID IN INDIANA

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 24.—[Special.]—Tony Amersbach, 40 years old, Cleveland, said to have been an associate of the Karpis-Barker gang of kidnapers and robbers, was captured in a North Meridian street tavern today.

Agents of the federal bureau of investigation tapped Tony on the shoulder as he sat drinking alone in the crowded tavern, and his arrest was made so quietly that other patrons were unaware.

Amersbach will be sent to Cleveland to face charges of harboring the Karpis-Barker gang after the $200,000 ransom kidnaping of Edward G. Bremer, wealthy St. Paul banker. He also will be charged as an accessory to the kidnaping.

Federal agents had been informed Amersbach was traveling between this city and Kentucky, usually carrying two or three revolvers. He was unarmed, however, when captured. Aside from admitting he was Tony Amersbach and that he formerly worked in a Cleveland gambling resort, he had nothing to say.

4 YOUNG VANDALS CONFESS THEFTS FROM 19 SCHOOLS

Four boys who confessed breaking into nineteen west side public schools in the last two months to steal supplies and wreck furniture were held last night by Racine avenue police. Two men to whom the young vandals said they sold stolen property were also in custody.

The boys are Frank Furman, 15 years old, 1641 Division street; Sylvester Binek, 14, of 852 North Hoyne avenue; Chester Krok, 15, of 943 Honore street, and Henry Krzankowski, 16, 1822 Chicago avenue. Krok and Binek also admitted starting a fire which did $4,000 damage to the Andersen elementary school on June 13. The total damage and property loss in the other schools was estimated at $28,000.

The two men named by the boys as receivers are Abe Friedstad, 45, operator of a junk shop at Ashland avenue and Hubbard street and Casey Wojydla, 32, of 810 North Hoyne avenue.

Moving Forward

Marshall Field & Company presents here each day observations and opinions intended to be of interest and value to those it seeks to serve.

MANY THANKS!

By CALEB

PEOPLE expect, and rightfully, so much from us as a store that it is interesting to recall occasionally that hundreds of thousands of transactions are faultlessly and promptly handled here. That, of course, means that thousands of our people do their jobs not only conscientiously but efficiently and without error.

Recently our personnel manager received a letter from a lady who must be motivated by an extremely unusual sense of kindliness. She did not forget. She seemed fully to appreciate that every transaction here involves people—human beings—who by their efforts contribute greatly to the satisfaction our customers receive. She said in part:

"My desire in addressing this letter to you is to say that various articles purchased at Marshall Field & Company (within the past two years) have, with but few exceptions, been quite satisfactory.

"When adjustments were necessary, I had occasion, or rather an opportunity, to appreciate the just and courteous service in respective departments."

Then she went ahead to list the names of twenty-nine people located in about twenty of our merchandise divisions and service bureaus in the store who, she said, had served her with the utmost courtesy and friendliness.

Naturally we were pleased to pass the compliment on to all the people she had mentioned, together with a word of congratulation and thanks on our behalf.

In doing so, we figuratively doffed our hat and saluted the generous-spirited writer of the letter; we congratulated ourselves that we have customers who appreciate our efforts; we honored our deserving helpers here; and with what we believe to be considerable vigor we renewed our efforts in all directions to reduce to a minimum the inevitable errors which keep some customers from enjoying here the kind of service it is our ideal to render.

LOSES A MILLION; RISKS NEW STAKE TO WIN REVENGE

Gambler to Face Players Who Took Fortune.

BIARRITZ, France, Aug. 24.—(AP)—Steel-nerved Amleto Battisti stepped into the Biarritz casino today with a head full of lightning mathematics, a fortune in his pocket and a determination to risk all his money for revenge at the baccarat table.

The Uruguayan mathematician and banker set the date of his big money, comeback game as Wednesday, Sept. 1.

Then he expects to meet at the "big table" in the casino the men who took more than a million dollars from him in a single series of baccarat games eight years ago.

Before that time Battisti had ranked among the top high stakes baccarat players from South America, France and England. He dropped out of the "sky's the limit" group with his tumble eight years ago.

Builds Up New Stake.

But he didn't quit playing altogether. Quietly and carefully he built up his stake until he could bank a sky's the limit game again.

Then he whispered to a gambling friend, Antonio Abecassin, that "I want a rendezvous with fortune." He delegated Abecassin to invite to a game Sept. 1 the group of players who broke him in 1929.

With Battisti and his wife, when the Uruguayan walked into the casino this afternoon, was Abecassin, who said: "Not yet. They're not here yet. Just wait!"

To get his hand in, Battisti took the bank at a smaller game. It will be different when he sits down at the big table, pronounces "banque ouverte" to inform players he will meet any stake no matter how high and waits the fall of the cards.

Field of "Big Names."

Then a sum running into four or five figures may hinge on each decision on the mathematical possibility of drawing a card to make the spots in his hand total nine but no more, baccarat's "natural." [Face cards and tens count nothing, other cards their face value.]

Rules and arrangements have been made. Battisti has promised to pit himself, as banker, against a field composed of the "big names" in the baccarat world. The by-word in the game of fortunes will be "tout va," or any bet goes.

Disinterested professional players, including some of the better known casino bankers, will be on the sidelines as referees. Play will start in the afternoon with a halt at 7 o'clock for dinner, and a night game "as long as the players desire."

Under the agreement, Battisti is to play as long as he has any money left, or until the other players have lost all of theirs.

There will be no credit. No quarter will be asked. It's all or nothing for Battisti.

Persistent Stowaway

Mrs. Molly Mollison walking down gangplank after her discovery on the liner California, in New York.

New York, Aug. 24.—[Special.]—A 23 year old blonde, who says she is Mrs. Molly Mollison, was taken to Bellevue hospital for observation today by police, who said they had prevented her from making attempt at third stowaway trip to Europe on the liner Roma. The woman, who said she was the divorced wife of a British actor, arrived yesterday on the liner California after a stowaway voyage from Scotland. Six month ago, immigration officials said, she stowed away on the Queen Mary. She denied that she was Elizabeth or Catherine Schwartz, with relatives in St. Joseph, Mo., as officials said.

WIDOW DEMANDS $15,000 SEIZED IN DRAKE SWINDLE

The million dollar Sir Francis Drake estate mail swindle echoed yesterday before Judge Richard S. Whaley of Washington, D. C., holding a session of the United States Court of Claims here. Mrs. Hazel V. Kirkendal, 5401 Cornell avenue, widow of James F. Kirkendal, a defendant in the fraud case, testified through her attorney, Thomas V. Sullivan, that $15,000 seized by police as part of the swindle proceeds actually belonged to her husband. She seeks return of the money.

The money, found in a safety deposit box, has been applied by the government to make up part of a deficiency income tax of $144,000 assessed against Oscar M. Hartzell, principal defendant, who launched the scheme which led to the fleecing of thousands of investors in claims to the nonexistent English estate. Hartzell recently was removed from Leavenworth penitentiary to a government psychopathic hospital at Jefferson City, Mo.

Bind Theater Porter; Start $1,000 Blaze with Films

Two unidentified men early yesterday took the colored porter from the Joyland theater, 614 South State street, tied him to a post half a block away, then returned and set fire to films in the theater. The flames ignited the stage floor, causing $1,000 damage. The porter, Herman Glover, 37 years old, 5940 South Michigan avenue, was freed by the men before they fled in an automobile.

UNRAVEL RISE OF $500 INTO THREE MILLION FAILURE

Court Finds 400 Banks in 5 States Involved.

Winchester, Ind., Aug. 24.—[Special.]—How John W. Moore, his son, and his daughter ran a $500 corporation into a 3 million dollar debacle involving hundreds of banks and other institutions in four states is beginning to unravel in involuntary bankruptcy proceedings against the Continental Credit corporation.

August V. Clifford, Indianapolis attorney appointed receiver June 19 for the Continental Credit corporation by United States District Judge Robert C. Baltzell, is learning its affairs are interwoven with several dozen industrial and commercial institutions and approximately 400 banks in Indiana, Illinois, Ohio, and Kentucky.

Gets in $9,000 Cash.

Pending audit of books, the receiver has done little except to convert physical assets into $9,000 cash at a public sale here last week.

Few persons hereabouts were familiar with operations of Continental Credit corporation. It occupied spacious offices in Winchester and afforded good jobs to a number of individuals who were close mouthed about its business.

Credit and cash—principally credit—were the commodities of the corporation, the dealings of which were largely with smaller banks of Indiana, Ohio and Illinois. To these banks the corporation brought short-term notes for discount and as yet it is not known to what extent this business had developed when it crashed.

The principal part of the business appears to have been the arrangement of financing and the direction of industrial or commercial enterprises whose seasonal demands for money made desirable established lines of credit. Its services were to be paid for on a commission and retainer basis.

Client Asks Receiver.

The first public indication of any difficulties came when Indianapolis Screw Products, a subscriber to the service, filed suit before Judge Alonzo Bales here, asking a receiver be appointed for Continental.

The complaint alleged Continental was withholding proceeds of notes amounting to $2,200 delivered to it for discounting by Screw Products and also sought recovery of $1,500 alleged to have been paid as a retainer for services which the complainant declared defendant had not given and was unable to deliver. A receiver was appointed.

Following a brief hearing on the right of the corporation to avail itself of section 77-B of the bankruptcy act, petitions were filed by the Milan Furniture Manufacturing Company of Milan; the Gingerich Cash Wholesales Grocery company of Lafayette, and the Tell City Desk company of Tell City, all clients of Continental and each of which alleged misuse of its money. Three organizations of banks holding notes and claims have been formed in three states.

North Winds Cut Down Ragweed Pollen Count

O. C. Durham, botanist of the Abbott laboratories of North Chicago, who makes a daily count, said yesterday that the amount of ragweed pollen in the air is dropping because of the continued north winds. The count on Monday was 96 grains per cubic yard of air, and he estimated it yesterday at 90, based on a forenoon computation.

NAZIS SAY HITLER PLANS TO CUT OFF CHURCH FUNDS

Religious Leaders Fear Confiscation.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Aug. 24.—Government circles intimated today that Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler will announce new legislation on relations between the church and state at the Nazi party caucus at Nuremberg Sept. 6 to 13. Two years ago he announced Germany's anti-Semitic laws. Last year Germany's new "four year plan" was prepared in Nuremberg.

This year party members hope the Fuehrer will find a new formula to restore comparative peace in the church feud. Most believe Hitler will enforce the separation of church and state, compelling the churches to seek support directly from circles interested in religion instead of relying on taxes collected for churches by the state. The churches fear the new measures may lead to partial confiscation of church property.

Foreign Envoys to Attend.

For the first time since the Nazis assumed power the ambassadors of Great Britain and France in Berlin will attend the Nazi party caucus. The United States chargé d'affaires, Prentiss Gilbert, is awaiting instructions from Washington about participating.

Heretofore the United States, Great Britain, and France held that the Nuremberg meetings were party political events, since invitations were issued by the Nazi party and not by the state. The Nazis contended that the "party is the state" and that therefore its invitations to diplomats ranked as state invitations. It was said that since London and Paris adopted the Germans' view, Berlin expects Washington, D. C., to do the same. Diplomats of the greater powers are expected in Nuremberg for the biggest ceremonies, which start on Sept. 10.

Seek Catholic Teachers.

The Roman Catholic nuncio spent an hour and a half today with Dr. Hans Georg von Mackensen, secretary of state in the foreign office, discussing relations between the Catholic church and the Nazi state.

In most districts of Germany school authorities have forbidden priests to teach religion in the schools, breaking a tradition of centuries. The church feels its children must be taught religion by men who believe in it, and not by young Nazi teachers many of whom are opposed to Christianity.

A compromise is being sought along lines similar to those adopted in France, where children have Thursday off to give them time to take private lessons in religion if the parents want them to do so. In Germany this would present difficulties, because children already are overburdened with obligations. They must go to school and must serve most regularly in Hitler Youth organizations.

Resigns from Party, Loses Job.

A Dortmund Labor court ruled today that a person resigning from the Nazi party may be fired from his job without notice. The case in which the ruling was given involved a pastor, the Rev. Mr. Klose, who was employed in Bochum prison and who was dismissed in January after resigning from the Nazi party, to which he had belonged since 1929.

The Rev. Mr. Klose wrote in a Protestant magazine about the last hours of prisoners sentenced to death. The Nazi press and the prosecuting attorney attacked him bitterly, whereupon the Rev. Mr. Klose resigned from the party.

Nazis Omit God; Die with "Belief in Their Fuehrer"

BERLIN, Aug. 24.—(AP)—A new type of death notice expressing worship of Adolf Hitler and nationalism is being used in the German press. In place of the customary phrase announcing that a person "died with belief in God," fervent Nazis use "died with belief in Adolf Hitler," or "died with belief in his Fuehrer." A variation is, "died with belief in Germany's future."

Doctor Gives Own Blood to Save Foundling's Life

Beaver Falls, Pa., Aug. 24.—(AP)—A physician gave his own blood today to save the life of a baby girl found on the doorstep of Frank Trill, a city employé. Dr. Leonard S. Fullerton transfused his own blood because there was insufficient time to obtain a registered blood donor. The doctor said the infant, weighing 6½ pounds, had a good chance to survive.

Nazi Naval Aid Dies

LONDON, Aug. 24.—(AP)—The German embassy announced today that Rear Admiral Erwin Wassner, its naval attaché and one of the best known U-boat commanders of the world war, had died at the Hague, Netherlands.

BLAST KILLS 7 AT ALUMINUM COMPANY PLANT

Slot Machine Coin Tricks Hold Two as Counterfeiters

Two young men who played coin tricks on slot machines were held by United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker yesterday in bonds of $1,000 each pending a hearing next Monday on charges of making and passing counterfeit nickels, dimes, and quarters. The pair, Frank Salton, 20 years old, and Harold Roarty, 28, both of 834 Wilson avenue, were arrested last week in a roadhouse west of Waukegan. They said they used the bogus coins only to beat the slot machines.

Hallucinations of Teetotaler Make Wife Seek Divorce

Her husband, Fred W. Paskiet, is a teetotaler, Mrs. Irene Paskiet, 26 years old, 6227 South Park avenue, said yesterday in a suit for divorce filed in Superior court. But before and since their separation, July 31, Paskiet has been troubled with hallucinations, according to her bill, filed by Attorney Victor Frohlich, which asks that Paskiet be restrained from disturbing Mrs. Paskiet.

Suicide Verdict Returned in Stenographer's Death

A coroner's jury yesterday returned a verdict of suicide while temporarily insane and despondent in the death of Miss Elaine Erb, 23 years old, a stenographer, who killed herself with a revolver bullet early in the day. The young woman, who lived at 1651 West 83d street, was found dying in the apartment of her sister, Mrs. Walter Heidenway, 1653 West 83d street.

Father Sees Son Killed on the Boy's First Job

Manchester, Ia., Aug. 24.—[Special.]—Robert Stephenson, 18 years old, was electrocuted today by coming in contact with 220 volts while at work on top of a pole here. His father, Jack Stephenson, head lineman for the Iowa Electric company, saw him die. The boy had been a lineman since graduation from high school in June.

Mayor Kelly Greets 32 Polish Boy and Girl Scouts

Mayor Kelly yesterday greeted 22 Boy Scouts and 10 Girl Scouts from Poland, who are visiting Polish communities in the country after taking part in the jamboree in Washington, D. C. With the scouts were M. Wierzbianski, representative of the Polish National Boy Scout council, and Miss A. Tworkowska, member of the Polish National Girl Scout council.

GERMANY WARS ON ROTARY; NAZIS ORDERED TO QUIT

Told Clubs Are Contrary to Party Principles.

BERLIN, Aug. 24.—(AP)—The Nazi party high command started a campaign against Rotary clubs in Germany today because the clubs are "not anti-Semitic."

Walter Buch, chief justice of the party court, struck the first blow at the organizations in a statement circulated throughout the nation. Buch declared the "essential principles" of German Rotary clubs run counter to National Socialism, [Nazism].

Must Be Out by Dec. 31.

"Rotary is not anti-Semitic, and it is ruled by an international organization conceived in America," he explained. Jews, he said, have been "camouflaging" themselves behind the doors of the organization, which failed to climb on the Nazi bandwagon in 1933.

"Leadership in the Nazi state and membership in Rotary can not go together," said Buch.

After ordering all Nazi party members belonging to Rotary to resign from the business men's organization by Dec. 31 or become liable for "penalties," Buch called on German officials to force government employés and regular army officers to give up Rotary membership.

Diplomats Are Members.

A number of diplomats and a few army officers are Rotary members. The official Rotary yearbook shows 1,365 members in forty-two states and towns in Germany. Berlin members said "a small percentage" are Jews.

Modelled after the American organization, German Rotary numbers many prominent business and professional men among its membership. Dr. Hans Luther, former German ambassador to Washington was an honorary member of the Berlin club.

Other members include Lieutenant Commander Wolfgang von Gronau, the aviator; Dr. Theodor Lewald, president of the German Olympic committee, and Hermann Abendroth, orchestra conductor.

CITY WATER BUREAU AID IS CONVICTED OF EMBEZZLING $2,767

Timothy F. Donohue, 34 years old, 8023 Maryland avenue, assistant cashier in the city water bureau for the last eight years, was convicted of embezzling $2,767 in city funds in a bench trial before Judge Robert J. Dunne in the Criminal court yesterday. Sentence was deferred to Sept. 1 pending a ruling on a new trial motion. Donohue faces 1 to 15 years in the penitentiary.

Donohue took $10,974 in the last three years, according to Assistant State's Attorney William Crawford. Oscar Hewitt, commissioner of public works, testified that Donohue admitted using the money to bet on horse races. Donohue, who is married and the father of three children, was arrested May 21.

2 MORE SLAIN AS STRIKING POLISH PEASANTS RIOT

WARSAW, Poland, Aug. 24.—(AP)—Anti-Jewish disorders in which two persons were killed and twenty-two injured today marked the continuance of the Polish peasants' strike. Since its outbreak there have been forty-nine deaths. The two peasants were killed when they overturned a truck containing vegetables, which a Jew tried to bring to Buczacz.

The Socialist party is urging sympathetic general strikes for tomorrow at Cracow, Bochnia, and the salt mines of Wieliczka to support the peasants' movement. Tarnow, a city of 50,000 inhabitants, was paralyzed by a sympathy strike today.

The peasant party called the nationwide strike, during which farmers were to withhold products from market, in protest against the government's disregard of its demand for the return of the party's exiled leader, Vincent Witos.

SOME FIGURES ON HOUSING.

The Wagner-Steagall housing act came out of congress virtually disowned by its senior parent, Senator Wagner of New York, because of the limitations on construction cost written into the bill. He declared that those limitations make it unlikely that his city, which has the worst slums, can qualify for much federal money under the act.

Senator Wagner is probably right. On available evidence he is far more right than he is willing to admit. The housing act as passed will do little to clear slums. But it would have done even less had the limit been left off the allowable cost of a family unit, as Senator Wagner desired.

Slums are not cleared unless the slum dwellers are provided with improved quarters at rents which they can afford. If they cannot pay the rents in the projects which replace the slums, they are forced into other neighborhoods, which by overcrowding are in time turned into new slums.

The Wagner-Steagall act recognizes this and attempts to meet it by systems of subsidies by which the general taxpayers will bear a substantial portion of the former slum-dwellers' rents. One of these systems involves annual subsidies to supplement rents. It is not easy to forecast what rents it would make possible.

A second provision of the bill is for construction subsidies, 25 per cent by the federal housing authority, another 15 per cent from relief funds, all conditioned upon local sponsors of the housing project, presumably a state or municipal housing authority, contributing another 20 per cent. Under this plan the renters would have to carry only 40 per cent of the cost of their homes.

The largest slum clearance project undertaken to date has been the Williamsburg houses in New York City. The PWA built them at a cost of $13,459,000. They are to be leased to a local housing corporation, which will rent them to tenants for $21,000 a month. This sum is 1.97 per cent on the investment. The lowest interest rate on treasury bonds now outstanding is 2.75 per cent. To pay interest on the cost of the housing project, and amortize the principal in half a century, the PWA should get an initial return on its investment of at least 4.75 per cent.

The present return is 41 per cent of this. In other words, the PWA is subsidizing the project for 59 per cent of its cost, approximately the maximum fixed for new projects under the Wagner-Steagall act.

And what are the rents in this generously subsidized project? They were announced recently, and range from $246 a year for two rooms to $343 for five. There are additional service charges for utilities and heat ranging from $50 to $66 a year.

Figures gathered by the staf of the Brookings institution indicate the probable income classes which will be able to pay these rents. These figures give the average ratios between rent paid and annual income of city families:

Rent.	Income.	Rent.	Income.
200	1,160	400	2,060

According to this table the average income of families able to rent in the Williamsburg houses would range from $1,365 to $1,770 a year. Can slum dwellers pay these rents? They cannot if they are the same people whom the wages and hours bill was intended to benefit, with its minimums of 40 cents an hour and a 40 hour week, for that would provide only about $800 a year for a single wage earner. Nor can they if slum dwellers are those with an annual income of $1,000 or less, who numbered one-twelfth of all urban families in 1930, according to the Brookings report.

Thus, contrary to the hopes of housing enthusiasts, it seems that the direct beneficiaries will be those families with incomes above the actual poverty level, and that the slum dwellers will benefit only by having made available to them older quarters vacated by the direct beneficiaries, more desirable than actual slum quarters. What this process will do to present middle class neighborhoods when they are crowded with low income tenants is, of course, another question.

THE LENGTH OF AN EDUCATION.

A New York physician upon his death left a trust fund, directing that the income be devoted to the education of a younger brother until that should be completed, and specifying another beneficiary thereafter.

The executor of the estate went to court for directions. He wanted to know when the brother's education might be considered complete. After quoting at length from Cardinal Newman, Webster, Plato, and Solon, Surrogate James A. Delehanty arrived at the conclusion that education includes not only formal instruction but all of the experiences of life, and that therefore the youth should receive the income for life.

The surrogate's major premise is sound. Education, for an alert mind, ends only with death. But the most valuable part of education, as it is thus defined, consists of the adaptation of the individual to the world in which he lives and must earn a living. A continuing subsidy after his period of formal instruction would, in most instances, tend to insulate the young man against this school of experience. Rather than forwarding his education, it would impede it.

Surrogate Delehanty's logic seems to parallel that of some of the more extreme exponents of the National Youth administration, whose watchword, uttered by one of their number in a radio address, is, "Youth demands security." Of all the things which youth needs, security is the least, for it is the surest way of perpetuating immaturity.

SENATOR GUFFEY GOES ABROAD.

When a TRIBUNE reporter asked Charlie Michelson, the most celebrated of the administration ghost writers, if he had written Senator Guffey's recent radio speech Mr. Michelson was insulted. He might well have been. Mr. Michelson's reputation is that of being a tough customer to answer.

The ghost who wrote Senator Guffey's speech threw his patron to the lions. He made some able public speakers, Guffey's own party Democratic senators, angry beyond their wont by direct attack upon them and by a prediction that neither they nor any of their associates in rebellion against the administration would be able to explain their actions and avoid defeat.

Although Mr. Guffey has been a prominent advocate of the purer and more abundant life, and one of the most persistent in its ways of doing good, a part of his own political past in public office had been allowed to rest in peace. His attack upon the other senators made them quite willing to come back at him and to dwell upon one particular incident relating to his experiences as custodian of alien property seized during the war. An investigation of his accounts showed that he had sold more than $55,000,000 worth of goods. His banking arrangements were peculiar, and when an agent of the bureau of investigation testified before the special senate committee in 1924 it was again made a matter of record that Mr. Guffey had been indicted for embezzlement in a New York federal court district.

The agent read to the committee his report to the attorney general showing that Guffey was short $400,000 in accrued interest when he turned his accounts over to Francis M. Garvin, alien property custodian in the Harding administration. Senator Wheeler, one of the men attacked by Senator Guffey and his ghost writer, was a member of the investigating committee which heard the story of Guffey's handling of the funds. The indictment was nol prossed in 1930. It was said that some one by mistake had taken alien property bonds when he should have taken Guffey's own personal securities for one of the loans in question.

Nothing more was made of the matter until 1934 when Gifford Pinchot was governor of Pennsylvania and Guffey was candidate for senator against the Republican senator, David A. Reed. Pinchot made the statement that Guffey got the money to square his account with the government from Mr. Andrew Mellon. Mr. Mellon at that time explained that Mr. Guffey did not owe him anything, and that Judge Reed, the father of the man our New Dealer defeated for the senate, had joined him in putting up a guarantee which would square the former alien property custodian with the government. The securities Guffey gave Reed and Mellon eventually were able to pay off the obligation.

Mr. Mellon is regarded in Washington as a distinguished economic royalist, and Judge Reed and his son would be classified at least as Bourbon reactionaries and enemies of the people. Mr. Mellon and Judge Reed, however, bailed out the idealistic Rooseveltian senator when he was in difficulty. The association and attachment no doubt are now distinctly distasteful to the idealist. He is leading the more abundant life and could have no such friends or acquaintances.

In Washington Mr. Guffey says that he is going to Europe for a six weeks' tour. He says: "I want to get away from telephones, from legislation, and from job seekers." He might have added, "and from ghost writers and other senators who know something about me."

Editorial of the Day

THE COUNTRY DOCTOR.

[Boston Herald.]

Not a few New England towns have in recent years adopted the custom of subsidizing a physician. "Country doctoring" is better known for its spiritual rewards than its material ones, and the healthier the town the smaller, paradoxically, is the physician's pay envelope.

Petersham, high in the central Massachusetts hills, is one of the healthiest towns in the state and thus is able to give doctor relatively little employment. But its people feel safer with one close at hand. So some years ago they decided to subsidize one. They were helped by the gift of Elizabeth and Charlotte Flint of Brookline of the house in which their father and grandfather served as the town's physician for many years. Hence the present substantial offer of a guarantee of $1,200 a year and a rent free house to a physician who will be on call in moments of sickness and accident.

The career of a general practitioner in a small town is not, however, being merely made more financially attractive to him. A few years ago the Boston dispensary, the Boston Floating hospital, and the Tufts medical school joined in organizing the New England Medical Center to improve the professional knowledge and skill of such doctors. At present six general practitioners from small cities and towns throughout northern New England are coming to the Boston dispensary each month to familiarize themselves with new medical methods. Through the generosity of William Bingham of Bethel, Me., a diagnostic service has been established at the hospital, where they may send their more obscure cases for study and observation.

Thus there are definite efforts at work not only to improve the country doctor's financial lot but to better his ability to care for his patients in accord with the most modern discoveries of medical science. He will disappoint his constituency, however, if he fails in those traits of neighborliness, loyalty, and friendly inspiration with which his high calling has long been associated.

THE JUDICIAL ATTITUDE.

Sir: The doings of governmental boards remind me of my early days in a small German settlement on the Mississippi river. This town boasted (not too strongly) of a justice of the peace who was always known as "Judge." RECKONING.

Sometimes I am so overwhelmed with sorrow,
So totally submerged in grief I fain
Would take my leave from this world ere tomorrow
Has added its unkindness to the pain.

But when I see a field of crimson clover
Swaying to an orchestra of bees,
A forest glade and green moss hanging over
A rocky ledge, and lacy fern and trees,

And when I rise to find the morning glories
Satin-lined in dark maroon and blue,
And listen to the crimson throated robin
Trilling to a world engulfed in dew,

Or hear the plaintive whisper of the south wind
In carpet slippers shuffling down the street
While petals from the shattered apple blossoms
Drift in white battalions to my feet,

I stop and wonder at my strange misgiving;
My pulses beat in vain 'gainst soundless drums.
I hear myself say, "God, I'll go on living,"
And know not even whence the utterance comes.

To prove to us that times have not changed much, especially in the department of ponderous thought, G. K. W. forwards to The Line a bit of dialog from Ambrose Bierce, so: . . . Phil—I have been thinking of the pocopo. . . . Fool—So have I. What is it? . . . Phil—The pocopo is a small Brazilian animal, chiefly remarkable for its singularity of diet. A pocopo eats nothing but other pocopos. As these are not easily obtained, the annual mortality from starvation is great. As a result there are fewer mouths to feed, and by consequence the race is rapidly multiplying. . . . Fool—From whom had you this? . . . Phil—From a professor of political economy. . . . Fool—Let us rise and uncover.

A bitter fellow, that Bierce, and one of the really great early writers of the short story. Merely as a guess, we'd say he could do the horror tale as well as Poe; and that was Poe's forte.

There are two certainties in life—of them all men are sure—amid the struggle and the strife, the quest for more and more. No matter how much coin each lad piles up in his career, with eagerness that make him mad, the tax man comes each year. The poor misguided sap may think he has a million bones, but with a speed that makes him blink, they tell him what he owns. When Uncle Sam gets through with him, he is no plutocrat. He's held up, shaken by the limb, cleaned out, and that is that. He toils and moils throughout the year; accumulates a heap; but finds at end, with sigh and tear, there's little he can keep. Throughout the ages—sons, too—the folks have faces made. They've cussed until the air was blue, but always they have paid. So long as they shall live they'll be deducting from their wad; till death, the other certainty, plants them beneath the sod. Les Plettner.

FIGHTING MALARIA (Part II.)

YESTERDAY'S article discussed the malaria problem, particularly with reference to the nature of the parasite and its mode of growing within the red blood cells. Today we consider the behavior of the patient who has been inoculated by the bite of an infected Anopheles mosquito.

No symptoms of importance may be detected until from five to thirty days thereafter, depending upon the type of infection. The patient will manifest marked fatigue and complain of headache, and then the characteristic three-stage paroxysm will appear.

First, there are cold sensations gradually increasing to a pronounced chill, during which time the patient insistently demands heat and may require several blankets to keep reasonably comfortable. Second, from twenty minutes to an hour later comes the hot stage, in which the bedclothes are thrown off, the skin becomes hot and dry, and the temperature may rise to 105 or 106 degrees Fahrenheit. There is usually intense thirst, and frequently mental confusion, delirium, or unconsciousness. From one to six hours after that the third or final phase—sweating—develops. Its onset is coincident with the drop in temperature, which continues until it reaches normal or slightly below. Usually two or three hours are required to complete this period. The patient may then report that he "feels fine" and drop off to sleep.

Those who live in malarious regions recognize these symptoms, but the diagnosis must be confirmed by studies of the blood which, if taken at the proper time, will disclose the causative agents.

A skilled physician should direct the treatment, because if the infection is not eradicated as promptly as possible chronic invalidism and repeated relapses are prone to occur. Quinine is our best drug and is usually given in doses of from 15 to 18 grains per day for from five to seven days. The daily ration is divided into four or five parts. Some authorities advocate 10 grains three times each day for four days, followed by 10 grains daily for at least two months. Occasionally a patient will not tolerate the drug, and there may be toxic effects such as gastric disturbances, deafness, etc.

Synthetic remedies include atebrin and plasmochin. Each is poisonous in overdose. The former is usually given one and one-half grains three times daily for from five to seven days, and its administration should not be repeated for several months. It is excreted so slowly that some patients will exhibit signs of poisoning even from the above mentioned amounts. Toxic symptoms may include yellowing of the skin, diarrhea, general depression, and mental excitement. If the patient is suffering from heart, liver, or kidney disease the use of this compound is not advised.

Plasmochin is given in one-sixth grain doses twice a day for two or three days. Since it is extremely toxic, it should never be administered except under the watchful eye of a physician. Bluish discoloration of the skin [cyanosis] may ensue, and in marked overdosage liver destruction may lead to serious consequences.

It is far easier to prevent than to cure malaria, and public health officers in all affected districts are alert to the importance of draining ponds, pools, and marshes where mosquitoes breed. Screens will protect the home, and in addition netting over the beds may be required in certain localities. While it has not been accepted conclusively that the use of quinine will prevent the infection, nevertheless the malaria commission of the league of nations recommends that six grains be taken daily by those who are exposed during the mosquito season.

There are approximately one million cases in the United States at the present time. It is a seriously incapacitating disease, not only destroying physical efficiency but exerting a depressing effect upon the brain and nervous tissue. More than 90 per cent of all malaria in the United States occurs in the southeastern section, and there appears to be an observable increase in the number of deaths. Tremendous inroads, however, have been made against the disease through the anti-malaria campaigns conducted by the health departments of our southern states, though the problem remains.

We should recall that the malaria mosquito is a night biter, and if you are in a dangerous locality remain indoors after dark. You will not have time to "swat" the pest, because you will be bitten before you can detect the soft, low song. If your physician advises you to take quinine each day, do so, but follow his instructions.

IT IS CONTAGIOUS.

Mrs. M. D. writes:

I have two brothers inn in hospitals with tuberculosis. One brother was improving so that he was about to be discharged, when suddenly he had a relapse. He has had a temperature for the last three weeks. The other brother has tuberculosis in the lungs, larynx, and intestines. He cannot speak, and answers question by writing on a piece of paper. He has also developed pleurisy.

1. Is there any danger of my contracting the disease when I go to visit them?
2. How long should the visits be?
3. Which brother's condition is the more serious?

REPLY.

1 and 2. Tuberculosis is contagious. A brief visit only, on the part of a well person, is advised.

3. The one who has tuberculosis of the lungs, larynx, and intestines is in the more serious condition.

ITCHING OF RECTUM.

T. K. writes: What causes itching of the rectum? I suffer from this disorder and find it most annoying.

REPLY.

This condition is frequently difficult to remedy. There are many causes and, therefore, many suggestions for relief. We have a leaflet on the subject which you can get by sending a stamped, addressed envelope.

TAKEN WITH WATER.

M. R. G. writes: Does a person take hydrochloric acid into the system by diet or medicine?

REPLY.

The dilute acid, when needed, is taken in a little water—usually before or during a meal. Ten to thirty drops is the ordinary dose. Follow the directions of your physician.

JOINT TENANCY PROPERTY.

Chicago, Aug. 21.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My husband and I hold a joint tenancy deed on some real estate. I have two children from a former marriage. My present husband has no children of his own and none with me. In case I should die first [1] would all the property go to my husband or [2] half to him and half equally to my children?

If my husband would get it all [2] what steps could I take to protect my children so they would fall heir and get my half interest?

4. Would a will do any good on my part of the real estate? The two children are minors now, but the oldest will be of age soon. R. A.

1. Yes.
2. No.
3. Depends in part on whether your husband is now willing to coöperate. If he is not willing to coöperate, you can convey your half to a third party, thus destroying the joint tenancy feature, and have the third party reconvey this half to you as a tenant in common with your husband. After these steps, if you die before your husband, your one-half would be distributed between your husband and your children in accordance with the Illinois statute.
4. Your husband could renounce the will and take instead his statutory share.

SHARE IN ESTATE.

Chicago, Aug. 21.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My grandmother passed away leaving an estate consisting of cash and a home, which was appraised by the court at $3,500. This is in California. The executor writes me that I can sell my share of the estate for cash at a discount. There are six heirs. Two receive 8 per cent of the estate and the balance is to be divided equally between the other four.

1. Must I sell at a discount?
2. If so, what is the usual rate of discount?
3. Does selling my share of the estate mean my share in the house alone, or with the cash on hand, also?
4. The terms of the will called for 10 per cent of each share to be paid at once and 2 per cent a month. P. B.

1. No, you are under no obligation to sell, but if you do so you must take the terms you can get just as in the case of selling anything else.
2. There is no usual or stated rate for such cases as yours.
3. You could sell either one.
4. Ordinarily there is no distribution until the year for filing claims has expired.

A NEW PROPOSAL.

Chicago, Aug. 20.—I am outlining a few of the thoughts that run through my head all day long. Family consists of husband, 33, children, 6 and 6 months.

1. Tenth week, no income.
2. At least 2 quarts of milk.
3. A mild soda to wash the baby's clothes. Mild soda costs more. Should I take a chance with a cheap soap.
4. The first will soon be here. I wonder who will offer to pay our rent now.
5. Food in the house.
6. Would have the telephone taken out, but no, maybe the university will call. My husband is registered with the employment department.
7. Is it legal to give birth to a child for pay? I would have such a child if it were. My husband and I are healthy, and educated. Our children are excellent samples of health and alertness. I wouldn't sell them for a million, but I would give birth to a third for a price.
8. Smile to keep up your husband's spirit.
9. Etc.

ACCOUNTANT'S WIFE.

FOR BETTER DISHWASHING.

Chicago, Aug. 19.—With the immense drive on in Chicago against venereal diseases, methods of tests, cures, and prevention, I am wondering why the restaurants and eating places are not being checked into.

There is a great chance of innocent ones picking up these and other types of communicable disease when a restaurant serves its beverages in dirty glasses and cups.

Just today I had the misfortune to be served a cup of coffee in a restaurant and noticed a red smear on the outer side of the cup just where I would drink. Upon wiping this with a napkin I was able to get a large patch of lipstick off. By then all desire for the coffee or anything else was gone and the sullen, half mad attitude displayed by the waitress caused me to promise myself not to go back there again soon.

Incidentally, whatever happened to the law or health department rule about paper drinking cups and beverage glasses at soda fountains? Also, is there no way of making sure that cups are washed on the outer rim as well as the inside? I suppose if the lights were brighter in the taverns and barrooms there would be many lipstick smudged cocktail glasses brought to light. M. M. S.

THE OLDER WORKER: SUGGESTION.

Chicago, Aug. 18.—"Nodrog's" letter in today's issue prompts me to suggest the following, which might lead to the solution of the unemployment problem facing so many of us older workers.

Surely in all Chicago there must be at least some employers who realize that the mere fact that a person is over 35 or 40 years old is no criterion that that person has lost his ability, efficiency, respect, or need of an income. I further believe that a canvass of employers would find many available openings for us and that as the movement spread more employers would modify their age restrictions to at least some degree.

So why can't a few of us older workers get together to consider the possibility of getting an employment agency started, the agency to specialize in the obtaining of employment for us older workers?

UNEMPLOYED OLDER WORKER.

AN AMERICAN IN THE FASCIST ARMY.

WITH FRANCO'S ARMY IN SPAIN [via Lisbon], July 2.—A few lines from one who has been a reader of THE TRIBUNE for over fifteen years. I was, as far as I know, one of the first Americans to enter the Spanish civil war on the side of Gen. Franco. I hesitated in expressing my views at an earlier date because I wanted to make a complete study of the situation before writing. Now that I have been on the front for over eight months, and as a graduate of one of America's greatest engineering universities [Purdue], I feel that it is possible for me to give a clear and intelligent picture of the whole affair.

The main conclusion that I have reached is that this war is strictly a campaign against communism and its program of destruction. There are those in America who are denying this, yet it is a matter of fact that all those in command of our opponents—the captains, lieutenants, sergeants, and corporals—that I have met on the battlefield wear the hammer and sickle, the emblem of the communist international. The percentage of privates wearing the emblem is not so great, which seems to bear out the statement made by Gen. Franco that 50 per cent of our enemies are in reality our friends.

Most of those not wearing the emblem have been forced into the Red army by means of conscription. This fact is also attested by the large numbers who desert daily from the Reds to join our ranks. From various observations I have been forced to believe that a group of international communists are intending to make Spain a satellite state of Russia. This, however, will not happen, thanks to Gen. Franco.

Another thing which has become so obvious that it cannot escape mention is the barbaric tactics used by the Red command to achieve their aims. I was in Toledo a while ago at which time the Red aviators bombed the civil population without any military objective whatever. This is a regular occurrence at many of our large cities. In Torrijos and elsewhere I have seen churches mutilated beyond description. Thousands of the most noble people of Spain have been murdered by the Reds. Certainly these things smack of the Russian bear.

The theory that Gen. Franco is merely a military despot lacks substantial evidence. The spontaneous and voluntary enthusiasm of the people over his leadership proves his popularity. Crowds everywhere hail him as the liberator of the nation.

Much more can be said. I have only scratched the surface, but I sincerely hope that the little here written will be brought to the attention of the people of Chicago. WALTER W. SCHAIBLE.

THE OSTEOPATHS: FINIS.

Chicago, Aug. 20.—I can find nothing in Ray G. Hulbert's communication which invalidates my statement that osteopaths in Illinois are licensed to practice "under certain conditions"; in fact, most of his letter is devoted to telling just what these conditions are. Moreover, I was not thinking only of cases of "patients referred by reputable M. D.'s to reputable osteopathic physicians," but I also had in mind many instances I know of in which patients have been referred by "reputable M. D.'s" to masseurs and physiotherapists—who are not, I insist, all "quacks."

EXAMINE SCHOOL PROPOSED AS GHQ IN SYPHILIS WAR

WPA Funds Sought for Remodeling Job.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

City architects looked over the old South Division High school at Wabash avenue and 26th street yesterday with a view to remodeling it into a medical center for all activities in the campaign to eradicate syphilis. Dr. Louis E. Schmidt, head of Mayor Kelly's committee of 400 which is working to bring venereal disease under control, announced that the Works Progress administration would be asked for federal aid on the project.

The federal, state, and city health agencies expect the old school will be turned over to them some time after Oct. 15. The Dunbar Pre-vocational school is now occupying the structure, and it is planned to transfer the pupils to a new building at 45th street and Prairie avenue. Dr. Schmidt hopes that before the end of the year the school will have been remodeled into laboratories and a treatment clinic for those unable to pay for health examinations.

Will Be Medicine Depot.

The projected headquarters will likewise be used for distributing free medicines to physicians and for the transfer to private doctors of persons afflicted with syphilis who can afford to pay moderate fees.

On the west side, Dr. Frank Jirka, director of the state health department, is advancing a proposal for WPA assistance in the reconstruction of a building at 1800 Fillmore street, owned by the state. The plan is to transform this into a laboratory for tests for venereal disease.

Other clinics now in operation are to be continued. These include the pre-marriage clinic at the city hall, the diagnostic clinic at 1121 South State street, and the county jail and Bridewell clinics which have been operating for twenty years.

Courts to Extend Drive.

The records made by Municipal Judge Eugene J. Holland in the last three weeks in the Woman's court, and by Municipal Judge Oscar S. Caplan in the last ten days in Des Plaines street court, led Chief Justice John J. Sonsteby to announce that efforts would be made to apply their methods in other courts.

Justice Sonsteby said he has suggested to judges in other police courts, especially in areas where venereal disease is widespread, that they use the same procedure in fighting the scourge. Judges Holland and Caplan have acted under a law which has been on the statute books since 1919. Under it, a judge may send to a clinic for examination any person brought before him who from the evidence or otherwise is suspected of having communicable venereal disease.

78,411 Favor Tests.

Yesterday 83,132 heads of households had mailed in replies in the referendum to determine how many persons in Chicago are willing to submit to free, secret blood tests for syphilis. Of the answers, 78,411 were in the affirmative. These, according to Dr. Schmidt's figures, represent 250,000 persons.

Police End Girl's Night Life Tour; 2 Escorts Arrested

Alice Mae Leaman, 16 years old, and two youths whom she hired as night life escorts were taken back to their homes in Lafayette, Ind., yesterday after their arrest in a rooming house at 4409 Emerald avenue. Police were told the party began when Alice Mae took $200 from her father and with Kenneth Southard, 21, and Kenneth Murphy, 17, took a taxicab to Chicago and bought $25 worth of night life. Police, notified by the cab driver, Russo Whittus, found the three in the rooming house. The girl was charged with grand larceny and the youths were accused of contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

Omaha, Neb., Aug. 24.—[Special.]—Because of the spread of infantile paralysis, the scheduled opening of Omaha schools on Sept. 7 will be delayed at least a week. Four new cases were reported today, bringing the total to 63 since May 1. Eleven fatalities are on record.

Two Crown Point brides who were married at the age of 17 were granted divorces yesterday by Judge Charles A. Williams. Both charged desertion. Of ten divorces Judge Williams granted yesterday three were contracted at Crown Point.

Mrs. Florence Marino, 9733 Avenue H, was divorced from Angelo Marino, whom she married May 25, 1925. They separated Thanksgiving day, 1927. Celeste Rovy, 6155 South Albany avenue, was divorced from Joseph Rovy, whom she married June 12, 1934. They separated June 4, 1936.

NEW YORK PLANS WEDDING TESTS UNDER NEW LAW

New York, Aug. 24.—[Special.]—Couples planning to marry in New York after Jan. 1 received a word to the wise today. They were advised to undergo blood tests early and avoid the chances of a wedding delay later.

The passage of a law making premarital syphilis examination compulsory soon after the first of the year was forecast as "extremely likely" by Assemblyman Charles H. Breitbart of Brooklyn. He will be cosponsor of the legislation with Senator Thomas C. Desmond of Newburgh.

Nine states, including Illinois, already require such examination.

"Powerful forces are lining up behind us and we are sure the measure will go through quickly," Breitbart declared.

TRAINS KILL MOTORIST.

Sterling, Ill., Aug. 24.—[Special.]—Merle Saunders, 21 years old, of Rock Falls was killed early today at a Chicago and North Western railway grade crossing. An eastbound freight struck his car and spun it onto the westbound track as a fast train approached. The latter train was stopped with his body beneath it.

CITY RELIEF CASH EBBS; OPEN HUNT FOR 3 MILLIONS

Slash in Appropriations Brings Crisis.

Unless the city can obtain between two and three million dollars in the immediate future, Chicago's relief expenditures for the rest of the year must be drastically reduced. A preliminary conference on ways and means to get the necessary funds was held yesterday in Mayor Kelly's office.

Ordinances which will reduce the city's relief appropriations from $8,741,426 to $7,706,415 for 1937 were approved by Leo M. Lyons, head of the city relief commission; Ald. J. M. Arvey [24th], chairman of the city council finance committee; City Controler Robert B. Upham, and Mayor Kelly. The ordinances will be submitted to the finance committee and, it is expected, to the city council at its next meeting on Aug. 31.

Hit Valuation Snag.

The city's money for relief is raised by a 30 cent tax on each $100 of assessed real estate valuation. The relief appropriation for 1937 was based on the valuation for 1935, but this valuation was reduced after the appropriation was made and the city's income for relief was cut $1,035,011, making it necessary to draft a new appropriation ordinance to fit the reduced revenue.

Under the state law the city is allowed to sell tax warants in anticipation of taxes up to 75 per cent of the anticipated income. All of the warants have been sold for 1937 and the money spent, Upham said. Lyons will now try to get a million dollars worth of relief goods on credit, the bills to be paid when the taxes are collected.

Sales Tax Money Inadequate.

Each month the state distributes $2,900,000 of sales tax money among communities which levy the 30 cent real estate tax. Chicago receives approximately three-fourths of the sum each month, but this, Mayor Kelly said, will not be enough for the rest of the year.

"As nearly as I can estimate now, we will have to get an additional million and one-half or two million dollars from the state," the mayor declared. "Just how we are to do this has not been settled yet, but unless it is done it will be necessary to cut relief expenditures until the first of next year at least."

JUDGE GREEN'S WIFE AWARDED $225 A MONTH

Mrs. Mary F. Green, 10633 Avenue I, filed suit for separate maintenance yesterday in Superior court from Judge Thomas A. Green of the Municipal court. She charged that because of his violent temper it became impossible for her to live with him, and they separated Aug. 13. They were married June 10, 1916.

A few minutes after the suit was filed, Mrs. Green's attorneys presented a stipulated order for temporary maintenance, which was signed by Judge Charles A. Williams. In it Judge Green agreed to pay Mrs. Green $225 a month from his $10,000 annual salary, and also to pay the tuition for a daughter, Virginia, 20 years old, at Mundelein college. They have another daughter, Mary, 19.

N. Y. JUDGE PROPOSES EARLY STERILIZATION OF SEX DELINQUENTS

New York, Aug. 24.—[Special.]—Sterilization of some types of sex delinquents, while they are still juveniles, to prevent their growing into adult fiends, was recommended today by Justice Jacob Panken of the Domestic Relations court in addressing a group of college students working with various city officials during their summer vacations to gain practical experience in city problems.

"In my judgment," Judge Panken said, "the adult fiends who have made their appearance from time to time in the community have committed terrible atrocities and killed little children, are the undetected child sex delinquents. Had their delinquencies been discovered and properly treated their vicious propensities might have been liquidated or at least checked."

MARRIAGE TEST LAW BACKED BY INDIANA LEGION

Terre Haute, Ind., Aug. 24.—[Special.]—The Indiana convention of the American Legion here today voted to sponsor legislation which will make a medical examination compulsory in Indiana before a marriage license can be issued. The convention indorsed the present crusade against syphilis and other venereal diseases.

Russell R. Rhodes, Peru, attorney and a Republican, was elected state commander of the Legion.

He was opposed by Judge Wilfred Bradshaw, Indianapolis, a Democrat.

Ray Townsley, Danville, was elected northern vice commander over Lewis Murphy, South Bend, and Harold Schindler, Newburg, was elected southern vice commander, unopposed.

Mrs. Marie Behmer, Logansport, was elected president of the American Legion auxiliary, to succeed Mrs. Edna Harris, Gary.

FORTUNE FINDER DIES BEFORE HE CAN SPEND CENT

Youth Held Up by Court Is Pneumonia Victim.

Baltimore, Md., Aug. 24.—(AP)—Henry Harris Grob, a finder of hidden gold, died tonight without being able to spend a penny of the fortune he and a companion unearthed three years ago in a dank cellar.

A court order kept the 18 year old boy, employed lately as a packing plant laborer at $16 a week, from touching the principal of the $20,000 treasure he helped to uncover.

Pneumonia ended the life of the youth, who, with Theodore Jones, dug up a treasure trove of long buried gold coins while the two were prodding about in the cellar to find a place to hide trinkets belonging to their club.

Develops Cold in Swimming.

A sister, Mrs. Gertrude Eberhart, said his fatal illness developed from a swim he took while suffering from a heavy cold.

Mrs. Eberhart said he had about $7,000 in the bank at the time of his death, the residue of his share after lawyers' fees and court costs had been deducted over a long period of litigation. The courts finally ordered the boys' shares untouched until they came of age.

During the legal wrangling over ownership of the coins, Grob and Jones once more visited the cellar and turned up $10,000 more in coins.

Fed Up on Court Fights.

Fed up with court fights, the boys and their families divided the coins immediately and started cashing them in. The second find was publicized only after the Jones home was robbed and money realized from coin sales was stolen.

Jones has been in police court several times on automobile charges, finally drawing a sentence in the state training school for boys. He now is at liberty.

Henry, known to friends as quiet, reliable, and well behaved, will lie in state tomorrow, his family said, beneath a huge enlargement of a newspaper picture made at the time the boys found the money.

"And that picture," Mrs. Eberhart said, "is just about all poor Henry ever got out of it."

JURY DEADLOCKS OVER FATE OF SEX SLAYER OF TRIO

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 24.—[Special.]—After more than two hours' deliberation the jury in whose hands rests the fate of Albert Dyer, accused child slayer, was reported tonight divided nine to three. Some reports said the seven men and five women were divided only as to the penalty to be dealt, while another rumor indicated three jurors were holding out on a basis of "reasonable doubt." Dyer is being tried for the sex slaying last June of Madeline Everett, 7; Melba Everett, 9, and Jeanette Stephens, 8.

Strike First Oil Gusher Near Bradford, Pa., in 20 Years

Bradford, Pa., Aug. 24.—(AP)—The first gusher in 20 years was struck tonight nine miles south of Bradford in the heart of Pennsylvania's "black gold" belt. A crew of 30 men battled to stem the rush of the oil, which was spurting high above a 60 foot derrick at the rate of about 240 barrels an hour. Oil men feared most of the strike would be absorbed in the ground until capping operations were successful.

Boy Fires Paint Remover and Is Burned to Death

Thomas Bucaro, 9 years old, was fatally burned yesterday when he lit a match over a can of paint remover in the basement of his home at 628 North Monticello avenue. The can exploded and the burning liquid scattered over his clothing. A neighbor boy, with whom he had been playing, said they intended to use the inflammable fluid to make a bonfire in the back yard. Thomas died of his burns last night in the Franklin Boulevard hospital.

FINED FOR UNLICENSED BARBER.
Arthur Trezvant, 47 years old, colored, owner of a barber shop at 4326 Calumet avenue, was fined $50 by Municipal Judge N. J. Bonelli in the Wabash avenue court yesterday for employing an unlicensed barber.

LAKE STEAMER SHOWS DEMAND FOR CAR FERRY

Ship Transports Many Autos to Michigan.

BY FREDERIC BABCOCK.

An indication of the volume of business that might be won by an automobile ferry across Lake Michigan was told yesterday by Passenger Trafic Manager B. J. Markham of the Chicago Roosevelt Steamship Line. He said that by the end of the Labor day week-end the S. S. Roosevelt, plying between this city and St. Joseph and South Haven, Mich., if the present rate continues, will have carried more than 1,000 passenger cars in its hold in its 70 day 1937 season.

Mr. Markham said that the steamer, owned and operated by the Manitowoc Shipbuilding company and representing an investment of approximately a million dollars, is distinctly a passenger vessel. He said no special effort had been made to get the auto business across the lake.

Trafic men in Chicago agreed that, with a season much longer than 70 days, a ferry could handle thousands of cars of Michigan vacationists who dislike the long motor trip around the southern end of the lake.

By the end of the season on Labor day Mr. Markham said, the Roosevelt will have carried more than 200,000 persons on the daytime cruises to St. Joseph and South Haven and on the evening shoreline cruises out of Chicago. Other lake steamship lines report a correspondingly heavy business.

HUNT FOR ARCTIC FLYERS TO GO ON; WEATHER CLEARS

BARROW, Alaska, Aug. 24.—(AP)—Clearing weather in the Arctic encouraged hopes of aviators here today that they soon would be able to fly over the polar ice fields in search of six lost soviet airmen. The soviet north pole camp informed Moscow by wireless the temperature had dropped below freezing, rain ceased and murky skies had cleared.

Jimmy Mattern, American flyer, left for Fairbanks to arrange for refueling of his plane during searching flights over the Arctic. His original refueling ship was badly damaged in a forced landing near Fairbanks last week. As soon as the details are arranged, Mattern said he would return to join soviet Pilot Zadkov and Bob Randall, Canadian, both of whom remained here awaiting better flying weather.

Sir Hubert Wilkins, who flew from Coppermine, N. W. T., over the ice yesterday, today was grounded by the fog.

KILLED IN CRASH

[Associated Press Wirephotos.]

Floyd L. Wallace (left) of Youngstown, O., and William M. Freshour of Piqua, O., among six killed in the crash of navy flying boat in San Diego bay.

San Diego, Cal., Aug. 24.—(AP)—Salvagers hacked their way into the wreckage of a partly submerged naval flying boat in San Diego bay today and recovered the bodies of two of the six crew members killed when the plane crashed into the old "hoodoo ship" Narwhal.

The big air dreadnaught, first of its class to meet disaster, struck the rotting hulk of the Narwhal while apparently attempting a landing last night. Impact crushed the metal framework and fire started in the wreckage, imperiling 175 navy men who tried to rescue the crew. Two of the eight crew members were taken out injured.

The dead were listed as: Lieut. Walter Chester Dey Jr., Portland, Ore.; Junior Lieutenant William McKee Freshour, Piqua, O.; Radioman Ralph M. Purdy, Keyport, N. J.; Junior Lieutenant Ford L. Wallace, Youngstown, O.; Radioman Harry K. Bryan, Bellwood, Ala., and Aviation Chief Machinist's Mate Robert Fall, Milton, Fla.

Gypsy Rose Lee Married at Ceremony in Church

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 24.—[Special.]—Louise Hovick of the films [she was Gypsy Rose Lee in burlesque] today went through her second wedding ritual with Robert Mizzy of New York, after having been married at sea by a fishing barge skipper ten days ago. That ceremony, the bride later was informed, was not legal. Dr. C. N. Redmond of the Santa Ana wedding chapel performed the marriage. A professional as bridesmaid was her attendant. Mizzy was attended by Jack Mulcahy, Hollywood publicity man, who dropped the ring two times. The newlyweds will leave for New York within a week in their palace trailer, accompanied by the bride's mother.

PLANE IS LANDED WITH AUTOMATIC CONTROL DEVICE

Dayton, O., Aug. 24.—(AP)—Three airmen soared aloft today in an army air corps' cargo-type plane, adjusted a set of radio and electro-mechanically operated controls and landed minutes later in what was described officially as the first entirely automatic landing of an airplane.

The apparatus, which officers said, could be "packed in a small sized locker truck," is the product of two years' research by air corps engineers at Wright field. It was understood in authoritative quarters to be the forerunner of "complete blind flying" whereby plane operation, from takeoff to a distant landing, may be accomplished entirely without human aid.

The three men who participated in the history making flight were Captains Carl Crane and George V. Holloman, and Raymond Stout, a civilian project engineer.

Engine speed, angle of descent, allowance for wind drift, turning and necessary "banking" are controled by the combination of radio and electro-mechanical impulses, officers asserted.

German Seaplane Reaches Lisbon for Atlantic Flight

LISBON, Portugal, Aug. 24.—(AP)—The German flying boat Nordwind arrived at Lisbon today after flying from Travemuende, Germany, on the first leg of a trans-Atlantic survey trip to New York. The Nordwind is a sister ship of the Nordmeer which last week made the Atlantic crossing. Pilots Hans von Engel and Walter Diele of the Nordwind planned to take off for the Azores Thursday.

SEEK TO ABANDON STREET CARS FOR GREEN BAY BUSES

Green Bay, Wis., Aug. 24.—[Special.]—Officials of Green Bay and of the Wisconsin Public Service corporation today were preparing to petition the state public service commission for permission to discontinue operation of street cars now in service here and replace them with modern buses.

This action followed a special meeting of the city council last night when the city agreed to accept $45,000 offered by the traction firm toward the cost of removing tracks and repaving track zones. The city had originally asked $100,000 and the company's original offer was $5,000.

SKIN BEAUTY COMES FROM WITHIN

Skin paint and cosmetic veneer skillfully applied make many a woman of 40 look beautiful to the eyes of the outside world.

But how about Friend Husband? It's hard to FOOL him.

Natural beauty, Lovely skin and Bright sparkling eyes are the birthright of most women—even well into the fifties.

But natural skin beauty can't be bought at cosmetic shops—your doctor can tell you real beauty comes from within—and he knows.

It comes from proper functioning of healthy internal organs.

And to strive to keep these highly important organs—stomach, liver, gall bladder, kidneys, and intestines—in good natural working condition—

Is the daily duty of every woman who desires a clean, clear, soft, silky skin or in other words a fascinating nature-given complexion that compels admiration.

Why not help nature to help you to attain a lovely skin—an alluring complexion—sparkling eyes—Keener mind—by helping to keep internal organs healthily functioning.

This kind of help is inexpensive and easy to get.

Just take one third teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water before breakfast—first thing in the morning.

It helps nature to help you to gain in activity—to abolish indolence—to be up and doing with an ambitious purpose.

It helps nature to help you to keep gloriously alive and with this activity possessing you — you'll probably look younger — feel younger.

Kruschen is a blend of 6 separate salts sold the world over—millions of jars a year. Try it every morning for 4 weeks—if you do not gain in health and improve your complexion—money back whether you are 35 or 65 or in between.

At Knollwood's Dixie Party

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Fort Sheridan Horse Show to Be Sept. 25-26

BY JUDITH CASS.

LOVERS of expert riding and fine horses find the Fort Sheridan horse show of such interest that weeks before a show there is a rush for the choice seats.

With the show still a month away—this year it is being held Sept. 25 and 26—and the show committee only just appointed, between 35 and 40 boxes already have been sold.

Mrs. J. Ogden Armour, the senior Mrs. James H. Douglas, Mrs. Robert R. McCormick, Mr. and Mrs. Donald B. Douglas, and Mr. and Mrs. James M. Hopkins, whose debutante daughter, Miss Kay Goodman, is among the most expert of the younger equestrians, have taken boxes for the show.

Gen. and Mrs. Robert E. Wood, Fred A. Poor, Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Morton, the John F. Jelkes, the William Roy Carneys, the Britton I. Budds, and the Benjamin L. Behrs are other box holders, and so, of course, are Brig. Gen. Philip B. Peyton, Fort Sheridan's new commanding officer, and Mrs. Peyton, and Admiral Hayne Ellis, commandant at Great Lakes, and Mrs. Ellis.

From out of town the Donald B. Ordways of Detroit and Fred Pabst of Milwaukee already have sent in their applications for boxes.

Plan Parties for Peytons.

Much of the entertaining planned for Gen. and Mrs. Peyton to welcome them to the post will take place during the horse show, and will add to the gayety of the two crowded days. There will be events all day on both the 25th and 26th, with the military exhibition that is always an exciting and spectacular climax to the show given each evening. Proceeds as usual will go to the Army Relief society and post activities.

Gen. Peyton is general chairman of the show, and he has designated Capt. Edwin C. Griner, secretary-treasurer. An executive committee includes Lieut. Col. Arthur G. Campbell, Lieut. Col. Carl A. Bahr, Lieut. Col. Wilfrid M. Blunt, Maj. Paul Morris and Capt. William H. Collette.

Judges will be C. Groverman Ellis, Pierre Lorillard of Tuxedo Park, and Maj. Edwin Hardy of Lexington, Ky.

Winnetka Board Plans Annual Style Show.

Sept. 25 will be of special interest from another standpoint, that of fashions. Hundreds of women who yearly look forward to the fashion show, sponsored by the Winnetka board of Northwestern university settlement as a prevue of fall and winter style trends, will be flocking to see the show that day at the Skokie school.

By special arrangement of the committee, any one who goes to the show may make reservations for luncheon at the Indian Hill club beforehand. Mrs. Harold Wilder, Mrs. James G. Kellogg, and Mrs. Augustus Holland are among those planning luncheon parties. There has been such a response from the young women invited to model in the show that another luncheon will be arranged in addition to those Mrs. Warren W. Shoemaker and Mrs. Edward B. Hall are giving for the models that day.

Farewell Luncheon for Mrs. Herron.

Mrs. Stephen Roby gave a farewell luncheon yesterday at the Deerpath inn for Mrs. Charles D. Herron and her daughter, Miss Louise Herron. Maj. Gen. and Mrs. Herron are leaving Fort Sheridan early in September, and after a motor trip through the west will sail for Hawaii, where Gen. Herron will be stationed.

Mrs. John Sheppard Stone and her son, Dana Stone, have returned from a motor trip to Quebec and New England. On their way home they visited Mrs. Stone's daughter, Mrs. Eliot Goss, at Waterbury, Conn., and at Madison, Conn., where Mrs. Goss is spending the summer.

The Charles Garfield Kings returned Saturday after spending a month with their son-in-law and daughter, the Clarence B. Mitchells, at their home in Santa Barbara. The Kings will be out at their farm six miles from Dundee until cold weather.

Donald F. McPhersons Cruising on Coast.

The Donald F. McPhersons have chartered the yawl Cossack and are cruising for several weeks with their son, Donald, on the Atlantic around Cape Cod and Nantucket Island. Mrs. M. Ogden West will accompany them a part of the time.

Miss Zenaid Vogelgesang has come from New York to visit Mrs. J. Stewart Harvey, and is being entertained at a number of informal parties. The

SOME time ago mention was made in this space of Ever Young, who pulls up poison ivy for the resorters at Frankfort, Mich. Herbert E. Hyde, president of the Cliff Dwellers, who is at Wishing Brook, Crystal Lake, at Frankfort, says that is only half the story. Another member of the family is Seldom Young. And over in the next county Art Gallery runs a gas station. In Watervliet, Mich., a gas station is operated by a Mr. Sudden; thus the sign reads "Sudden Service." In Whitefish Bay, a suburb of Milwaukee, Dr. Gute and Dr. Morgan are partners and the sign above their door reads "Gute-Morgan." Harold Piety is superintendent of the Sunday school at the Austin Boulevard Christian church. And the pastor of the Grace Gospel tabernacle on North Oak Park avenue is named B. Goode.

Names—Genteel—Tomatoes—Warning—Nature note.

THE department of names now is closing again—but before the door swings shut there are one or two to be slipped in. While a girl named Barbara Willman was apartment hunting the other day she saw a sign in the building entrance: "Ring Deright Bell to see apartments." Deright was, of course, the name of the janitor or agent. In going over some sales slips Dorothy L. Patton encountered the Farmers' Association of Earth, Texas. And there are two families of Schmitt-schmitt in town—one in Beverly Hills and the other on Jarvis avenue.

RED SKELTON, in one of his numbers at a night club, gives a little demonstration of the art of gedunking, in which he shows how the genteel gedunkers operate, trying to pretend they're not gedunking. A member of their club undoubtedly is the neatly dressed fellow who was picking up cigaret stubs in the vicinity of Lincoln Park West the other day by dropping his handkerchief to the sidewalk over the stub and retrieving both at the same time.

TOMATOES heaped on roadside stands, overflowing crates and baskets, vivid red, yellow red, and green turning to red. . . . America is the greatest tomato consuming nation on earth, it is said, yet less than a century ago the tomato was considered poisonous. Older folk remember when tomatoes were put high on the mantel out of children's reach. They were called love apples then. . . . The Spaniards discovered the fruit, first in Mexico under Cortez, and later under Pizarro in Peru. The Aztecs called the fruits "tomatl." . . . In time the seed got to Morocco and it became known as the apple of Morocco. The Italians found it there and translated it into "pomo dei mori." In France it became "pomme d'amour." And when colonists came to America they brought the seeds of the "love apple," more for the beauty of its fruit than for food. . . . The "pin cushion" tomato of an earlier day, hollow and tough, has evolved into the "peach" tomato of today, smooth, solid, and luscious.

THE site of the bingo table at the Riverside American Legion carnival has been outlined for a few months by a neat square bordered by green corn stalks, indicating that each seat at the bingo table was occupied at least once by some careless corn dropping individual.

Separate Coats Provide Smart Color Contrast

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Inexhaustible assortments of separate coats assure costumes and three piece ensembles of spectacular smartness. Whether you mix your own combines or buy them ready mixed, some of the most stunning color get-togethers ever unpacked are now hanging about all the shops.

All votes go for jaunty boxy type affairs, snappy, young and indescribably crisp after drooping summer clothes. Running a close second are the fitted reefer coats that reveal slim young streamlines.

Scraggy looking tweeds and eye blinding colors are new, featuring such grand new fall colors as copper, a lot of gorgeous dull gold tones, glowing russets, and cobalt blues. Some of these are checked and come plaided but the solid one color fabrics are irresistible attractions to the shopper demanding bold contrast in colors alone.

Nubby wools, ribbed fuzzy wools, and huge coarsely woven textures are the best buys. Worn over thin wool dresses or short jacketed suits of a contrasting color, or of a lighter or darker shade than the dress or suit, you have something!

Later will come the velveteen coats to be worn with wool dresses, but at the moment the wools are causing all the excitement.

Dark linings of thin wool or good slippery satin offer another sort of contrast. To date the smartest combines we've seen have been sapphire blue with a blanket size plaid wool short coat splashed with red, jade green and bright blue. A yellowish and oyster white nubby tweed topcoat over a russet red suit; a vivid green coat with an old gold ensemble suit; a black suit with a short red jacket trimmed with skunk; a beige dress with a copper tone knee length coat.

And while you're shopping for the best duets of this description look for the longish type coat, the models that hit kneeline or longer and are sold with a skimpy slim skirt made of the same material as the coat. These are the most practical buys of the early fall season!

Fashion photograph . . . Two pockets, buttons down the front, and lether belt cinched tightly around the waist are snappy details of the jacket suit in deep blue soft wool. A kick pleat at the center of the straight skirt assures easy walking. Over the arm, the gaudiest of plaid wool in a short jacket featuring red, blue, and dull white with a dark blue satin lining. A smart trio that will be found in a college wardrobe collection.

Honor Jane Addams with Peace Parade, Pageant Saturday

The third anniversary of the death of Jane Addams will be observed Saturday by a peace parade down Michigan avenue, followed by a memorial service and dance pageant at the Grant park band shell.

Among the memorial speakers will be Mrs. Dorothy Blumberg of the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom; Mrs. William S. Hefferan of the Chicago board of education, and Christian Madsen of the Chicago Federation of Labor.

The dance pageant, an innovation in the annual memorials to Miss Addams, will be executed by 40 girls, wearing the costumes of all nations. Miss Vera Rony and Robert Wolf of the University of Chicago are the choreographers. Stephen Stepanchev wrote the free verse narrative which will interpret the continuity of the dance for the audience.

Popular Trio in Wool

[TRIBUNE Studio Photo.]

Taken from one of the current college wardrobe showings, this practical and smart ensemble consists of a slim tailored deep blue wool suit and a bright plaid coat in contrasting color. The coat is short and boxy, hanging straight to the kneeline, and can be worn with wool dresses or with sweater and skirt combines.

Candid Camera Fiends on Hunt for Film Stars

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 24.—[Special.]—Stars are developing candid camera-phobia to a state of frenzy almost topping their mass distaste for autograph hounds.

Joan Crawford had two recent experiences. One was with a man perched on a telephone pole trying to shoot pictures through the windows of the Franchot Tone-Crawford home in Brentwood. She summoned police, who hauled the man down and lectured him.

Then the actress discovered that a hole in the fence which had been left for the dog's use had been widened sufficiently to admit a man, and that the man was a candid fiend, and that he was right there, shooting her picture alongside her swimming pool. She yelled for help, and the man left the premises hurriedly.

While Mr. and Mrs. Tone are away for a quiet trip the hole and all other weak points in their garden fence are being made secure against further intrusion.

A candid camera man managed to locate Garbo's home last month and bootlegged a couple of photos in her back yard, which caused Garbo to move to a new spot.

Claudette Colbert became so squeamish about candid photographs that she now forbids studio "still" men to take her picture in any except posed shots on the set of "Tonight's Our Night" at Warners.

Katharine Hepburn, Wallace Beery, and Sylvia Sidney are fellow protestors who became involved in recent brushes when they found themselves unexpectedly facing the midget cameras.

Fredric March has his own cooling system in his trailer dressing room. It consists of two large aluminum salt cellars which he stuffs with dry ice and sets before electric fans.

Robert Montgomery faces Rosalind Russell in their shabby Greenwich Village apartment in "Live, Love and Learn." Montgomery is in pajamas and dressing gown. Miss Russell is similarly robed for the night. They have just been married.

Mickey Rooney, as the landlady's little boy, keeps popping in to pester them. He is there now, standing beside Miss Russell. He has come in to ask Montgomery how to throw an outcurve, and Montgomery has the ball in his hand.

"Quiet down, everybody. Let's have it quiet. And—roll 'em." Al Shenberg, assistant director, issues the commands. Cameraman Ray June turns questioningly to Ellsworth Fredericks, his assistant. Fredericks nods his head.

The sound boom man, Jimmy Flaster, now is the focus of all eyes. He fixes imperturbably at the set. "Speed," calls Flaster, he means the sound mechanism has picked up sufficient momentum to record. At his "speed" the set becomes deathly quiet.

Montgomery is glaring at Mickey now. He swings his arm far back. "I'll show you how to throw an outcurve," he says grimly.

And as he says "outcurve" Director Fitzmaurice drops his upraised right arm. The baseball flashes from Bob's hand across the tiny room straight at the flimsy studio window. There is a terrific crash of breaking glass.

"Sorry," says Fredericks, "You'll have to hit dead center. The glass doesn't fly right. Try to throw it through the very middle of the window."

"Before you start," cuts in Flaster, "how about loosening up the putty in the next window you put in? Think we could pick up a little crashier noise."

The prop man hustles out a new, complete window. He has a dozen of them on hand behind the scenes.

Set carpenters put in the new window in about the time needed for Rosalind Russell to repair the minor makeup accidents caused by the heat of the lights on grease paint. Emil, the makeup man, dabs with a powder puff at a shiny spot.

Fitzmaurice says in an aside to Shenberg that the next shot will show Robert Benchley, Montgomery, and Russell in a delicatessen store. Shenberg assures him that the delicatessen set is ready and waiting.

The set is ready again, players in places, window sash aged in a twinkling with gray paint and the buzzer on the sound boom room rattles once again. Fitzmaurice's arm drops. The ball speeds with terrific force—and this time right through the lower left pane.

"Cut," calls Shenberg. Montgomery rubs his arm. Miss Russell pokes him in the ribs on the wa back to her dressing room.

"Hubbell can do it—Montgomery can do it," she says. She wanders on to her dressing room. The prop man drags out another window. The painters and carpenters get busy again.

Hours later the prop department's supply of windows is almost exhausted. Three brand new league baseballs have succeeded the first one—gashed and ruined by flying glass.

At the end of the set is the window. Through its dead center, a perfect bull's-eye, is a glaring, shattered, jagged hole. "Hubbell," sighed Montgomery, "who the hub is Hubbell? Montgomery can do it."

Swing Music Is Old Stuff to Laplanders

LAIMOLAHTI, Sweden.—(AP)—It may be "swing" in 1937 America, but it has been "joiking" among primitive mountain Laplanders in the arctic circle for many centuries.

Such was the discovery made by a party of American explorers in the Merwin-Haverlee expedition, now penetrating deep into the frozen north to study the habits of the nomadic Lapps.

"The music called 'swing' in the United States is centuries old among the Laplanders and is the only form of music they know," said Arnold Haverlee of New York, leader of the expedition.

"When the Lapps roam through the wilderness, following their reindeer, they often indulge in melodies befitting their mood. The rhythm is different from that found in American jaz, but nevertheless it is governed by the same principle as the latest 'swing' hits on Broadway."

They "swing" it sober, though, in Lapland. Alcohol is strictly forbidden among the Tjautjoukah Lapps by their prophet, Laestadius.

"We stopped with an old Lapp, one day, who claimed he knew quite a bit about America. He was all apologies that he could only serve us dried reindeer meat, goat milk, and coffee," Haverlee reports.

"He had heard, he said, that people from America could not live very well without something they called cocktails. He thought it was some kind of a fowl delicacy, and he was shocked when he heard what they really are."

John Roger Norton of 7241 Bennett avenue has announced the engagement of his sister, Maisie, to Bernard Robert Condon, son of Mrs. Sarah Condon of West Adams street.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

"Beauty Culture Goes to College" was the subject of an address given yesterday by Florence E. Wall before the annual convention of Beta Beta Lambda, a society of beauty culturists, at the Congress hotel. Miss Wall knows her subject. She is an instructor in cosmetic hygiene at New York university and has pioneered in movements to raise educational standards in the beauty profession.

Miss Wall reports that recognition of cosmetic hygiene by schools is now becoming widespread. New York university was the first institution of its type to offer such a course. Miss Wall has as her pupils school teachers, beauty writers, advertising copy writers, personnel executives, and interested lay persons.

More and more schools are offering courses in beautification to their feminine students, often working with their physical education departments. Stephens college in Columbia, Mo., was the first to institute such training. There each girl is instructed by experts in the use and selection of cosmetics, in all phases of grooming, and in the development of individuality of appearance.

Miss Wall told the beauty culturists of the heartening success of the growing movement to offer students intelligent instruction in the development of a good appearance. Many of her pupils, teachers in schools of various types, are planning to give similar courses at their own institutions.

"Find This Girl"

BY ROY VICKERS [Copyright: 1937: By Roy Vickers.]

SYNOPSIS

Bessie Mersand, a nurse, is acquitted of the charge of administering a fatal dose of medinal to an elderly patient. Gwynneth Bentley and her lover, Roy Gleason, attended the trial. Later Gwynneth meets Bessie, who has changed her name to Mathews, and, waiving references, gives her a job caring for Gwynneth's invalid husband. She plans to kill her husband and plant the guilt on Bessie. Medinal tablets for Gwynneth's sleeplessness are placed in Bessie's charge. Gwynneth hides a valuable jeweled dagger, then puts the ground tablets in her husband's food. She then gives Bessie the day off and sends away Bessie's luggage to make it appear that Bessie has fled. In London Bessie meets her friend, Jim Watkin. Jim has heard of the crime over the ticker at his club and is torn by doubts of Bessie's innocence. When Bessie boards the train to return to her post, Jim, assured of her innocence, drags her out, and tells her what has happened. He hides her in his apartment. Jim calls on Gwynneth and makes her admit Roy Gleason is her lover.

INSTALMENT XV.

AN ADMISSION.

Driving back by himself, Watkin faced the fact that his belief in Bessie's innocence was founded solely on Bessie's charm.

"Did Mrs. Bentley know all along that Bessie Mathews was really Bessie Mersand? Was she pulling my leg when she pretended to be surprised?

"Let's see how it works out. Suppose Bessie is guilty! Extraordinary luck for Mrs. Bentley, who wants to be rid of her husband. She meets by chance a nurse whose patient has already died under medinal. She engages the nurse and, hey presto! the nurse's patient again dies under medinal.

"That's a bit too thick!

"Suppose Mrs. Bentley is guilty! Mrs. Bentley administers the overdose of medinal. At exactly the right moment the nurse happens to bolt. The nurse obligingly steals the Rajah's dagger. And the nurse turns out to be one whose previous patient had already died of an overdose of medinal, so every one believes at once that the nurse is guilty.

"That's even thicker than the last bit."

He was becoming excited and his driving was erratic. He stopped the car and lit a cigaret.

He ran over the whole of the available facts and presently had arrived at a vital conclusion.

"If Mrs. Bentley did not know that Bessie Mathews was Bessie Mersand, then Mrs. Bentley is almost certainly innocent.

"But if Mrs. Bentley did know from the first—and pretended she didn't know—then she is almost certainly guilty. She planted the crime on Bessie, knowing that her record would do the rest."

That was a comforting thought. He drove on and was running into the outskirts of London when the comforting thought crystallized. But how was he to find out what had been going on in Mrs. Bentley's mind?

Roy Gleason!

"What—what was the poison?" he faltered.

He was nearing Hyde Park Corner. He stopped and entered a telephone-box at the Tube railway. It was now a quarter to three in the morning.

He dialed the number and presently was answered by a sleepy, irritable voice.

"Mr. Gleason? . . . Are you a friend of Mrs. Bentley of Uplands, Suddington?"

"Yes. What's the matter?"

"Trouble. I'll be with you in five minutes," answered Watkin and cut off.

Five minutes later he was confronting a well-preserved man in a rather too magnificent dressing-gown.

"Are you the feller who rang me up just now? What the devil——"

"I'll tell you on the doorstep if you like, but hadn't I better come in?" suggested Watkin.

It was a tiny bachelor flat but it was well furnished in a wholesome, unimaginative style. It was the room of an unsophisticated man. On the walls were many group photographs, mostly of officers in the Guards. Gleason, in fact, was by no means as bad as Watkin had painted him. He might be a loose liver; but he paid for his own diversions. The gigolo-charge was wholly untrue. But Watkin could not afford to be squeamish.

"You mentioned a lady's name," said Gleason stiffly.

"It'll save our beating about the bush if you will tell me when you last saw Mrs. Bentley?"

Gleason scowled. Perhaps he would prove sulky. And somehow Watkin must drag from him the vital information.

Ill-temperedly he answered the question.

"I was staying at Uplands two days ago. I just wrote a bread-and-butter letter with a joke in it, and she replied to the joke."

"Good enough!" said Watkin. So Mrs. Bentley had not taken the risk of telling him by telephone of her husband's death. "If you're a friend of the family, Mr. Gleason, I have bad news for you. Bentley died this—I should say yesterday afternoon." As Gleason started, Watkin added the one word:

"Poisoned."

Watkin was watching his man closely. He was shaken, taken by surprise—which suggested his innocence.

When he spoke again his voice was no longer sulky.

"Do you mind telling me who you are? And—er—how you're butting into this?"

Watkin gave his name and added: "I've no standing—I've been dragged into this against my will. I was with Mrs. Bentley half an hour ago. You see, her position is—a bit awkward. And time may mean rather a lot. That's why I've dug you out at this unearthly hour."

"Do you mean that Mrs. Bentley is—is suspected of—poisoning her husband?"

Watkin never told a direct lie if he could help it. But there are ways of implying 'yes' and saying 'no.'

"My dear Mr. Gleason, when a case of poisoning occurs every one is suspected. There's absolutely no occasion for you to feel the very slightest alarm on Mrs. Bentley's behalf. No doubt everything will be cleared up. But the police take no account of persons. One's always hearing that they make stupid mistakes, which is a very unfair criticism. It's part of their system."

The words, of course, conveyed to Gleason that Gwynneth really was suspected.

"What—what was the poison?" he faltered.

"An overdose of medinal."

Gleason tried to light a cigaret but bungled the job and gave it up.

"The nurse might have administered it," he grunted.

Watkin decided to plunge.

"Just what I thought! Just what I told the police!" He was using his most emphatic manner. "And I think they would have concentrated on the nurse—if Mrs. Bentley hadn't rather put them off with a somewhat wild statement."

"What sort of statement?"

"That Nurse Mathews was really Nurse Mersand—the nurse in the Brighton poisoning case exactly similar to this."

While Gleason was wondering what to say, he went on:

"Now that statement may be perfectly true. But you know as well as I do, Mr. Gleason, that a statement like that is no good without proof. It only does harm."

"But surely it can be proved!" protested Gleason hotly. "There are the Brighton police. And all the people in the court."

In court! Jim Watkin's instinct jumped on that phrase.

"Yes. But a woman in the dock looks like nothing on earth. For instance, when you saw her at Uplands you couldn't have been dead sure she was the same woman you'd—seen in the dock? Of course, if you could swear to her it would help——"

"I can swear to her!" cried Gleason, falling headlong into the trap. "I recognized her at once. I tell you, it startled me like the devil. As a matter of fact, it can't do any harm to admit that I told Mrs. Bentley I thought it very unwise to engage her. But she——"

Gleason pulled himself up. Watkin was exulting but outwardly he managed to appear businesslike and preoccupied.

"Then may I take it, Mr. Gleason, that you confirm Mrs. Bentley's tale—that you and she saw this girl in the dock at the Old Bailey and consequently you're both certain?"

"Of course you can! Anybody could see that Mrs. Bentley isn't the kind of woman to tell a stupid lie."

"That ought to help Mrs. Bentley with the police," said Watkin and added carefully: "If you'll just write it down."

Companionship Held Balance to a 'Career'

BY DORIS BLAKE.

He is an ambitious young man of 20, he tells, without a home or parents and in the musical profession in which he hopes to excel. In fact, he already has achieved considerable fame in his home state.

He started going with a nice young girl of his own age and he found he liked her a great deal. But, he says: "Because I have been warned by so many of my elders as to the devastating results to a career when interests are divided with a girl I stopped seeing her. It was no easy thing for me to do, for I did like her and enjoyed her company. Nevertheless, that's what I did, gave her up, because I thought it was the right thing to do. I wonder what you think about it?"

We think with your determination and apparent ability you will achieve the career and fame all right. But we are wondering if, along with it, you will not have developed into such an unsocial being that you'll be perfectly friendless when you are older.

Without a home, without parents, with no one with whom you must share, with none other to think of but yourself, no one to consider, we fear you might become a person without normal balance. Unless you are a great genius, some of whom have been known to find women willing to suffer the most sacrificial lives, we think it would be better for you to consider the human relation phase of living along with your art.

After all, you will want to marry some day. Not yet, of course. You will want some one to share your success. To be at your side in your moments of triumph.

Besides, it isn't well to forego companionship of the opposite sex even in the interests of your music. You may need the inspiration of an interested girl. You can use it, whether you feel you need it or not. But it is more that you should take precaution against becoming a recluse, or a fanatic, or anything lopsided and off balance socially.

Brushing Gives Luster, Beauty to Child's Hair

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

I was asked on the radio the other day, in an interview, what I thought was the best thing to do for children's hair.

I replied that the kindest, the best thing a parent could do for her youngster was to buy her a good quality hairbrush and see that she used it with the regularity the child uses her toothbrush. If you could get her to using it three times a day, so much the better. But let's say twice a day, morning and night. She will be developing good hair even on the twice a day brushing.

Yes, I know it is a job to get the small girls to take an interest in their hair except to talk about the permanents that other small fry are permitted. But it wasn't so long back when getting them to brush their teeth two and three times a day was a trial to the parents. Now they do is as automatically as appearing at the table. Besides they have developed a nice sense of criticism on the condition of teeth in others, which bids fair to developing their own mouths beautifully.

Time and again I have seen youngsters develop gorgeous hair because their mammas had the right idea about the brushing habit. I have even seen straight hair develop a nice wave and curl because of the upward and vigorous brushing applied to the child's head. It's when the girls reach 13 and 14 [the lazy age] that you have to keep after them continuously—but, then, if you are an interested mother, you will keep after them and see that they have their own good brush and use it twice daily, at least.

The executive board of the Misericordia Hospital and Infants home has set the date for its annual dinner-dance for Nov. 20. The party will be given in the crystal ballroom at the Palmer house. Mrs. Michael McGuire is president of the board.

The annual Castle Park Horse show will be held today at Castle Park, Mich. This is one of the most popular and well attended events in that part of the country. A number of Chicagoans will be riding in the event, and horses from the stables of the Edward H. Bennetts in Lake Forest and Henry T. Stantons in Wayne, and others from Lansing, Grand Rapids, Detroit and Metamora, the hunting country outside Detroit, have been entered.

For Wear on the Campus

WOMAN'S AND MISS' FROCK.

Perfect for the return to college or for your daytime wardrobe, in case you are past the collegiate age, is this "ballerina" model in woolen. The original of this trim frock is fashioned of navy woolen and the slide fastener which zips up the front is of bright red. There is plenty of grace in this tailored model which makes it particularly suited to youthful figures and subtly flattering to those with slightly overweight proportions.

When you realize how very little it will cost you to make this smart frock you will be amazed. And when you find out how little time is involved in making the simple model you will be exceedingly pleased. There is another version of this pattern, you will notice. It may be made up for afternoon and informal evening wear, with the neckline square. Velvet and richly surfaced silks may be employed for the latter purpose.

Style No. 2673 is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18 and 20 years, and 30, 32, 34, 36 and 38 inches bust measurement. Size 16 requires 5⅝ yards of 39 inch material, with ¼ yard of 39 inch contrasting.

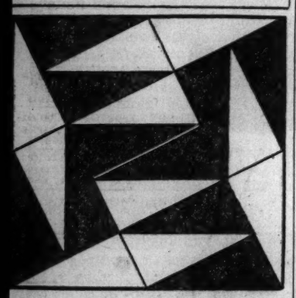
"Triangle Trails" Quilt Originated in the Year 1840



Triangle Trails.

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.

BY NANCY CABOT.

In 1840 "Triangle Trails" made its initial bow to quilt society. It was an unpretentious little design that has gained fame through the years. When it first was pieced turkey red and unbleached muslin were the materials used. Nowadays any possible color arrangement may be used with either printed or plain materials in combination. Of these 12 inch blocks, fifty-six are required for a coverlet. These, surrounded by a three inch border and a one-half inch bias binding, produce a coverlet measuring 90 by 102 inches.

Adventist Conference Told Jap War Is Step Toward Armageddon

Early arrivals found the camp grounds not quite ready. Laymen and preachers alike, marshalled by Elder Jay J. Netherey of Berrien Springs, Mich., conference president, took up hammers to finish the job.

The present Sino-Japanese warfare, said the first night's speaker, Elder Willis Leroy Hyatt, South African missionary on furlough, "takes us one more step nearer the battle of Armageddon, when civilization will be destroyed."

Indulgence May Cause Child Harm

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

The following letter describes one angle of the child spoiling process which it happens that we have not yet touched upon in the column before:

"My dear Mrs. Bevans: I have read your articles with much interest and feel that I need all the advice and suggestions possible in order to train my young daughter. She is a very wilful, stubborn, and spoiled daughter of 5½ years. She is the victim of circumstances over which I had no control—[a tyrannical, dowager type of mother-in-law who refused flatly to let me train my daughter according to my ideals and standards—and who instilled in her the idea that grandmother loved her most, and that mother was cruel and made baby do things].

"Now that grandmother no longer lives with us my child is completely lost unless some one pays her constant attention. As I have all the work to do, and cook for a roomer and boarder I cannot give her the attention she feels she should have and she's restless, cross, and very unhappy. I'd like to help her establish new habits of independence and become a normal happy child."

In this case the child spoiling conflict was between grandmother and mother; sometimes it is between adoring aunts and the parents; and sometimes this particular conflict is between father and mother.

It is not unusual to find one parent indulgent of a child to the point of really doing him a lot of harm, and the other having a well balanced attitude about obedience and a generally sane understanding of what constitutes wholesome and necessarily disciplined relations with other people. When it happens that this sensible parent bends over backward and becomes a little too strict it is usually to offset the extreme indulgence of the other.

Now these two different ways of managing a child are bad enough and confusing enough for him, but when an indulgent father or grandmother begins to influence the child against the other relative it is destructive to a child's relationship with his other grownup. Yet I have both seen and heard of people who did just this very thing—who made a child think that the parent who held him up to standards of behavior and who did not give into him was being "cruel," "unkind," and "terribly strict." Such adults will sometimes even say to a child, "Oh, your mother doesn't want you to have a good time, but I do," or "your mother doesn't want to give you pretty things, but I do."

Of course, there is often a very personal grudge or antagonism back of such doings as this, and rarely does that father or grandmother think intelligently and understandingly of the good of the child who is spoiled in this way. If they did they would know that it is better for a child, not only in the present but for his future, to learn obedience and self-control to a reasonable degree.

It is a poor kind of love which shows itself in over-indulgence and prejudicing a child.

Mrs. Bevans' column also appears in The Sunday Tribune.

Culbertson's "Gold Book of Bidding and Play"

RESPONSES TO ASKING BIDS.

[Copyright: 1937: By Ely Culbertson.]

How two or three aces and a "fit" are shown: The four and five no trump responses to the asking bids are all tied down to the same basic condition: the hand must show not only aces but also a "fit" in the asked suit, either the ace or the king or a singleton.

If the "fit" consists of the ace of the asked suit, one outside ace is required. It is not necessary to have the king or singleton also; the object of the four no trump response is to show that the asked suit is controled, on the first or second round, and the responder has two aces.

The object with three aces in the hand is the same: To show that the asked suit is controled, and in addition to show that the responder has three aces. Whether or not one of the aces is simultaneously the control in the asked suit does not matter. In any case the responder jumps one trick in no trump.

AN AUSTRALIAN LAMENT.

Apparently, bad luck, aside being no respecter of persons, doesn't care in which hemisphere he operates. Here is a sad tale all the way from Australia:

"Dear Mr. Culbertson: Playing rubber bridge the other day, the following hand was dealt:

NORTH
♠ Q 8 7 5 3
♥ 9 6 4 2
♦ A 3

WEST
♠ J 10
♥ None
♦ 10 8 6 4
♣ 9 8 7 6 5 4 2

EAST
♠ 9 2
♥ K J 10 8 7 5
♦ K J 9 7 5
♣ None

SOUTH
♥ A Q 3
♦ Q 2
♣ A Q J 3

"With the opponents remaining discreetly silent, my partner and I bid as follows:

South	North
1 spade	3 spades
4 clubs	4 diamonds
4 hearts	4 spades
5 diamonds	5 spades
6 spades	Pass

"How many tricks would you expect to make on a club opening from West? Observe that we had first round control of every suit and plenty of second and third round control. I'll relieve your suspense. I made precisely eight tricks.

"East ruffed the club lead and returned a heart. I suppose I should have finessed rather than abandon all chance for success, but to keep the loss down, I decided to play the ace. West strangled this with a trump and I then had to lose not only another club ruff but the king of hearts and a second heart ruff.

"Looking at the hand afterward, I discovered [very sadly] that a grand slam can be made on any other lead, or even at no trump. On, let us say, a diamond lead dummy's ace wins and the club suit is run off, dummy discarding two hearts. Four rounds of spades, ending in dummy, would leave the following position: Dummy would have left one spade, two hearts and a low diamond. East would have left only the K-J-10 of hearts and the king of diamonds. Declarer's holding would be the A-K-Q of hearts and the queen of diamonds. West's cards would not matter. The lead of dummy's last spade would now force East to unguard one of the red suits and declarer would make the rest of the tricks on a heart finesse.

"Do you think that our bidding and the fact that we ended in spades instead of no trump is open to criticism? Yours truly, C. E. Auckland, Australia."

No. It seems to me that the final contract was a logical one and that only the demon of hard luck prevented its fulfillment.

TODAY'S QUESTION.

Question: What is the correct opening bid on this hand:
♠ A K Q 10 6 ♥ A Q 10 8 6 2 ♦ 3 ♣ 4?
Answer: One heart.

Tomorrow's Hand

East, dealer.

NORTH
♠ J 10 9 5
♥ 10 9 8 7 2

SOUTH

Mr. Culbertson will discuss this hand in tomorrow's article.

It won't often be necessary for the home and business woman to do her marketing more than once a week—except for keeping a fresh supply of breadstuffs and meat on hand—if she does a thorough job of week-end buying.

Canned vegetables, fruits, fruit juices, meats, soups, ready to eat products such as spaghetti with meat, bottled sauces and dressings, soda crackers and biscuit mixes should be replaced as often as the supply diminishes. Firm, very fresh fruits and vegetables, which may be kept for a week in the refrigerator, should be purchased. There is no saving in buying wilted or slightly damaged vegetables and fruits, since they won't keep and, even if used immediately, are likely to be inferior in flavor to the fresh product.

I am a firm believer in personal marketing, because it is the only sure way to get the best selection of food, because it saves money, and because it affords a woman a constant source of new food ideas if she is alert.

Corn is one of the few vegetables which should be purchased the day it is cooked. It is too bulky to keep in the refrigerator and wilts if it is kept more than a day or so outside the refrigerator. Corn and the patty shells and rolls suggested in today's business woman's menu are the only food items which would necessarily require last minute shopping.

BUSINESS WOMAN'S MENU.

Creamed Shrimp [canned] and Hard-cooked Eggs in Patty Shells
Corn on the Cob
Shredded Cabbage and Carrot Salad
Poppyseed Rolls [bakery]
Fresh Pear Halves with Cream Cheese and Bar-le-duc Jelly
Coffee

The first preparation jobs involve putting the eggs on to cook, shredding the cabbage and grating the carrots, so that these vegetables may be immersed in ice water to crisp while the rest of the meal is under way. Just before the meal is served, they should be drained thoroughly and combined with French dressing.

While the eggs are cooking, the white sauce for the creamed main dish may be made. The corn will require only about 10 minutes of cooking in salted water. Handles for holding it while eating should be provided if possible. Corn should be broken into convenient sized pieces before it is cooked.

The patty shells may be warmed in the oven with the rolls, which won't dry out if they are heated in the sack in which they were brought home.

Canned pears might be substituted for the fresh pears for dessert, if it seems more convenient. If the cream cheese is beaten with the addition of a little cream, it may be spread over the pear half as thickly as desired. A spoonful of the bar-le-duc jelly makes a colorful garnish and also adds to the flavor of this light dessert.

DIRECTED BY THE "Directoire"

NEW FASHIONS IN OUR NEW FRENCH SHOP

THE whole thing started at the Directoire Ball in France. The "femmes de Paris" that set the fashions appeared at the Ball in the costumes of that thrilling period—and most of the fashion excitement went to their heads. Every hat style of the time was in evidence—from the typically feminine duckbilled bonnet to the high felts of the Directoire dandies. The Carson fashions shown here are typical of the 1937 hat creations that resulted—and that are to be found in great variety in our new French Shop.

Upflung Brim

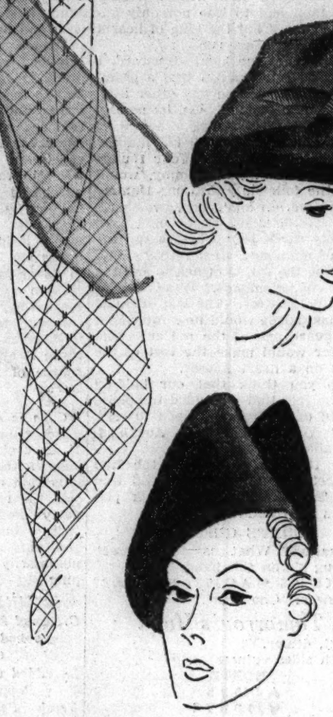
The New French Shop, Fifth Floor.



Directoire Poke

Romance shows up in every line of this very feminine hat fashion. The duckbill brim is outlined in tiny ostrich tips. In black velvet with a flowing veil. $25.

Directoire Bonnet

Straight from the Directoire archives, with scarcely a change in line or detail. The two-tone chiffon scarf tied coquettishly under the ear is typical. $28.50.

After Alphonsine

Inspired by the hats that the men of the period wore this high-crowned felt with the cuff-edged brim. It fits in close at the back with a thought for 1937 coat collars. $15.

With Feather Fancies

Gotham Gold Stripe

$1 to $1.35 pair

Rising hemlines make important fashion news in hosiery colors. Taupe tones are important, with copper running a close second, and beige and brown next. Ask to see these new shades—Smoketone, Barcelona, Windsor, Inca, Cedar—in your favorite weights—2, 3, and 4 thread chiffons. Priced according to kind, $1 to $1.35 pair.

You must see them; you'll know without being told that we have reason to be proud of this particular coup. They are fine and soft and supple and absolutely dependable in wear. We bought these in France months ago, before the rise in leather prices. Black, brown, beige, white and gray.

C. Y. O. BOXERS TO BATTLE SOUTH AMERICANS TONIGHT

BY HOWARD BARRY.

The Catholic Youth organization will send its greatest boxers against the champions of South America tonight at Soldiers' field. A program of sixteen bouts will be presented in a charity show, the proceeds of which will go to a milk fund for the benefit of underprivileged children of all religious denominations.

Tom Kenneally.

Both the C.Y.O. and South America will be splendidly represented. The Chicago boys have earned the right to compete in the international matches by demonstrating their ability in the C. Y. O. tournament, in weekly parish boxing shows, and finally in a rigorous period of training at the Lockport camp. They are the best fighters in an organization already famous for its successful teams.

They Can Fight!

The invading squad is made up of boxers who survived a series of eliminations conducted throughout South America. The last two Olympics provided an indication of the class of South American boxing, for the fighters of that continent made better showings both at Los Angeles and at Berlin than did the United States contenders. This year's South American team already has demonstrated that it is at least the equal of its predecessors by winning five championships recently in the Pan-American games at Dallas.

But Los Angeles, Berlin, and Dallas are remote to the average Chicagoan. Tonight the boxing fans of this city will have an opportunity to see for themselves just how well these South American boys can fight.

The C. Y. O. team is expected to be hard pressed to keep up its record of never having been beaten. An Omaha squad once tied Chicago's C. Y. O. but all other foes have been overcome in a series of intercity fights during the last few years. Never before has the C. Y. O. engaged in an international match.

Kenneally Vs. Merediz.

Tom Kenneally, captain of the Chicago team, will face one of the toughest assignments of the evening. He will be sent against Carlos Merediz of Argentina, who won the heavyweight championship in the Pan-American games at Dallas.

Al Scarlata will have an equally formidable task in attempting to subdue Leonardo Gulle, Argentine bantamweight. Gulle also won a championship at Dallas.

The other Pan-American champions who will appear tonight are Justo Lozada, featherweight from Argentina, and Francisco Risiglione, Argentine light heavyweight. Francisco Costanzo of Uruguay, fifth member of the invading squad to win at Dallas, will be unable to compete because of an injury.

Ed O'Connell of the C. Y. O. has drawn Lozada as his opponent, while John Hawthorne will be matched against Risiglione.

Will Receive Rings.

The show will be broadcast by radio stations W-G-N, WMAQ, WBBM, WIND, and WCFL.

The program will open at 8:15 o'clock with a flyweight engagement between Valerino Mesa of Argentina and Walter Cavaleri of the C. Y. O. The action will continue until ap-

POLICE HARASS BOOKIES ON LAND; THEY TAKE TO SEA

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 24.—[Special.]—Bookmaker establishments, retreating under two months' harassment by Los Angeles police and sheriff's deputies, have taken to the high seas.

Announcements and invitations to wager on horse racing appeared in beach cities of Orange and Los Angeles counties today. Water taxi service is offered to gambling barges, operating from three to twelve miles off the coast and lying off Newport Beach, Long Beach, and other cities. The water taxis will operate in fifteen minute schedules, according to the bookies' announcements.

ALL-STARS THINK THEY ARE READY TO FACE PACKERS

Perfect Plans for Every Style of Attack.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

The All-Americans will scrimmage today and that interclub fight will determine to a great degree who will oppose the Green Bay Packers Sept. 1 at Soldiers' field.

They are ready for the Packers. In the secret blackboard drills the boys have been instructed how to stop Arnie Herber's passes. It remains to be seen, of course, whether they can do as much on the field.

The All-Americans have shown their wares in the battle for the offensive berths against the Packers. This week they must show that they also can stop the best that the Packers can put out.

There Is No Rest.

Yesterday the boys went through two of the most thorough drills of the practice period. They had no chance to relax. They were questioned repeatedly on the defensive ideas of the coaches and at the conclusion of the five hours of drill it was the opinion of the coaches that the Stars had made progress toward their goal.

They Know Packer Plays.

The spread formations, favorites of the Green Bay champions, will be no surprise to the All-Stars. Head Coach Gus Dorais took them one by one, detailing a separate defense for each, with special attention devoted to the position played by one Don Hutson. For some reason Dorais and all the coaches of the college stars think Hutson must have special attention. He's getting it.

Two new plays went in yesterday afternoon, one of them a pet of Jim Phelan's which worked well for the University of Washington, Coast conference leader, and the other a favorite of Bernie Moore, who leads L. S. U.

Defense Is Keynote.

Aside from this, however, the day was devoted entirely to defense. A problem the coaches have given much attention centers around the two coast boys, Goddard of Washington State and Haines of Washington, who showed so well in scrimmage Sunday. Haines is no Sammy Baugh, when it comes to passing, but many of the boys think he is one of the best running backs on the squad, and the coaches would like to attempt to shake him loose, somehow, sometime, during the game.

And that brings them right back to defense, for Haines, on defense, has always been a safety man and that doesn't happen to be the position most of the right half backs on the All-Star squad will play. It's another problem for the coaches to work out.

For the remainder of the week the squad will get nothing but defense. The centers and the full backs are special objects of the plan which is designed to stop the plunges of such as Clark Hinkle, another of the Packers for whom the All-American coaches have a great deal of respect.

Louis, Farr Pound Sparboys as Drill for Title Bout Ends

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 24.—Both Joe Louis and Tommy Farr are in fine fettle for their battle for the world's heavyweight championship at Yankee Stadium Thursday night. They ended their preparations for the match at their nearby New Jersey training camps this afternoon. Their final drills were spectacular.

Louis knocked his spar mate, Tiger Hairston, cold in the second round. Again and again, in a two round skirmish, he pounded the unfortunate Pal Silvers of Brooklyn. He didn't knock him out, but he looked as if he were capable of it at any stage of the bout. He polished off his drill by doing the same thing to George Nicholson of Buffalo. Never had he been more alert.

Farr Works Indoors.

He worked in the outdoor ring at his Pompton Lakes camp and in the critical crowd that was watching him were Babe Ruth, Bill Robinson, and Jesse Owens.

The challenger, Tommy Farr, was forced to do his boxing in a sheltered ring at his Long Branch camp. A steady rain fell there throughout the day, drenching his outdoor training quarters.

The stocky Welshman surprised his henchmen by loosing a terrific barrage of blows at his three sparring partners. The first one was the British light heavyweight, Bob Skully, with whom he boxed two rounds. He went one round with Leo Brown of Allentown, and three with Abe Feldman.

Boxers Go Into Retirement.

As the final training camp applause died away and workmen started to rip down the ring equipment, the two fighters prepared to go into retirement until Thursday morning.

They must be on their way to New York by automobile at 10 o'clock on the day of the fight, for they are to weigh in and be put through their final physical examinations at the boxing commission's office on Worth street at noon.

The sum total of the facts accomplished at the two training camps seems to have been to establish in the minds of the boxing public the dogged tenacity of the old fashioned fighter Farr and the physical superiority of the perfectly trained world's champion Louis.

Fans and critics are in agreement that Farr honestly believes that he is going to win. He's sure he can befuddle Louis and trick him into leaving at least one opening through which he will be able to fell the Brown Bomber.

Farr bases this on his experience with other fighters. He has been successful in using that method on 54 opponents. But the trouble is he's never met an opponent who even compares to Louis.

Expects to Rush Louis.

Evidence of Farr's cocksureness is given in his statement made after his training had ended today that he will fight his own fight and will pay no attention to the instruction he gets from his manager, Ted Broadribb, or his discoverer, Joe Churchill, unless their ideas of the situation happen to agree entirely with his own.

Broadribb has indicated that he wants Farr to fight a cautious waiting battle. Farr says he will start rushing Louis when the opening gong taps.

CALIFORNIA GOLF CHAMPION WINS AMATEUR MEDAL

Portland, Ore., Aug. 24.—(AP)—Roger Kelly of Los Angeles scored 70 over the Alderwood Country club course today to post a 36 hole total of 142 and capture medal honors for the 41st national amateur golf tournament.

He ended in spectacular fashion, plunking a 20 foot uphill putt into the cup for a birdie 4 on the 561 yard eighteenth. On the hole before he winged another birdie, ramming home a nine foot putt for a 3.

Winner of the California championship last week by the tournament record-breaking margin of 12 and 10, Kelly continued the sub-par pace he set at that time when he completed 133 holes in three shots under standard figures.

Johnny Fischer Qualifies.

Defending champion Johnny Fischer of Cincinnati, who qualified easily with a 76—74 today, set the 36 hole qualifying record of 141 in 1933. A qualifying score of 142 has been carded only six times since the first national amateur was played in 1895.

The low 64 scorers will go into match play tomorrow. There were 63 with a total of 154 or less, leaving 13 who tied at 155 to play off for the one remaining place. After four extra holes, two were still in the running — Willie Turnesa of White Plains, N. Y., and T. S. Jamison Jr., Pittsburgh—when tournament officials decided it was too dark for further play and postponed the elimination until tomorrow morning.

Kelly's 70, posted early in the day, appeared destined to stand alone until Marvil Ward, Tacoma, checked in toward the tail end with a 37 and a 33. But Ward's first round of 74 was two strokes above Kelly's. Ward finished in the 144 bracket along with Art Doering Jr., Chicago, 71—73 and Ray Billows, Poughkeepsie, New York state champion, with 72—72.

Goodman Scores 149.

HAAS GETS FOUR HITS; KREEVICH CRASHES HOMER

Chicago Errors Keep Losers in Running.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The White Sox, after shearing the New York Yankees of their home run technique yesterday, waited till two were out in the ninth, then handed the mighty men a 9 to 8 trimming in the opener of the two game farewell series at Comiskey park.

The Sox must have been teasing the Yanks, who notoriously are just another funny ball club when not socking homers. The Sox should have won much sooner, but there was ludicrous defensive work, which included the dropping of pop flies by Luke Appling and Dixie Walker, fooling the Yanks into thinking they could win without homers. To prove they were kidding afield Luke and Dixie contributed their only hits of the afternoon to make victory possible in the ninth.

Here Are Your Heroes.

Fortunately there were three gents in the Sox cast besides the pitchers—Johnny Whitehead, Bill Dietrich, and the victor, Clint Brown—who were not in a frivolous mood. The heroes of the day were Mike Kreevich, who smashed out the only homer of the afternoon with two on in the third; Mule Haas, who made a triple and three singles, and Tony Piet, whose single and double were essential to victory, the double in the ninth driving home the winning run.

With no intent to slight other wearers of the laurel, we'd like to dwell at length on the success of Mr. Haas. Prior to yesterday Mule had made only seven hits all season. His first two hits of the year contributed to late winning rallies in Yankee games. All but one of the next five were made in pinches which contributed to victories.

Mule Goes to Work.

Then came yesterday. Mule wasted a single in the second inning, but in the sixth, with the Sox trailing, 5 to 3, Mule drove home Appling with a triple and scored the tying run on Piet's single. In the seventh with the Sox trailing, 6 to 8, Mule singled to drive home Rip Radcliff and send Red Ruffing to shelter.

And now for the record of the ninth and Haas' contribution thereto: With one down Walker beat out a single to Heffner, but was forced by Radcliff. Appling singled to right, Radcliff taking third. Johnny Murphy hooked two past Haas and the Mule didn't swing. On the next pitch the oldster rolled a single to left, Radcliff galloping home with the tying run. Piet then lined a double to left, Appling scoring easily with the winning counter.

Murderers' Row—Ha, Ha!

The Sox not only stopped the flood of Yankee homers, which had mounted to twenty in the eight Chicago-New York games immediately prior to yesterday's, they also stopped both Joe Di Maggio and Lou Gehrig.

Off Whitehead Di Maggio executed two gentle grounders and a foul to Sewell; against Dietrich he filed to Kreevich and in his fifth failure forced Crosetti. Gehrig didn't come close to making a hit, either, but drew two passes, both from Dietrich. The other murderous Yank, Bill Dickey, did somewhat better. He made two singles, drew two passes and filed out once.

M'COY GETS ON VISIGOTH AND WINS WITH EASE

Victory at Lincoln Fields Belongs to Jocky.

Horses seem to improve under the energetic riding of Jocky Jimmy McCoy, the old man of the saddle, these days. The latest to wake up under him is the Shady Brook farm's Visigoth.

The 6 year old, unable to get better than third money in seven starts this year, scored in the featured Midlothian handicap yesterday at Lincoln fields. He was one of four well backed horses for the race, but it was Mrs. A. M. Creech's Grey Streak which went to the post a decided favorite. Grey Streak did not show a thing and was out of the money. Teddy Haslam won second money and the outsider Star Bud came fast enough to land third.

Teddy Haslam Steps Out.

Teddy Haslam, just in from Canada, set the pace in the Midlothian at one mile with the extreme outsider, Biff, closest to him and Faust also well up. Teddy Haslam kept his nose out in front until they came out of the turn into the run for home. There McCoy, who had kept Visigoth within hailing distance of the leaders, charged up around them and took a narrow lead. He drew out slowly down the stretch and was a length and a quarter to the good at the finish.

Visigoth ran the mile in 1:37 3-5 and paid $11.40 in the mutuels.

Winner Breaks Fast.

Allanwood, ordinarily a slow breaking juvenile, popped out of the gate so fast in the fourth race he never was headed thereafter. He led every step of the five and a half furlong journey, beating the favored Top Billing by three lengths with Inviting third.

It was Allanwood's tenth attempt to score his maiden victory for Mrs. C. E. Dale. Ridden by George South, he raced the distance in 1:07 2-5 but was not pressed. He was second choice in the betting, paying $5.20.

Previously Jocky South had figured in the daily double, piloting Techy home in the second race. Mo won in the third to complete a combination worth $26.60.

Time, :23, :45 4-5, 1:12 1-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Nim, $15.60 straight, $8.00 place, $6.20 show; Tomye, $6.20 place, $5.80 show; Bedight, $6.40 show. Winner trained by H. Hockenbury. Went to post at 2:15. At post 2 minutes. Start good. NIM, under light urging early and raced a trifle wide throughout, was placed to strong pressure after a half mile, held to his task with determination and wore down TOMYE in the closing strides. Latter, quick to settle into full stride, easily increased his advantage on the turn and continued strongly to the final eighth.

TECHY, away fast and saving ground throughout, worked her way clear on the turn, stood a hard drive gamely and headed out slightly in the late stages, barely lasted. CAUTIVO had speed from the start, was lightly restrained until the final quarter, and closing resolutely would have got up in another stride.

*Field. Time, :23 2-5, :47 2-5, 1:12 2-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Mo, $5.20 straight, $3.60 place, $2.80 show; Polaris, $15.20 place, $7.40 show; Miss Sycamore, $5.06 show. Winner trained by J. M. Goode. Went to post at 3:15.

MO, overcoming a big loss of ground sustained in the early stages, drew into the lead on the stretch turn, stood a hard drive gamely and was holding his advantage at the end. POLARIS, a factor from the start and always under hustling tactics, came to the leader in the outside in the stretch and fought it out stubbornly though unable to get up. MISS SYCAMORE bettered her position gradually until reaching the final eighth where she went evenly.

FOURTH RACE—Five and one-half furlongs. Purse $800. Net value to winner, $600; second, $125; third, $50; fourth, $25.

Time, :23 4-5, :47 3-5, 1:00 2-5, 1:07 2-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Allanwood, $5.20 straight, $2.60 place, $2.40 show; Top Billing, $3.00 place, $2.40 show; Inviting, $3.20 show. Winner trained by C. E. Dale. Went to post at 3:43.

ALLANWOOD, away in motion and saving ground throughout always held TOP BILLING safe and probably never strongly extended himself to something left. TOP BILLING, always in nearest pursuit of the winner and steadied on the turn, did not rally to pressure in the stretch and weakened badly in the last eighth but held INVITING safe. Latter, required to lose ground, held on well in a good effort.

Time, :23 3-5, :47 3-5, 1:12 4-5, 1:37 3-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Visigoth, $11.40 straight, $7.00 place, $4.80 show; Teddy Haslam, $4.80 place, $3.80 show; Star Bud, $8.20 show. Winner trained by G. Brooks. Went to post at 4:15.

VISIGOTH, never a great distance back and on the outside for about five-eighths, began to move up on the stretch turn, wore down the leaders when straightened in the stretch, but was kept under urging to the end. TEDDY HASLAM, taken under restraint after opening up a clear advantage and steadied along to the stretch, swerved out slightly when slowly giving way to the end but held on well to the sixth, and withstood STAR BUD'S rush. Latter, slow to respond, came in good belated speed in the final quarter and was wearing down TEDDY HASLAM.

SIXTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse $800. Net value to winner, $600; second, $125; third, $50; fourth, $25.

TIMBERLINE took command without need of strong urging, saved ground while racing under restraint to the stretch turn, went wide entering the final quarter and, continuing strongly when straight, held FLYING BREEZE safe. The latter, reserved off the pace and under stout restraint for almost three-quarters, also lost ground entering the stretch and stood a drive gamely, but was no match for the winner.

SEVENTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse $800. Net value to winner, $600; second, $125; third, $50; fourth, $25.

HAZY AUTUMN, improved and away fast, was taken slightly in hand while making the pace, increased her advance around the second turn, bore out slightly entering the stretch but responding to a shaking up, shook off HOUR ZEV and held BOLD BID safe. Latter, blocked on the first turn and kept in hand when clear, was forced very wide entering the stretch and closed well under mild urging.

KAIRACK, rushed into command and taken under restraint after a quarter, held away easily to the stretch, where he was shaken up several times, winning with little left. WAYALOFT, well rated, held on with good courage.

Germans Win as U.S. Doubles Tourney Opens

Brookline, Mass., Aug. 24.—(AP)—Ashore but 36 hours, Baron Gottfried von Cramm, the German star who is ranked second only to America's Don Budge among the world's tennis amateurs, and his countryman, Henner Ernest Otto Henkel, took about that many minutes to shake off their sea legs today in their debut on this continent at the opening of the 57th national doubles tournament.

Von Cramm and Henkel started off against two Bostonians, Dick Murphy and Sam Fitch, and after they had sacrificed a set to experiment with the American ball, which they described as much faster than that used in Europe, their terrific speed gave them a 6-3, 5-7, 6-2, 6-2 victory.

Starting at the same time were Budge and Gene Mako, the invincible Davis cup doubles pair. They opened the defense of their national titles against two fellow Californians, Bobby Harman and George Toley of Los Angeles, and won, 6-1, 6-1, 6-2.

McDiarmid, Hendrix Upset.

There was one upset and another match that threatened to become such on the men's first round program.

The sixth seeded domestic team of John McDiarmid of Princeton, N. J., and Arthur Hendrix of Lakeland, Fla., was eliminated by Murray D. Delaford and Clarence M. Jones, young British pair, 7-5, 7-5, 4-6, 6-3.

Then the fifth seeded Los Angeles youngsters, Bobby Riggs, regarded as the prize product of the current eastern grass season, and Bernie Coghlan, had a long uphill pull to overtake Louis Wetherel, Los Angeles, and Robert Kamrath, Austin, Tex., for a 0-6, 4-6, 6-4, 9-7, 8-6 victory.

The veteran Johnny Van Ryn, a finalist last year with Wilmer Allison, and his new partner, Joe Hunt of Los Angeles, rated just behind Budge and Mako on the domestic list, and the other two American seeded teams, Bryan Grant, Atlanta, and Wayne Sabin, Los Angeles, and Martyn Buxby, Miami, and Elwood Cooke, Portland, Ore., gained the second round without being extended.

Foreign Teams Advance.

The teams on the foreign seeded list, which include the American-Japanese combination of Gregory Mangin, New York, and Jiro Yamagishi, had an easy passage into the second round. George Patrick Hughes and Charles E. Hare of England, seeded third, advanced on a default.

Paced by Carolin Babcock and Mrs. John Van Ryn, the defending champions, in the women's section, all the favored domestic terms and all but one of the seeded foreign pairs qualified for the second round.

BERWYN BEATEN, 6-1, BY EAST LYNN IN LEGION FINAL

Lynn, Mass., Aug. 24.—(AP)—With Ray Bessom hurling a three hit game, East Lynn's Junior American Legion baseball team defeated Berwyn, Ill., 6 to 1, before 10,000 today to win the Northeastern Regional championship.

East Lynn's victory gave it the right to meet the winner of the Omaha-New Orleans playoff for the national title.

Bessom backed up his hurling with a home run and a single which figured in the scoring of four of his team's runs. It was his 24th victory of the season against no defeats.

Sox Score 2 in Ninth; Beat Yankees, 9-8

gle off Hayes' glove, and Di Maggio's grounder, which forced Rolfe in the first inning, gave the Yanks a run which sufficed as a lead until Kreevich socked his homer in the third inning.

The splurge which put the Sox ahead, 3 to 1, in the third developed in this fashion: Sewell lined a single to right and Whitehead was hit on the right wrist by a pitched ball. The runners advanced on Hayes' sacrifice. Kreevich lined his No. 9 homer to the balustrade of the upper deck in left field, scoring behind Sewell and Whitehead.

Sox Are Too Generous.

Though his injured wrist was troubling him, Whitehead tried to carry on in the fourth, but had to give up after two were out. Dickey walked and went to third on Powell's single to left. Lazzeri hit into a double play, Dickey scoring. Ruffing walked, whereupon Whitehead was replaced by Dietrich. Appling shooed Radcliff away from Crosetti's pop fly, then let it pop out of his glove, Hoag scoring the tying run. Rolfe walked, filling the bases, but Di Maggio fouled to Sewell.

The Yanks got another gift run in the fifth. Gehrig walked and went to third when Dickey singled past Hayes. Sewell called for a pitchout when he thought he perceived the sign for a Yankee ruse, but forgot to catch said pitchout. Gehrig scored and Dickey went to second on the passed ball. Dietrich then struck out Powell and Lazzeri, after which Hoag flied to Kreevich.

The run the Yankees made in the sixth technically was pure but would not have blossomed if the Sox defense had functioned properly. Ruffing got credit for a double when Kreevich and Walker permitted his fly to drop between them. Crosetti struck out, but Rolfe doubled along the right foul line, scoring Ruffing.

Back In Front Again.

Here's the way the Sox resumed the lead in the sixth. With one down Appling reached first on Crosetti's fumble. Haas tripled to the left field corner, scoring Appling, and got home with the tying marker on Piet's single to left. Sewell singled to center Piet stopping at second. Dietrich was called out for bunting foul on the third strike. Hayes beat out a bouncer to Crosetti, loading the bases, and Piet scored when Lazerri booted Kreevich's grounder. Hoag made a nice running catch of Walker's fly.

The Sox second lead didn't prevail as long as their first one had. Powell singled to the left in the seventh and went to third when Lazzeri jabbed a hit and run single through short. Walker dropped Hoag's pop fly, Powell scoring. The runners advanced on Ruffing's sacrifice, whereupon Crosetti lined a single to left, scoring Lazzeri and Hoag.

The Sox scored one run in the seventh and fixed it up for Ruffing to take an early bath. Radcliff singled to right, went to second on Appling's infield tap and scored on Haas' single to center. Murphy replaced Ruffing and made Piet bounce into a double play.

FEDERAL COURT SETS ASIDE DOG BET INJUNCTION

New York, Aug. 24.—[Special.]—The federal Circuit Court of Appeals today vacated an injunction barring state and county officials from interfering with the operation of a dog racing track at Mineola, N. Y., and the whole issue of legality of the option type of betting at dog tracks was thrown back into the state criminal courts.

District Attorney Martin W. Littleton announced soon after the decision became known that a trial would be held this week or early next week in which the legality of the dog track fashion of gambling would be the basic issue.

The decision of the Circuit Court of Appeals set aside an injunction granted by Federal Judge Matthew T. Abruzzo in Brooklyn.

Lee to Seek His 6th 1937 Victory Over Yanks Today

Thornton Lee, who beat the Yanks for the White Sox five straight times in the good old days of early 1937, this afternoon will try to renw the string after losing one in New York early this month. Irving Hadley probably will pitch for the Yanks.

The Sox yesterday announced the purchase of three minor league players. They are: Mervin Connors, third baseman of Longview, Tex., who has batted .388 in daylight baseball and .329 in night games; George Gick, right handed pitcher, who has won twelve while losing six for Rayne, La., in the Evangeline league, and William Cox, right handed pitcher, who has won twelve and lost twelve for St. Paul. Connors will report Sept. 2, the other two Sept. 7.

Rip Collins, the Cubs' crippled first baseman, scouted the Yanks from a box in the upper deck. He fetched a large pad for notes and diagrams, but had to borrow a pencil.

Cubs, Giants Rained Out; Play 2 Today

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 24.—The boys who wear Cub uniforms and the fellows who garnish themselves in the flannels of the Giants, a local baseball concern, were supposed to have a meeting at the Polo Grounds today to determine whether the National league race should be definitely cleared up or additionally complicated. The two parties didn't get together because there was a continuation of one of those pea soup drizzles which frequently flit along the Atlantic seaboard for visits of indefinite length.

The pea soup atmosphere may last through tomorrow in which event the Cubs will not be the losers, but should the sun come to the rescue of gallant Bill Terry there will be action. If the latter becomes the program, the athletes who wear the livery provided by their respective employers will assemble for a double argument. The Giants to remain a pennant threat must win twice.

Bartell, Leslie to Play.

The delay occasioned today by the weather man's pea soup menu probably helped the Giants, but it didn't hurt the Cubs. Manager Terry rightfully detests double-headers but this was one time when delay made him smile. It added 24 hours to the chances of getting his cripples, Shortstop Dick Bartell and First Baseman Sam Leslie, in condition to take part in the twin featured exhibition. Both, particularly Bartell, who is badly needed, expect to play. And the Cubs didn't mind the delay because it helped their minor invalids like Billy Herman, who has a couple of twitching ankles, and Augie Galan, whose left knee was used as a target by Lefty Grissom of the Reds in last Friday's night game.

Lee and French to Pitch.

The Cub pitching which tomorrow can add to the present lead of four games or slice it down to less formidable proportions, will be handled by Bill Lee and Larry French. They would have pitched if two single games had been played. Manager Terry, who admits that he has to win these two games or give up hope, refused to be definite about his two pitchers. He'll probably call on Carl Hubbell because the southpaw can take it when under pressure. For the other battle he may go with Harry Gumbert, principally because the fellow whitewashed the Cubs here on the previous visit.

NOPE, YE EDITOR HAS NO PASSES TO VALLEE HOUR

Try Rudy's Sponsors; It's Their Program.

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

It seems that every time Rudy Vallee [or Jack Benny] comes to town the guy in this corner hears from a lot of people he hasn't run into since college days or earlier. These erstwhile acquaintances all use a somewhat similar approach. They inquire after the health of your family, stall around a bit with polite piffle, and finally get down to the business of asking for a couple of tickets to the Vallee broadcast. For their boss, they say. They never would ask for themselves. No.

The truth is that radio editors aren't given a flock of tickets to big broadcasts. If they get a pair they are satisfied. That, as a matter of fact, is probably one more than they're entitled to. Thus, to all who have asked: There are no free tickets to the Vallee broadcast tomorrow night. If you know any one at Standard Brands, his sponsors, you might try there. They have the tickets!

And for those who do not wish to rely on their radio Thursday—Louis Lipstone informs this department that Mr. Vallee may be seen at the Chicago theater both before and after the broadcast. For those who would hear also Lou Holtz, Erin O'Brien Moore, Conway Tearle, Red Skelton, and Tommy Riggs and Betty Lou, Rudy's guests for tomorrow night's program, a session at the loud speaker at 7 p. m. tomorrow is the one sure way of getting in on the full Vallee proceedings.

From Rube Appleberry, the demon pitcher from Posey county, Ind., comes a wire saying that he will be back on the air via W-G-N starting at 6 o'clock next Monday evening. Good news for all those listeners who can't get enough baseball out of the five play by play reports each afternoon.

Tenor Lanny Ross paused here between trains yesterday en route to Hollywood, where he will be the headliner of the NBC musical variety hour, which last year starred Fred Astaire, starting Sept. 7. Others on the show will be Florence George, Chicago soprano; Charley Butterworth, and Raymond Paige's orchestra. Amos 'n' Andy will be guests on the first show; the Marx brothers on the second a week later.

Beg your pardon: It is Gilbert Seldes, not George, who has been named CBS director of television.

Spencer Bartlett, New York actor and announcer, has replaced Les Tremayne as Bob in the CBS serial "Betty and Bob." Tremayne will concentrate on "The First Nighter."

Ransom Sherman, M. C. of the Club Matinée, the other day received a letter addressed simply, "Small Wonder, Merchandise Mart, Chicago." Seems to indicate that letter carriers listen to radio. Perhaps his by-word will soon be as well known as Fibber McGee's "Tain't Funny," Al Pearce's "I Hope, I Hope, I Hope," Charlie McCarthy's "I'll Mow Him Down," and W. C. Fields' "My Diminutive Little Chum." Pearce's "I Hope, I Hope, I Hope," probably is most often heard. It even is used in Fred Waring's new movie, "Varsity Show," drawing a good laugh.

This picture ought to make a hit with the collegiate crowd this fall. Several of Waring's performers gave such a good account of themselves that they drew other assignments in Hollywood—among them Rosemary Lane and Comedian Johnny Davis. To several of us who saw the picture the other day it seemed that Priscilla Lane did an even better job than her sister. A promising comedienne.

TELLS JURORS TO 'CALL 'EM AS YOU SEE THEM'

Worcester, Mass., Aug. 24.—(AP)—Introducing some baseball parlance into his first charge to a new group of jurymen Superior Court Judge Ernest E. Hobson told them to call them as they saw them.

"You men are like an umpire at a ball game," he said. "You are in a position to see the pitcher and how he throws the ball. If it comes in above the knees and below the shoulder, fairly well over the plate, call it a strike. If it is above the shoulder or below the knees, call it a ball. It must be one or the other.

"Don't favor the home team and don't favor the visiting team. Give them all an even break. Apply the same principles an umpire at a ball game applies in deciding the issues before you. You have a right to use your common sense and your own experiences in life in arriving at the truth. That is all we want here."

Edison Income Rises for July and 7 Months

Net income of the Commonwealth Edison company in July was $928,013, equal to 58 cents a share on the old capital stock, compared with $769,145, or 48 cents a share, in July, 1936, the company reported yesterday. The stock was split on a four for one basis this month.

The company also reported results for the first seven months of the year. Net income for the period was $8,677,639, equal to $5.38 a share, against $5,870,495, or $3.65 a share, in the first seven months of 1936.

The report said the increase in revenues resulted chiefly from larger sales of electricity to industrial customers. While sales to residential consumers for the seven months increased 9.5 per cent over last year, the revenues were three-tenths of one per cent smaller as a result of lower rates now in effect.

Earn More on Operations.

Net earnings from utility operations for the seven months increased approximately $2,352,000, or $1.46 a share. Seventy-nine cents a share of the increase is accounted for by the change in method of providing for certain indirect construction expense. Provision was made for federal profits surtax on the basis of the present dividend rate.

July net income of the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois was $201,305, equal to 17 cents a share on the common stock, against $184,554, or 16 cents a share, in the comparable period last year. Net income was $2,891,421 for the first seven months of 1937, equal to $3.42 a share, compared with $2,052,031, or $2.33 a share, in the corresponding months of 1936.

Interest Charges Reduced.

Net earnings from operations increased $559,000 in the first seven months over last year, while reduced interest charges saved $254,800, or 38 cents a share.

The Commonwealth and Southern corporation, utility holding company with properties throughout the south, reported net income of $15,660,911 for the 12 months ended July 31. This was equal to 20 cents a share on the common stock and compared with net income of $10,960,990, or 6 cents a share in the preceding 12 months. The figure reported for the 1937 period does not make provision for federal profits surtax.

The company reported net income of $8,904,568, or 11 cents a share, for the first seven months of 1937 against $6,593,468, or 4 cents a share, in the corresponding 1936 period.

Profit Above 1936.

July net income of $157,911 was reported by the Northern Indiana Public Service company. Net income in July, 1936, amounted to $95,247. For the first seven months of the year the company's net income was $1,237,040, against $806,674 last year.

Bernard W. Lynch, president of the Standard Gas and Electric company, yesterday reported consolidated June profit of $137,752, compared with $4,717 in the same month last year, and net earnings for the six months ended June 30 of $2,614,823, against $2,026,789 in the 1936 period.

They will be built at a cost of nearly $20,000,000 and will include one 34,000 ton passenger and freight ship, two 10,000 ton ships of the same type and two 7,500 ton freight ships.

SENATORS, RESEARCH GROUP SEEK CHANGE IN PROFITS TAX LAW

Washington, D. C., Aug. 24.—[Special.]—Although congress has adjourned and most of the nation's legislators have returned home, a campaign for modifying the undistributed profits law was being formulated here today under the auspices of senators and private research organizations.

At the top of the senatorial contingent is Senator Frederick Steiwer [R., Ore.], keynoter at the last Republican national convention. Senator Steiwer, who has received assistance from the Brookings Institution and other organizations, reports that hundreds of replies have been made to a questionnaire on details of business operations under the tax statute.

It is the contention of the Oregonian that the facts cannot be ignored when presented to congress in complete detail. He is of the belief that the undistributed profits tax, as presently constituted, at least, can be proved a failure if the evidence is impartially examined.

Opponents of the tax program are progressing with their studies now with the intention of amassing factual data for submission to the house ways and means committee when, as and if hearings are held on general revenue revision legislation.

Experts of the treasury department also have launched a study of the revenue structure, but since their investigation is of the entire tax situation recommendations cannot be expected for four months or more.

Sales for the first eight periods amounted to $39,029,937, an increase of 4.2 per cent over the sales of $37,447,822 in the first eight periods last year. On Aug. 14, this year, the company had 1,244 stores in operation, compared with 1,214 a year ago.

Sales of Butler Brothers for July and to date in August have increased 10 per cent over the corresponding period last year, according to President Frank S. Cunningham. This gain is 5.15 per cent less than the increase for the first six months of this year over the first six months of last year. Cunningham said the difference is due to the recent decline in cotton prices, which has tended to retard purchasing of cotton goods by merchants.

RAWLEIGH WARNER
Vice-President and Treasurer

Thorpe Flails Move to Incite Class Hatred

Denver, Colo., Aug. 24.—(AP)—Merle Thorpe, editor of Nation's Business, assailed "cabinet officials" tonight for statements he said "are inciting people to envy and hate." In an address at a public meeting preceding the 48th annual convention of the National Association of Life Underwriters, Thorpe attacked "demagogic slogans."

Merle Thorpe.

"With all our intelligence, we cannot seem to realize that capital is merely the savings of the people collected by managements, of which insurance is one, and brought to an effective focus where those savings are pumped into trade and industry," he said.

Urges Explanations.

Thorpe, whose magazine is the official organ of the United States Chamber of Commerce, contended "the state of public thinking today, as never before, demands a new chapter that will explain that life insurance dollars support the fundamental economic needs of American life."

"This basic economic fact is under fire everywhere and from unsuspected quarters," he continued. "The agitation is bringing about a change, in that the savings of the people, instead of going into creative enterprise that makes for continuous employment of labor, are diverted to government and expended upon noncreative enterprise.

"A cabinet official says we must not return to the 'vomit of capitalish.' Another speaks of 'the unregenerate adherents of the old creed.'

Assails Class Hate.

"Such phrases are popular. They are inciting people to envy and hate. They are dulling their senses to the loss of independence through the inevitable alternative, state socialism."

Thorpe avoided direct reference to the federal old age benefits program, expected to figure in reports and discussions during the insurance underwriters' sessions.

Noting, however, that "85 billions" of dollars had been invested in insurance, he added:

"I regret that there is a growing tendency everywhere to shove responsibility onto other shoulders, to contend that society owes each man, regardless of his own efforts, an easy living, and to expound the soft philosophy that by right each of us should be maintained by the industrious and the thrifty."

BLAMES 5 CENT CIGAR FOR STRIKE TROUBLES; COURT AID SOUGHT

New York, Aug. 24.—(AP)—Ernest Eckes, who blames the popularity of the 5-cent smoke for the present plight of the cigar industry, today obtained a Supreme court order requiring the United Cigar Workers' International, local No. 273 [C. I. O.] to show cause Friday why it should not be ordered to terminate a sit-down strike that has stalled the factory of H. Anton Bock & Co. for 135 days. Eckes, the company's president, failed to get action yesterday in magistrate's court on his charge of unlawful possession, the magistrate pointing out that he had tolerated the strikers' occupancy of the plant and offered them comforts in a self-admitted "big brotherly" way.

"They have threatened to continue possession and interference," Eckes told Justice Lloyd Church, "and the temper of the workers is such that I fully believe they will carry out said threat."

He also asked Justice Church to enjoin union members from picketing his home and from carrying posters containing false statements about him. Declaring the police department "failed to furnish adequate protection" on demand, Eckes obtained permission to have the police captain of the 19th precinct served with the show cause order.

He contends that 85 per cent of the cigars made now are sold for a nickel and that he cannot therefore meet the union demand for a 10 per cent salary increase. Meanwhile, some of the 130 strikers are holding their strategical positions on the fourth floor of the factory, which also occupies the fifth and sixth floors—and obeying the signs which say:

"No smoking."

STEEL CONCERN CHARGES LABOR BOARD 'POLITICS'

New Cumberland, W. Va., Aug. 24.—(AP)—Counsel for the Weirton Steel company criticized the labor board today for "personal politics" in its hearing on a complaint that the steel company intimidated its workers.

William T. Fahey, representing the company employé representation plan, charged "the board has apparently made a studied effort to get into the record of this case on every occasion possible the names of Roosevelt and John L. Lewis."

"Just because there has been a statement recently by John L. Lewis [chairman of the Committee for Industrial Organization] that he will withdraw his support from Roosevelt if labor is not upheld is no reason for New Deal agencies to be used to give Lewis that support," he added.

Trial Examiner E. G. Smith ordered Fahey's remarks stricken from the record. Counsel for the labor board subpenaed Weirton Steel company's pay roll records before the board's hearing on its complaint that the company intimidated its employés.

FRANCE TO TAKE OWNERSHIP OF RAILWAY LINES

Cabinet Agrees to Nationalize Roads.

PARIS, Aug. 24.—(AP)—An official spokesman indicated tonight that the cabinet of Premier Camille Chautemps had agreed upon a modified nationalization of France's railroads.

Premier Camille Chautemps.

Under the terms of the modification, the spokesman explained, the government will organize a national railroad corporation in which it would hold a majority of the voting stock. Ownership of the country's 26,000 miles of railway would be vested in the new corporation. Private shareholders of the present lines would retain a voice, although a minor one, in the management of the national corporation.

The cabinet adjourned after a meeting at which it discussed plans for the solution of the railroad problem advanced by Finance Minister Georges Bonnet and Public Works Minister Henri Queuille.

Formal Statement Omitted.

No formal statement was made by the cabinet other than that it had tabled railroad reorganization for future discussion. Its reported agreement on a modified nationalization was a victory for Queuille, who drafted the original plan calling for complete nationalization. It had been supported by the socialists, headed by former Premier Blum.

Finance Minister Bonnet, who has been the spearhead of the program dealing with the nation's financial emergency, had proposed that the lines be consolidated into a national holding company, but that they retain their autonomy, with the government having the minority voice.

Both plans were designed to relieve the national treasury, already beset by other fiscal problems, of the strain of meeting the large annual deficits of the lines. The cabinet was expected to take action on Queuille's modified plan before next Tuesday.

Negotiate With Roads.

Queuille reported to the cabinet during its deliberations on his negotiations with the railroad companies. He was authorized to continue, which was taken to mean that the only snag now remaining to nationalization was the differences between the government and the railroads.

Acting under the emergency decree powers, won from parliament to deal with France's financial problems, the cabinet set wheat prices for the coming year. Its decree will be submitted to President Lebrun for his signature tomorrow.

Sources close to the cabinet reported the new prices would start at about 187 francs a quintal [about $1.96 a bushel] for September. There would be a rising price throughout the year. Last year the price began at about 140 francs a quintal [about $1.43 a bushel].

Steel Scrap at Pittsburgh Reduced 50 Cents Per Ton

Rail Wage Hike Means Deficits, Unions Told

Had the recently granted 5 cent an hour wage increase for non-operating railroad employés and 20 per cent boost demanded by operating workers been in effect last year, many roads which wound up 1936 with net incomes would have had losses, H. A. Enochs, Philadelphia, Pa., chairman of the carriers' conference committee, asserted yesterday at a wage conference in the Capitol building. Officials of the railroads and operating unions are now engaged in negotiations over the demand for a 20 per cent increase.

Cites Effects of Boosts.

He said that net income of the Baltimore and Ohio in 1929 was $30,000,000 and in 1936 it was $4,500,000, while if the wage boosts granted and under discussion had been in effect the road would have had a deficit of $3,600,000.

Following are the 1929 and 1936 operating results of a number of other representative roads, together with estimates as to what would have been the 1936 result had the increase been in effect in that year.

Estimate on Pennsylvania.

Burlington—1929, $36,00,000 net income; 1936, actual, $5,000,000 net income; 1936, $700,000, with boost.

Milwaukee—1929, $7,000,000 net income; 1936, actual, $13,00,000 deficit; 1936, $19,000,000 deficit, with boost.

Tells Burlington's Position.

J. H. Adyelott, general manager of the Burlington lines east, said the Burlington's operating revenues had declined from $162,000,000 in 1929 to $98,000,000 in 1936. He attributed this to the fact that the Burlington is a large carrier of farm products, production of which has been cut by drouths. He added that operating expenses had been increased sharply because of needed improvements.

David Robertson, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, supporting the demand for the wage increase, found fault with the figures presented by Enochs and said that the employés were not responsible for the difference between gross revenues and net income except for the wages paid them.

Britain Requests Mexico to Clarify Oil Situation

LONDON, Aug. 24.—(AP)—The British government instructed its minister at Mexico City today to make representations to the Mexican government concerning the position of foreign oil interests. Mexico will be asked to "clarify" its intentions in the matter of royalties, which, some sources said, have been placed on an "uneconomic level." Certain foreign investors have expressed fear that Mexico intended a gradual nationalization of the whole oil industry within her borders.

COSTS REDUCE BIG RAILROADS' JULY EARNINGS

Drop Shown Despite Higher Revenues.

Net operating incomes of the New York Central and Norfolk & Western railroads for July declined from July, 1936, despite moderate increases in gross operating revenues, the roads reported yesterday. The decline in net operating incomes was attributed to rising operating costs. The Chesapeake corporation, railroad holding company, for the first half of 1936, reported a small decline in net income from the same 1936 period.

The New York Central's July net operating income was $3,204,426, against $4,255,844 in July last year. Operating revenues totaled $30,720,572, an increase of $1,303,956 over July, 1936.

Increase for Seven Months.

For the first seven months of 1937 net operating income was $25,779,620, an increase of $1,835,224 over the corresponding 1936 period, while gross revenues totaled $217,552,526, a gain of $16,519,904.

Net income of the Chesapeake corporation for the first half of 1937 was $3,579,142, exclusive of security transactions, against $3,582,295 for the first half of 1936. In the first half of this year there was credited to earned surplus a profit of $1,596,864 resulting from the conversion of bonds into common stock of the Chesapeake and Ohio railway.

A net loss of $65,990 for the first half of 1937 was reported by the Alleghany corporation and its wholly owned subsidiary, Terminal Shares, Inc., against a net loss of $79,203 in the corresponding 1936 period.

Norfolk and Western.

The Norfolk and Western railroad reported net operating income for July of $2,417,659, against $2,458,953 in July, 1936. Gross operating revenue for the month was $7,840,797, against $7,732,181 in July, 1936. Net income was $2,302,150, against $2,350,038 a year ago.

For the first seven months of this year net operating income was $18,858,878, against $17,615,101 a year ago and gross operating revenues totaled $55,897,790, against $50,539,270. Net income for the period was $18,205,070 after all charges, equal after preferred dividends to $12.56 a share, against $16,708,137, equal to $11.49 a share in the first seven months of last year.

Stocks, Bonds

New York Stocks.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 24.—Modest support for a large number of industrials—notably steels, motors, and specialties—featured an irregular advance in stocks today. Gains ranged from fractions to around 2 points. Railroad equities improved fractions, while utilities were not changed greatly. Volume was the smallest for any full session since June 29, amounting to 584,720 shares.

Nervous early liquidation forced many favorites to new lows for the current movement, although offerings dried up quickly. U. S. Steel common converted a 1 point loss into a 1¼ point net gain at the close. Bethlehem, Crucible, and Youngstown added a point or more.

Motors, which have been duplicating the action of the steel group, again followed. Chrysler closed slightly higher, while General Motors advanced a point in heavier volume.

In the nonferrous metal group Anaconda added 1⅝ points on the day while Kennecott, International Nickel, Inspiration Copper, and National Lead gained major fractions to 1 point.

Rails improved in late trading after showing an easier tendency early. New York Central and Baltimore and Ohio were among the ten most active stocks and climbed minor fractions.

Reflecting better business possibilities, merchandising and farm implement issues advanced as much as 2 points. Montgomery Ward was a leader on volume and gained almost a point.

Pure Oil and Socony-Vacuum added three-quarters point each. Texas corporation was another well-liked oil stock, adding 1⅛ points.

New York Bonds.

New York, Aug. 24.—(AP)—United States government loans drifted lower today on light offerings in an uneven and narrow bond market. Traders attributed the selling partly to apprehension of higher money rates.

Losses in treasury issues ranged to 7-32 point and the decline in federal guaranteed loans was as much as 14-32. Turnover in governments approximated $1,850,000, par value, compared with $2,910,000 yesterday.

Among domestic corporate issues rail liens generally improved, although there were a few sharp setbacks. Bond circles reported some optimism over possible granting by the interstate commerce commission of increased rates which would enable many roads to meet rising operating costs.

Chicago Stocks.

Zenith Radio, Commonwealth Edison, and a few other favorites yesterday set the pace for orderly improvement of prices on the Chicago Stock exchange. Final quotations generally were around peak levels of the day.

Zenith, the most active issue, finished at 42⅞, a new high for the year and 2⅝ above the previous close. Edison also closed in new high ground at 32½, up ½ point. Rollins Hosiery, Cities Service, and Utah Radio were among the low priced issues actively traded.

Bank Stocks.

Chicago Title and Trust company stock declined $1 a share yesterday, and Terminal National bank stock was $2 lower. Continental Illinois stock advanced $1.50, while National Boulevard was quoted unchanged to $5 lower by various dealers.

WHEAT FIRMER MOST OF DAY ON SHORT COVERING

Cash Grain Is Sought by Foreign Millers.

CHICAGO GRAIN FUTURES

	Yesterday.	Monday.	Year ago.
Wheat	$1.05	$1.05	$1.10¾
Corn	.97⅛	.96⅜	1.12⅝
Oats	.29	.29	.43
Rye	.77⅛	.75½	.83¼
Soy b'ns [Oct.]	.96	.96

Firmness in the Liverpool grain market, where millers were after supplies of cash wheat, and failure of anticipated rains to develop in Argentina led to scattered short covering in wheat futures on the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday.

The bulk of trading was at an advance of about one cent a bushel as compared with Monday. Aggregate trade, however, was not large and toward the close a return of hedging and local pressure caused a reaction from the best prices. Closing prices were practically unchanged from Monday.

Short covering was also responsible for strength in September corn, which moved up 2½ cents to 98¾ cents a bushel, or 6¼ cents above the low point on Monday. The close was at a net gain of ¾ cent. The new crop deliveries of corn fluctuated erratically and closed ⅛ cent lower.

Other Grains Move Narrowly.

Action of the oats, rye and soy bean markets was largely a reflection of the movements in wheat and corn, with price changes largely confined to small fractions of a cent a bushel, except on September rye, which was 1⅝ cents higher.

A better European demand developed yesterday for North American cash wheat and moderate sales of hard winter grain were reported to have been made to the continent, in addition to which 500,000 bushels of Canadian grain were sold aboard. Liverpool closed 1⅜ to 1⅞ cents a bushel higher with the March delivery leading and reflecting continued dry weather in the important northern section in Argentina.

Comment in the grain trade yesterday indicated a growing belief that European importing countries were inclined to magnify the effect of possible exports of wheat from Russia as a market influence.

Russian Exports Moderate.

While moderate sales of Russian grain have been made to the United Kingdom and the continent, the actual exports so far have been limited, and cables yesterday indicated a relatively slow demand for ocean freight room at Black sea ports. The far eastern political situation, according to Liverpool advices, tended to restrict exports of grain from Russia.

Reports yesterday indicated that the condition of the new corn crop was generally very good in the sections of the central west which furnish the bulk of the commercial grain. H. C. Donovan, crop expert with Thomson & McKinnon, returned yesterday from a four days' trip in northern and eastern Illinois, and western Indiana. He said recent rains were very beneficial and so far this month the corn crop has come through in good condition.

The soy bean crop was found to be in fair to good condition.

Farmers, according to Donovan, are fearful that the prospective heavy yield of corn may lower prices and some expressed their intention of holding as much as possible of this year's crop for a longer period than usual if the price at husking time is not suitable.

Put Illinois Peach Crop Above Million Bushels

Centralia, Ill., Aug. 24.—(AP)—Harry Day, manager of the Illinois Fruit Growers' association, estimated today that the 1937 peach crop of southern Illinois would exceed the 1935 crop of more than 3,000 carloads. The crop was expected to total more than 1,000,000 bushels, with an income of about $1,500,000 to the growers. Most of the Illinois apple crop, which the Illinois Agriculture association estimated would total 9,000,000 bushels, will be harvested in southern Illinois.

Principle of Insurance.

Insurance is the substitution of a definitly known expense for the possibility of losing a much larger amount. The premium, or amount paid for the insurance, is the definitly known expense.

The principle of insurance can be understood by considering the theoretical case of a small community of 1,000 homes where on the average each of three homes sustains a $1,000 loss by fire every year. This means that three home owners will lose $1,000 each year.

The chance of any individual losing his house is small, only three chances in 1,000, but it is impossible to predict which three of the group will suffer the losses. Now suppose that all the home owners get together and decide to help bear each other's losses. This would not be expensive because the total loss to the community is only $3,000 a year or $3 an individual.

By paying $3 each home owner could be sure that he would not lose $1,000 if his own home burned because all losses would be paid from the fund raised by the individual contributions. This is the principle of insurance in its simplest form.

Oil Men Cut Prices, 'but Don't Tell,' Leaders Urge

Gasoline service station owners in the Chicago area are being asked to remove from their stations all placards announcing cut rate prices for regular and ethyl grades of gasoline, C. E. Ragan, president of the Gasoline Retailers Association of Metropolitan Chicago, announced yesterday.

The drive against the placards was started in an attempt to stabilize the retail gasoline market, Ragan said.

Price Structure Weakened.

Frequently, dealers try to outbid each other in offering inducements to attract customers, he asserted, and the result has been a weakening of the price structure for gasoline in the Chicago area.

"We are not making any attempt to raise the price of gasoline to the public," he asserted. "Dealers may sell gasoline for any price they wish. All we want is to get the placards down."

Campaign Successful.

The campaign began Monday. Yesterday, Ragan said, approximately 75 per cent of the placards advertising cut rates had been removed.

Ragan said 95 per cent of the gasoline dealers in Chicago offer price inducements of some sort. A fair price for gasoline here, he asserted, is 19 cents a gallon, but most stations cut under this figure through various inducements. The 19 cent price allows the dealer 5 cents a gallon profit.

The association has approximately 2,100 members representing independent business men handling products of all companies.

SEES TAX TO AID IDLE AS BURDEN ON STATE MINES

The mining industry in Illinois will be among the hardest hit by the new unemployment compensation insurance act, which became effective July 1, Rhae M. Swisher, management engineer, yesterday told coal operators and distributors of the Chicago Association of Credit Men.

The act provides that, beginning Jan. 1, 1938, employers of workers in hazardous occupations shall pay 3 per cent annually of the amount of their pay rolls for unemployment insurance premiums. For 1937 the rate is 2 per cent.

"Based on figures of the bureau of census, wages in Illinois for mines and quarries represent approximately 60 per cent of the total value of goods produced," Swisher pointed out. "This high ratio of labor cost places on the mining industry the burden of a disproportionately high tax contribution. In 1929 mining wages amounted to $71,828,000, which would mean a payment of more than $2,000,000 at the 3 per cent rate."

By taking full advantage of the stabilization provisions of the act, however, a minimum payment of only 0.3 per cent might be required in 1942, Swisher said. The act provides for a reduction of payments in accordance with an accumulation of the unemployment compensation fund.

GASOLINE STOCK CUT; OIL OUTPUT SETS NEW HIGH

New York, Aug. 24.—(AP)—Ideal motoring weather and the summer holiday season combined to reduce total stocks of gasoline 1,827,000 barrels in the week ended August 21, the American Petroleum institute reported today.

Together with the heavy draft on inventories, the institute reported a new record peak in daily average crude oil production of 3,729,350 barrels, an increase of 10,750 barrels over the preceding week. Production east of California increased 12,150 barrels to 3,054,350.

Refineries operated at 88.9 per cent of capacity and 3,415,000 barrels of crude daily were run to stills. This compared with operations of 83 per cent and runs to stills of 3,340,000 barrels in the preceding week.

Stocks of finished and unfinished gasoline at refineries, terminals, in transit and pipe lines totaled 67,260,000 barrels at the end of the week, compared with 69,087,000 barrels at the end of the preceding week.

O. K. NEW DEBT MORATORIUM FOR ALBERTA

EDMONTON, Alta., Aug. 24.—(AP)—All corporations will be prevented from collecting debts in Alberta under terms of an order-in-council given final approval by the provincial cabinet, Premier Aberhart announced late today.

The order-in-council, authorizing the second moratorium in the province, will be signed tomorrow by Lieut.-Gov. J. C. Bowen. Details of the moratorium, calculated to prevent collection of money for transfer outside the province, were withheld pending signing of the order.

The moratorium, said by Premier Aberhart to have been forced by "Ottawa's drastic action on behalf of the Bank of Canada and the chartered banks," will be in effect until March 1 and will be extended from that date until financial problems have been "clarified."

The federal government last week voided banking legislation passed at a special session of the Alberta legislature. Private individuals will not be affected by the moratorium.

Pay Raise for Milwaukee Road Employes Approved

Federal Judge Charles G. Briggle yesterday authorized the trustees of the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific railway to increase the hourly wage of 20,874 employès, members of 14 craft unions, by 5 cents an hour. The increase, effective retroactively as of Aug. 1, will amount to $2,582,000 a year. The order is the result of an agreement reached Aug. 5 before the railway mediation board. The road is under federal jurisdiction because of reorganization proceedings under section 77B of the amended bankruptcy law.

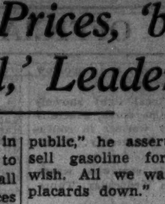
Business Bits

Thomas Bayard McCabe, president of the Scott Paper company, Chester, Pa., has been appointed a class C director of the Federal Reserve Bank of Philadelphia, the board of governors of the reserve system announced yesterday. McCabe will serve the unexpired portion of a three year term ending Dec. 31, 1939. The post has been vacant since the resignation of J. David Stern in December, 1936.

James A. Welch, advertising director of the Crowell magazine group, yesterday was elected vice president of the Crowell Publishing company. Lee Brantly, advertising manager of Collier's, was made a director of the company.

SEN. CAPPER TO WAGE 'GRASS ROOTS' FIGHT ON TRADE TREATIES

Washington, D. C., Aug. 24.—(AP)—Senator Capper [R., Kas.] announced today that he would carry on a "grass roots campaign" against the administration's reciprocal trade agreement policy. He denounced the trade program, under which the government has made agreements with sixteen nations, as a disguised method of "selling out the farmer for the benefit of eastern manufacturers."



Senator Capper.

The Kansas senators said he would speak during the next three months at more than forty fairs, farm picnics, and agriculture association meetings throughout the middle west. Predicting that the agreements would "arouse a growing volume of protest" among farmers, he said that agricultural exports had fallen steadily during the last twelve months as a result of the pacts.

Capper cited state department figures for the last fiscal year, which showed a $400,000,000 increase in imports of agricultural products, while farm exports declined $30,000,000.

After a debate reminiscent of the old-time tarif battles, the last congress renewed for three years the administration's power to make reciprocal trade agreements with other nations. It authorized the state department to grant tarif concessions to foreign powers, in return for a reduction of duties on specific American products. The American concessions are automatically extended to other countries with which the United States has "most favored nation" treaties.

KREUGER & TOLL JUGO-SLAV BONDS SOLD AT BIG LOSS

New York, Aug. 24.—[Special.]—Grayson M.-P. Murphy, president of Kreutoll Realization company, Ltd., announced today that negotiations for selling the company's $22,000,000 of Jugo-Slav Monopolies 6¼ per cent bonds for $4,400,000 had been completed.

The bonds have been delivered to the purchaser, a Jugo-Slav bank, and the contract price has been deposited in London for the bank's account, he said.

Murphy will recommend to directors of Kreutoll that a distribution from the $4,400,000 be made on the company's stock, he said. All capital stock is held by two protective committees in proportion to the amount of Krueger & Toll 5 per cent secured debentures deposited with each.

UNITED AIR LINES CHICAGO TRAFIC RISES IN AUGUST

United Air Lines during the irst 20 days of August carried 23 per cent more passengers out of Chicago than in the corresponding period last year, Harold Crary, vice president in charge of trafic, announced yesterday.

A total of 2,992 passengers boarded United planes here during the period, compared with 2,432 in the same 1936 period, Crary said.

This increase was attributed to the placing of sleeper planes on the coast to coast runs. For the first 15 days of sleeper plane operation each overnight ship leaving Chicago for the Pacific coast had a full passenger load.

NORTHWESTERN TO GIVE COURSE ON OIL INDUSTRY

Dr. J. Krawetz, president of the Phoenix Chemical laboratory and a university staf member, will conduct the course. Leading authorities on production, refining, and distribution of petroleum products will lecture to the class, college officials said. The fall semester begins Sept. 23.

SHOE INDUSTRY EXPECTS PRICES TO REMAIN FIRM

New York, Aug. 24.—(AP)—The shoe trade generally indicated today that present shoe prices will be maintained, in some instances advanced, despite a radical cut in prices of women's shoes by the A. S. Beck Shoe corporation, operator of 100 stores in the east and middle west. The Beck company, which marked up tags on women's shoes to $4.45 a pair from $3.98 last May, yesterday dropped the price back to $3.98.

The Thom McCan Shoe company, which increased prices of women's shoes to $3.95 from $3.65 a pair on Aug. 9, because of higher costs, will maintain the price advance. It was asserted the company, which operates 80 women's shoe stores, against 600 stores selling men's and boys' shoes, will announce an increase in the men's and boys' lines this week.

HAWAII TO SELL BOND ISSUE IN U. S. NEXT MONTH

Several Domestic Firms Plan Financing.

The territory of Hawaii plans to offer $4,500,000 of bonds in the United States about the middle of September, according to word received in this country yesterday from W. C. McGonagle, treasurer of Hawaii. Of the total, $1,500,000 will comprise short term non-callable serial bonds to be sold for the purpose of refunding the 1947 issue prior to maturity. The balance of $3,000,000 will consist of public improvement bonds which have been approved by the United States congress and the President.

Alexanders Department Stores, Inc., New York, yesterday filed a registration statement under the securities act of 1933 covering 350,000 shares of $1 par common stock, of which 210,000 shares are outstanding. Of the new shares, 100,000 are to be sold through underwriters at $6.25 per share. Proceeds are to be used for additions to building and equipment and for working capital.

Plan Issue of Stock.

Bullard Company, Bridgeport, Conn., manufacturer of specialty machine tools, has filed covering 40,000 shares of $40 par 5 per cent cumulative preferred stock and common stock to be reserved for conversion of the preferred. Proceeds will be used for additional equipment and working capital. Hornblower & Weeks and C. B. Ewart & Co., were named as underwriters.

Louisville Drying Machinery company, Louisville, Ky., manufacturer of rotary drying machines, has filed covering 70,000 shares of $1 par common of which 10,000 are to be offered by the issuer, 33,300 by A. W. Lissauer, president, and 26,700 by Julius Credo. Issuer's part of the proceeds is to be used to retire 7 per cent cumulative preferred stock, for debt retirement, expansion, and working capital.

List of Allis-Chalmers Bonds.

Application by the Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing company to list $25,321,500 of 15 year 4 per cent convertible sinking fund debentures and 337,620 additional shares of common stock with the New York Stock Exchange was approved yesterday by the committee on stock list.

Stockholders of Spencer Chain Stores, Inc., yesterday approved the issuance of 60,000 shares of new $20 par convertible preferred stock and 120,000 shares of additional common stock for conversion purposes. Stockholders also approved a change in name to Spencer Shoe corporation and authorized directors to issue 83,201 common shares from time to time on such terms as they may determine.

Pullman, Inc.

Investors' Guide: Can you tell me about Pullman, Inc.?—Miss L. P. McC.

Answer: This company has long been known to the traveling public, as well as investors, because of its operation of sleeping and parlor car service in the United States, Canada, and Mexico. The second major division of the company's business is the manufacture of freight and passenger cars for railroads, Pullman being the world's largest car making enterprise. A third phase of business is investments, which include a considerable amount of railway equipment trust certificates.

After being hard hit by contraction of business during depression years the company not only has experienced a sharp expansion in earnings, but has taken a leading part in the modernization of railroad travel during the last few years.

More than half of the company's 8,000 sleeping and parlor cars now are air conditioned, representing an investment of almost $30,000,000. The company also was among the leaders in designing light weight passenger coaches and streamlined trains.

The company opened 1937 with the heaviest volume of unfilled orders on its books since 1930.

Net income during the first half of 1937 amounted to $6,609,000, or $1.73 per share, compared with $2,694,000, or 71 cents a share, in the first half of 1936. Earnings for all of 1937 will probably be the best since 1930, but under the net income of $16,943,000, or $4.37 a share, recorded in that year.

Net income during 1936 amounted to $6,347,000, or $1.66 a share. The most impressive feature of 1936 earnings was the $4,193,000 profit of the sleeping car division, contrasted with a loss of $1,647,000 in 1935. The sleeping car business netted $2,591,000 in the first half of 1937.

A loss of $274,000 was reported in 1935 because of the unsatisfactory earnings of the sleeping car division. The company had emerged from the red in 1934 with net income of $2,958,000; or 77 cents a share, after losses of $2,673,000 and $3,835,000 in 1933 and 1932.

Capitalization consists solely of 3,820,156 shares of no par common stock, on which dividends have been paid at the rate of $1.50 a year since the last quarter of 1935. Prior to that a $3 rate had been in effect since the final quarter of 1931.

1936 Studebaker Sedan, $645
A Dictator Cruising Sedan. "Cruising" is the word for this beautiful car. Sparkling finish, sweet running motor, large built-in trunk on rear. It's very low mileage accounts for the wonderful condition of the tires and the unused appearance of the upholstery. The motor is Certified by Studebaker. Sold on a 5 day driving trial; $645. STUDEBAKER BRANCH, 1836 Ridge-avenue, EVANSTON. Rogers Park 1211.
